

FOOTBALL

INSIDE EXCLUSIVES:

John Brodie
writes on Dave Parks

Mac Speedie
writes on Lionel Taylor

BONUS:

DETAILED FORM CHARTS, EXPERT
COMMENTARY ON NFL, AFL TEAMS

PLUS

NFL, AFL, CFL Schedules

• Statistics •

• Authoritative Predictions •

Special Features: The Big Leagues
Make Peace, Canadian Pro Ball

FRANK RYAN, QUARTERBACK,
CLEVELAND BROWNS

1966 NFL SCHEDULE

FIRST WEEK

Saturday, September 10
Baltimore vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee*
Sunday, September 11
Chicago at Detroit
Cleveland at Washington
Los Angeles at Atlanta
Minnesota at San Francisco
New York at Pittsburgh
Philadelphia at St. Louis

SECOND WEEK

Friday, September 16
Chicago at Los Angeles*
Sunday, September 18
Atlanta at Philadelphia
Baltimore at Minnesota
Detroit at Pittsburgh
Green Bay at Cleveland
New York at Dallas
Washington at St. Louis

THIRD WEEK

Sunday, September 25
Atlanta at Detroit
Los Angeles at Green Bay
Minnesota at Dallas
New York at Philadelphia
St. Louis at Cleveland
San Francisco at Baltimore
Washington at Pittsburgh

FOURTH WEEK

Friday, September 30
San Francisco at Los Angeles*
Sunday, October 2
Chicago at Minnesota
Cleveland at New York
Dallas at Atlanta
Detroit at Green Bay
Pittsburgh at Washington
St. Louis at Philadelphia

FIFTH WEEK

Saturday, October 8
Pittsburgh at Cleveland*
Sunday, October 9
Atlanta at Washington
Baltimore at Chicago
Green Bay at San Francisco
Los Angeles at Detroit
New York at St. Louis
Philadelphia at Dallas

SIXTH WEEK

Sunday, October 16
Dallas at St. Louis
Detroit at Baltimore
Green Bay at Chicago
Los Angeles at Minnesota
Philadelphia at Pittsburgh
San Francisco at Atlanta
Washington at New York

SEVENTH WEEK

Sunday, October 23
Atlanta vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee
Dallas at Cleveland
Detroit at San Francisco
Los Angeles at Chicago
Minnesota at Baltimore
Philadelphia at New York
St. Louis at Washington

EIGHTH WEEK

Sunday, October 30
Baltimore at Los Angeles
Cleveland at Atlanta
Green Bay at Detroit
Pittsburgh at Dallas
San Francisco at Minnesota
Washington at Philadelphia
Monday, October 31
Chicago at St. Louis*

NINTH WEEK

Sunday, November 6
Cleveland at Pittsburgh
Dallas at Philadelphia
Detroit at Chicago
Los Angeles at San Francisco
Minnesota at Green Bay
St. Louis at New York
Washington at Baltimore

TENTH WEEK

Sunday, November 13
Baltimore at Atlanta
Dallas at Washington
Detroit at Minnesota
New York at Los Angeles
Philadelphia at Cleveland
St. Louis at Pittsburgh
San Francisco at Chicago

ELEVENTH WEEK

Sunday, November 20
Atlanta at New York
Baltimore at Detroit
Chicago at Green Bay
Dallas at Pittsburgh
Minnesota at Los Angeles
Philadelphia at San Francisco
Washington at Cleveland

TWELFTH WEEK

Thursday, November 24 (Thanksgiving Day)
San Francisco at Detroit
Cleveland at Dallas
Sunday, November 27
Atlanta at Chicago
Green Bay at Minnesota
Los Angeles at Baltimore
New York at Washington
Pittsburgh at St. Louis

THIRTEENTH WEEK

Sunday, December 4
Atlanta at Minnesota
Chicago at Baltimore
Detroit at Los Angeles
New York at Cleveland
Pittsburgh at Philadelphia
St. Louis at Dallas
San Francisco vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee

FOURTEENTH WEEK

Saturday, December 10
Green Bay at Baltimore
Sunday, December 11
Chicago at San Francisco
Cleveland at Philadelphia
Minnesota at Detroit
Pittsburgh at New York
St. Louis at Atlanta
Washington at Dallas

FIFTEENTH WEEK

Saturday, December 17
Cleveland at St. Louis
Sunday, December 18
Baltimore at San Francisco
Dallas at New York
Green Bay at Los Angeles
Minnesota at Chicago
Philadelphia at Washington
Pittsburgh at Atlanta

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Sunday, January 1, 1967, at home of Eastern Conference champion

PLAYOFF BOWL

Sunday, January 8, 1967, at Miami, Florida

*Night game

FULL COLOR WALL MURAL
40" wide x 29" high. Each of 14 NFL Teams represented in dynamic action scenes. Total for boys rooms, dorms, $4.95

HEAVY QUILTED MELTON PRO FOOTBALL WARM-UP JACKET
Official Colors. Complete with team emblems. All Teams available.
Boys Sizes 4-20 $12.95
Men's Sizes 38-46 $15.95

NFL FOOTBALL TEAM STATUES $2.98 EA
PENNANTS $1.00 ea. (3 Colors 12"x30")
ALL PRO FOOTBALL COLLEGE All Major League Baseball

7" Bobbing Head Dolls
All Pro NFL Football & All Major League Baseball Teams.
$2.00 each or 2 for $3.50

4X4" FULL COLOR DECALS
60¢ each or 2 for $1.00
FOOTBALL—Set of 14—$4.95
BASEBALL—Set of 20—$7.50
BIG 8"x10" CARICATURES
Team Drawings Ideal for Framing
$6¢ per team
FOOTBALL—Set of 14—$3.95
BASEBALL—Set of 20—$4.95

Football Books

1. 1960 NFL Yearbook	$.75 ea.
2. 1960 AFL Yearbook	.75 ea.
3. 1961 NFL Yearbook	.75 ea.
4. 1962 NFL & AFL Book	1.25 ea.
5. 1964 Packer Yearbook	1.25 ea.
6. 1964 Giants Yearbook	1.25 ea.
7. Illustrated Guide to Football	.75 ea.
8. Football Library Set (4 Books)	1.50 set
9. Terry Brennan of Notre Dame	2.25 ea.
10. Spread Football Formation	2.25 ea.
11. The Johnny Unitas Story	3.50 ea.
12. Official Encyclopedia of Football	8.25 ea.
13. The Game (Pictorial History of NFL). Stories, Hundreds of Photos, 8"x11", 254 pgs.	8.75 ea.

New Football Merchandise

14. NFL Football "Iron-On" Emblems	.75 ea.
15. NFL Big (6"x11") Team Lettering	1.50 ea.
16. NFL Button Badges (Football Charm)	.60 ea.
17. John Unitas in Action Model Kit	3.00 ea.
18. Jimmy Brown in Action Model Kit	3.00 ea.
19. Yankee Stadium Model Kit	3.00 ea.
20. NFL Playing Cards (52 Units, etc.)	2.00 Deck
21. Set of 14 NFL Pennants, 5"x7"	4.95
22. NFL "Iron-On" Transfers, 5"x7"	.75 ea.
23. Set of 12 Asst NFL Photos	.75 ea.

Add 25¢ for postage and handling

Remember—Name Teams or Players Wanted! Send to:
MANNY'S BASEBALL LAND Opp. Yankee Stadium
Dept. MFA, 839 River Ave., Bronx 51, N.Y.

Your help goes where hunger is — Give to CARE, New York 10016

ALL PRO 1966 FOOTBALL published by Maco Publishing Co., Inc., 757 Third Ave., New York, N. Y. 10017. Copyright © 1966 by Maco Publishing Co., Inc. All rights reserved under International and Pan-American Copyright Conventions by Maco Publishing Co., Inc.: George H. Levy, President. Printed in the U.S.A. ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES: National advertising offices at Maco Publishing Co., Inc., 757 Third Ave., New York, N. Y. 10017. PLaza 2-7870 • Regional Sales Representatives: Robert Stark Associates, 145 E. 52nd St., New York, N. Y. 10022, MUrray Hill 8-0467 • Blanchard-Nichols & Smith, 2252 West Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles 57, Cal., DUmkirk 8-6134 • Blanchard-Nichols & Smith, 582 Market St., San Francisco, Cal., YUkon 6-8341 • The Harlowe Co., 5026 Twentieth Ave., N.E., Seattle, Wash., MUtual 2-0393 • Roosevelt, Provel & Associates: 3553 W. Peterson Ave., Chicago, Ill., FR 2-2488; 309 Baker Building, Minneapolis, Minn., FE 6-5357; 5210 Morningside Drive, Houston, Texas, JA 4-6633; 506 Park Avenue Building, Detroit, Mich., WO 1-3822; 3251 N.E. 18th Terrace, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; 4 North 8th St., St. Louis, Mo., CH 1-1955; 15 East 49th St., Kansas City, Mo., LO 1-1633. PICTURE CREDITS: Front cover photograph by Walther Ioss. Inside front cover and pages 13, 17 by Vernon J. Biever; 12 top and bottom, 14-15, 21, 23, 25, 27, 31, 35, 39, 43, 48, 49, 52-53 by Malcolm W. Emmons; 47, 77, 78 top and bottom, 80, 81 by United Press International; 71 by Wide World; 73 by Ken Regan.

ALL PRO 1966 FOOTBALL

Edited by Harold Rosenthal

EXCLUSIVE BYLINE REPORTS

- 9 Taylor Tops 'Em All
by Mac Speedie
Denver Broncos' Head Coach
- 50 Game-Breaker!
by John Brodie
San Francisco 49ers' Quarterback
- 77 Pro Ball—North of the Border
by Barrie Williams
The Hamilton Spectator

THE NFL—A STUDY IN DEPTH WESTERN CONFERENCE

- 16 Green Bay Packers
- 18 San Francisco 49ers
- 20 Baltimore Colts
- 22 Chicago Bears
- 24 Minnesota Vikings
- 26 Detroit Lions
- 28 Los Angeles Rams

EASTERN CONFERENCE

- 30 Cleveland Browns
- 32 Dallas Cowboys
- 34 New York Giants
- 36 Philadelphia Eagles
- 38 St. Louis Cardinals
- 40 Washington Redskins
- 42 Pittsburgh Steelers
- 44 Atlanta Falcons

THE AFL—A STUDY IN DEPTH EASTERN DIVISION

- 58 Buffalo Bills
- 60 Boston Patriots
- 62 New York Jets
- 64 Houston Oilers
- 66 Miami Dolphins

WESTERN DIVISION

- 68 San Diego Chargers
- 70 Oakland Raiders
- 72 Kansas City Chiefs
- 74 Denver Broncos

ALL PRO FOOTBALL FEATURES

- 5 "The Coach Wants to See You—And Bring Your Playbook"
- 12 J.B. Is Gone, But His Records Remain
- 46 1965 NFL Individual Statistics
- 47 The Big Leagues Make Peace
- 54 The All-Time Exhibition Classic
- 76 1965 AFL Individual Statistics
- 82 1966 Continental Football League Schedule

EDITOR IN CHIEF Mel Bookstein/ART DIRECTOR Robert Thornton/MANAGING EDITOR Robert Elman/ASSOCIATE ART DIRECTOR Everett Short/SENIOR EDITORS Peter A. Silverstein, Frank Hullar/ASSOCIATE EDITORS David Petzal, Anthony S. Mercante, Robert H. Lankford/ART ASSOCIATE Ronald Kozluba/EDITORIAL ASSOCIATES Sherry Frankel, Diane Greenberg/PRODUCTION MANAGER Jerome Alberts/ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANT Marie L. O'Brien/
PUBLISHER George H. Levy/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR Bruce Karaban

Frank Ryan, quarterback for the Cleveland Browns, has a chance to lead his team to its third straight Eastern Conference title and—if the club gets past its Western opponent—he'll get to play the AFL titleholder for the world championship.

"THE COACH WANTS TO SEE YOU —AND BRING YOUR PLAYBOOK"

Apart from that slice of dialog that begins with, "I'm sorry, but our plans for this year don't include you," what is the most devastating feeling a pro football player can experience? Is it a neck tackle by Ray Nitschke, a stiff-arm by Jimmy Brown, or a ball slipping through icy fingers in the end zone with seconds to play? All these, and others, are eclipsed by the sinking sensation that comes with the inner cry, "My gosh, what did I do with my playbook?"

You can recover from the bruises inflicted by the toughest of opponents. All players must have "X" number of miscues to go along with the big plays that stud their careers. But losing a playbook costs $500, and the fine is non-returnable. No one knows why it isn't $250 or $1,000, just as no one knows who really stabilized the stay-out-after-11 p.m. fine at $50.

Football playbooks are purely a pro innovation. Rookies just out of college constantly marvel at the meticulous detail in the books they receive their first day in camp. With the books comes a don't-lose-it-or-else warning. Players are advised to check them in the valuables locker before practice or a game, along with their class rings and other jewelry and cash. And they're reminded to pick them up on time, too, and have them available at all meetings. The fine for not having the book when needed is $25 or $50, depending on the club.

The pro playbook goes back to the early '40s. Allie Sherman, a left-handed quarterback with the Philadelphia Eagles, remembers getting one that, in comparison to the ones he now deals out to his New York

Want To Coach Your Own Football Team? PLAY THE APBA PRO LEAGUE FOOTBALL GAME & COACH ALL THE NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE PLAYERS!

THE APBA PRO LEAGUE FOOTBALL GAME ACTUALLY BRINGS THE NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE PLAYERS INTO YOUR VERY HOME. YOU COACH THEM!

Each player, not just the stars, responds in every detail, according to his National Football League records — in passing, punting, pass receiving, place kicking and ball carrying. You can count on Gale Sayers, Brown and Willard to lead your league's ground game. They and every other ball carrier will average their NFL ground percentage, including their long runs, too!

You call the plays on offense and set the line on defense for the play you think is coming. You can even "gang-up" on the player you think will carry the ball or receive the pass, and if you analyze the opponent's plays correctly, you stop or lessen his advance!

APBA Pro League Football reproduces every detail of the living game — injuries, penalty call-backs after the play is run, the clock-stopping out-of-bounds plays and incomplete passes, realistic fumble frequency and all the minute details that give a realism never before known in a table football game.

Even the interior offensive and defensive linemen will reflect their real-life running ability on recovered fumbles, blocked kicks or intercepted passes.

Defensively, too, every player is just as realistic. You'll miss a great linebacker like Alex Karras when he's injured, just as much as the real-life Lions do!

You'll thrill to find John Brodie throwing more touchdown passes than any other quarterback. Gary Collins will top your league in punting and Michaels, Cox, Bakken, and all the other place kickers will give you typical results on the long tries as well as the short ones.

We will send you complete details of this fabulous game, now in its ninth year, if you will just send us your name and address (PLEASE PRINT IT) and ask for "APBA Football." Under no obligation to you, we shall send a complete description of the game and how it may be obtained, including pictures and a free sample card of one of the pro football stars.

Copyright 1966

APBA GAME CO., INC. • 53-3 Eastman Avenue • Lancaster, Penna. 17604

Read
THE FOOTBALL
NEWS

America's Number
One
Grid
Weekly!

Now
Only $3.50
A SEASON

- ✓ Outstanding Predictions
- ✓ Pro and College Coverage
- ✓ Big Football Contest
- ✓ Features Not Found on Your Sports Page

- ✓ Cumulative Scores Statistics
- ✓ Top Staff or Writers
- ✓ Mailed From Detroit
- ✓ Early Monday Morning 13 Issues—Including Bowl Game Issue.

This year the FOOTBALL NEWS will sell for 50c a copy on leading newsstands around the nation. You can save nearly 50% by subscribing now and be assured of getting all your copies on time. Early subscribers will get the Big Preview Issue in early September. All subscribers will receive the colorful Bowl Game and Pro Championship issue December 15th.

SUBSCRIBE NOW $3.50
A SEASON

FOOTBALL NEWS, Dept. M-2
P. O. Box 2043, Detroit, Michigan 48231
YES—I want to be a grid expert. Start sending me the Football News with your big pre-season issue late in the summer. My check or money order is enclosed.

- | | |
|----------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| <input type="checkbox"/> NEW | <input type="checkbox"/> $3.50 Second Class |
| <input type="checkbox"/> RENEWAL | <input type="checkbox"/> $5.00 First Class |
| | <input type="checkbox"/> $6.50 Airmail |

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____
CITY _____
ZIP _____ STATE _____

... BRING YOUR PLAYBOOK"/ continued

Giants, resembled a kind of pamphlet.

And just what is in a present-day playbook? Says Sherman: "Our book has basic sections, with specialized sections for particular players. Up front we go in for terminology, nomenclature, our play numbering; elementary stuff for the veterans, but it doesn't hurt to have them re-learn it, either. We want to have every one able to communicate.

"Every club describes something a little differently. Our 'Sam Wanda' means the middle linebacker is red-dogging between the tackle and end on the tight end side, while the weakside linebacker is doing the same from his side and coming through the right end. Other clubs probably have some different name for it."

A playbook is pretty much the same in every organization. Basically, it is a three-ring binder with a good leather cover to stand up to a season of scuffing and an occasional set of teethmarks. Clubs are superstitious; they never use the same binder two years in a row, but they don't change color, either, after good seasons or bad.

Every book is numbered and checked out, and one coach is charged with riding herd on the library. You sign for it the first time the way some naval officer signs for a destroyer. Unlike the Navy, there can be no excuse for losing one.

Books are graded periodically. Sherman's theory is that a playbook's condition is indicative of the man. "All your good ball players are pretty systematic and neat." Last year Allie had a rookie defensive back who kept turning up at offensive meetings. When he was finally sent away, Sherman took the playbook and burned it.

A playbook is a player's as long as he is a member of the team. A rookie lives in dread of the order, "The coach wants to see you, and be sure to bring your playbook."

Ball clubs take no chances about a just-cut rookie destroying a book in a moment of flaming fury, or worse, getting some silly idea about passing it on to some other club. Actually, this "Spy Who Came In From The End Zone" move would be of little value to the club into whose hands it might happen to fall. While playbooks are the guts of the ball club, and picking up another club's audibles (the signals called at the line of scrimmage to change a play) might provide a certain advantage, there'd be practically nothing of value in broad strategy. Intensive filmwork, now standard practice on all two-dozen big-league clubs, has made all else practically obsolete.

Says Buster Ramsey, who coached in both leagues: "You can pick up almost anyone's plays without a book. With films today, no one can be original for more than a week."

The New York Titans, predecessors of the Jets in the American League, were unique for three years in that they never had a playbook under coaches Sammy Baugh and Bulldog Turner, who succeeded Sammy after two years. Yet Baugh's clubs played 7-7 seasons, and none of the subsequent Jet clubs, despite reams of paperwork, were ever able to achieve .500.

Baugh got off one of the great lines in pro ball in connection with his no-playbook approach. It came to the attention of the Titans' mercurial owner, Harry Wismer, that the club had no playbooks. This was in the second season, after the ownership had made no effort to sign any of their draft choices, men such as Tom Matte, Herb Adderley, Bill Brown, Bernie Casey and Mike Pyle. Wismer sought out Baugh and demanded, "Why don't we have playbooks?"

Sammy looked him up and down and replied, "Because we ain't got any paper, that's why." ☐

TAYLOR TOPS 'EM ALL

BY MAC SPEEDIE
Denver Broncos' Head Coach

There are bigger, faster and younger pass receivers in the American Football League than Denver's Lionel Taylor, but the great Bronco veteran has all the moves it takes to get into the open, plus the surest pair of hands in pro ball

The measure of a great pass grabber is his ability to latch onto a ball, using just his hands. With Oakland's Dave Grayson lurking close behind, Taylor had no time to cradle this one in his arms. Coach Speedie, right, a former great receiver himself, is Lionel's biggest fan

Because the Broncos have been an AFL weak sister since 1960, the Denver coaching staff has had to fill many lineup holes—but they've never had any problem at the split end slot. That's where Lionel Taylor is ensconced, and head man Mac Speedie rates him as the loop's premier pass receiver.

Double-teaming is a fairly familiar expression in pro football, but "double standard" is something else again—and it's likely to raise a few eyebrows around the league. Particularly when it is openly admitted that we do have a double standard on the Denver ball club. We happen to like it that way, because it involves Lionel Taylor, a super-receiver to my way of thinking.

Denver is no different from any other team. We rate our players from game films, as do the other clubs. There's one exception, however: We grade Lionel Taylor one way, and all the rest of our receivers another.

Here's what we do. If the other pass catchers get two full hands on any ball thrown, and can't make the catch, they're credited with a "drop." We don't care if the ball is back of them, off to one side, or anywhere else—two full hands and the man should have it.

With Taylor, who has caught more than 500 passes in a half-dozen years in the American Football League, we are a lot rougher. We figure that whenever he can put his right hand on the ball—get even a finger on it—he has to come up with it. Otherwise, it's a drop. We like it that way and so does Lionel.

Lionel makes a habit of beating the league's best defenders. Above, he takes a long pass from QB Mickey Slaughter despite the efforts of Dave Grayson of the Raiders. Buffalo's Butch Byrd is the victim, right, on Taylor's leaping touchdown grab. And the Chargers' speedy Les Duncan, opposite page, was just not speedy enough to stop this great fingertip catch off a deft sideline maneuver

TAYLOR TOPS 'EM ALL/continued

As far as I am concerned, he has the best pair of hands in pro ball. There are other receivers around with more speed, or better moves, but as far as the actual mechanics of catching a football are concerned, Taylor is Number One. He's Number One with us in "Desire," too, a quality I consider tops of the four requirements for a receiver. The others are hands, moves and speed. But Desire comes first—and that's spelled with a capital "D."

This is my sixth year coaching Taylor and I honestly feel he has gotten better every year. Certainly his leadership qualities have improved. Last year, he was elected one of our captains and he won our MVP by a handsome margin. If he hadn't, I would have called for another round of balloting!

It's fascinating to speculate on what records Lionel might have chalked up by now had he worked with one quarterback from the start—or if the Broncos had employed a more diversified attack in their early years. For, while Lionel has been catching passes thrown by six to eight different quarterbacks, whiz kids like Raymond Berry have been snaring them from one quarterback exclusively (in Berry's case, from Johnny Unitas). Such receivers can probably run their patterns blindfolded by now.

The great quarterback throws not to the receiver, but to the spot where the receiver will be. When I was with the Browns, we were blessed with a super-quarterback in Otto Graham. Otto threw to Dante Lavelli and me, and it was that extra split second gained from our knowing each other so well that made all the difference. A receiver is much too busy to worry about looking for the ball until it's exactly time to catch it. It has to be there, then. Executed properly, the precision pass play is virtually unstoppable in a one-to-one defense.

The "philosophy" of successful receiving is fairly uncomplicated. The receiver knows where he is going to be—and the thing is to be there alone when the ball arrives. When he leaves the line of scrimmage, he must do something to "move" the defensive man, forcing that man to commit himself to move in another direction. We call it "turning" the defender. If it is executed properly, the receiver automatically has two steps on his man when he cuts.

If the defending back is "turned" and if the ball is waiting, there can be no valid excuse for not holding it. Pass receivers are paid to catch the ball. That means any kind of pass: a hard one, soft one, nose-up, nose-down, floater, burn-ball. Get those hands on it, "look" it into the arms and hold onto it.

Not too much has changed in the last 10 or 15 years, at least where the receivers are concerned. There are more 9.5 and 9.6 sprinter-types around, and they don't spend so much time on actual moves and patterns. But that doesn't mean that moves and patterns don't pay off. Taylor has to spend most of his time on them, because he can't fly by someone. Nevertheless, he can do the job without burning speed. In '65, he nailed 78 of the 84 passes thrown to him.

His greatest strength probably focuses on the sideline pass, which is so vital to our team's overall strategy. In that maneuver, where he has to stay in-bounds while making the catch, there are three things to consider. First, he has to catch the ball. Second, he has to elude the defensive back, who'll be crowding him in an area where there's no room to maneuver. And last, there's that sideline to worry about, for the receiver has to have both feet in the field of play for his catch to be legitimate. Taylor is the best man I've ever seen in this department.

Lionel has a couple of other strong points which any receiver bidding for stardom would do well to study. He is always talking with the officials, making sure they're alert to what he is doing—and he is almost never without a ball in his hands at practice. We have to chase him off the field to keep our quarterbacks from getting dead arms.

There are other fine receivers in the AFL, to be sure—men like Charlie Hennigan, Lance Alworth and Art Powell. They're part of a group which prompts me to say that our league's pass receiving is probably better, overall, than that in the NFL. And, of all the AFL receivers, I flatly contend that Lionel Taylor is best. □

Cleveland's great fullback combined speed, power and finesse in a manner that made him unique among pro ball carriers. He was equally at home knifing through the line, right, busting past tacklers, below, or cruising along in back of a host of blockers, opposite page

J. B. IS GONE, BUT HIS RECORDS REMAIN

In nine years, Cleveland's Jimmy Brown set records that won't fall for a long time—if ever

Records in football, as in everything else, are made to be broken, but when Jimmy Brown hung up his cleats before the start of the '66 season, he left behind a formidable set of statistics to hurdle. Certainly none of the other performers in the all-time top 10 rushers, five of whom were active with Brown during the '65 campaign, have much of a chance to surpass his performance. Brown had a 4,000-yard bulge on his nearest rival, Green Bay's Jim Taylor, entering the 1966 campaign. And all the rest of the top-tenners who played last year were either at the end of their distinguished careers, or close to it. The man destined to eclipse Brown's marks may be a first- or second-year performer right now, could conceivably be in high school or college, or quite possibly hasn't even been born yet! And if he's in college at present, chances are good that some scout, or scouts, will make a mistake on him. After all, should he be any different from J.B.?

It will come as a shock to many that Brown was not only ignored as a first choice when he came out of Syracuse University after the 1956 season, but that five other men were picked before Cleveland had its turn and took him. It is interesting to contemplate the possibly different course of pro football history had Brown been picked ahead of the following:

Paul Hornung—Green Bay's bonus pick. After every club had enjoyed a bonus selection over a period of a dozen years, the practice was discarded. Golden Boy had been second in total offense while performing as Notre Dame's quarterback. It so happened that

Green Bay and the Chicago Cards were the two remaining clubs with a bonus pick coming, and Lisle Blackbourn, the Packer coach, drew straws with someone from the Cards at the draft meeting and won the right to pick first.

John Brodie—an outstanding collegiate performer on the West Coast, who was picked by San Francisco as a possible replacement for a fading Y. A. Tittle. The 49ers had the right idea, but were a little off in their timing. Tittle faded, but not until after he had led the Giants into a couple of playoff games. And the injury-plagued Brodie didn't really come into his own until the '65 campaign.

Ron Kramer—the big Michigan end chosen by Green Bay on its regular first-round pick. The Packers got lots of championship service from him before trading him to the Lions last year for a top draft choice.

Len Dawson—was on the scene when Pittsburgh, changing quarterbacks, had decided that Johnny Unitas was not the logical successor to Jim Finks. Dawson was a top-notch Big Ten passer at Purdue. He ultimately made it, but not with Pittsburgh, and not in the National Football League.

Cleveland, picking fifth, took Brown, who was third in the nation in rushing and sixth in total offense. How much longer he would have lasted if the Browns hadn't reached for him no one will ever know. There isn't a talent man still around from that era who won't tell you that if the Browns hadn't taken Jim, he was due to go on his club's first pick. □

NFL

Even with Jimmy Brown gone, it looks as if Cleveland and Green Bay will meet again in January

WESTERN CONFERENCE

*Despite threats to his reign, it may be awhile before
Vince Lombardi's crew slips from the top spot Prediction: First*

GREEN BAY PACKERS

1965 RECORD (10-3-1)

41	Pittsburgh	9
30	Baltimore	17
23	Chicago	14
27	San Francisco	10
31	Detroit	21
13	Dallas	13
10	Chicago	31
7	Detroit	12
6	Los Angeles	3
30	Minnesota	13
18	Los Angeles	21
24	Minnesota	19
42	Baltimore	27
24	San Francisco	24

SCORING

	TDs	PAFs	FGs	Total
Chandler	0	37	17	88
Hornung	0	0	0	40
Dowling	5	0	0	30
Long	4	0	0	24
Taylor	4	0	0	24

RUSHING

	Att	Comp	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Starr	250	140	2065	14	9	56.0
Bratkowski	48	29	348	3	4	43.8

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Dowling	44	618	4	13.9
Dale	20	302	1	19.1
Taylor	20	207	0	10.3
Hornung	19	306	3	17.6

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Adderley	17	175	44	28.9
Wood	6	68	28	19.8
Hart	4	29	24	7.2
Robinson	3	141	87	47.0

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Chandler	74	3176	90	42.9

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Pitts	8	27	12	3.8
Wood	13	30	14	2.9

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Moore	15	361	52	24.1
Adderley	10	221	33	22.1
Pitts	20	396	29	19.8

OFFENSE

Brown, Allen (T)	6-4	230	23	2
Dowler, Boyd (F)	6-5	225	28	8
Heming, Marv (T-F)	6-6	235	24	4
Long, Bob (F-T)	6-3	215	24	3
McGee, Max (S)	6-3	205	34	11
Dale, Carroll (S)	6-1	195	28	7
Anderson, Bill (T)	6-3	225	30	8
Jeter, Tony (T)	6-3	230	21	1
White, Jeff (F)	6-3	185	23	4

(S)—Split end (T)—Tight End (F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Bowman, Ken (C)	6-3	230	23	3
Gregg, Forrest (T-G)	6-4	250	32	10
Skoronski, Bob (T)	6-3	250	32	9
Thurston, Fred (G)	6-1	245	32	9
Curry, Bill (C)	6-2	235	24	2
Kramer, Jerry (G)	6-3	250	30	9
Gillingham, Gale (G)	6-3	250	22	1
Wenzel, Ralph (G)	6-1	240	22	1
Wright, Steve (T)	6-8	260	24	3

QUARTERBACKS

Starr, Bart	6-4	200	32	11
Bratkowski, Zek	6-3	200	34	15
Smith, Ron	6-5	220	24	2

RUNNING BACKS

Hornung, Paul (H)	6-3	215	30	9
Pitts, Elijah (H)	6-1	205	27	4
Taylor, Jim (F)	6-0	215	30	9
Symons, Bill (H)	6-0	200	23	2
Jacobs, Allen (F)	6-0	215	25	2
Anderson, Donnie (H)	6-3	212	23	1
Grabowski, Jim (F)	6-2	220	22	1

(F)—Fullback (H)—Halfback

KICKER

Chandler, Don	6-2	210	32	13
---------------	-----	-----	----	----

Dowler and McGee are established top-liners at flanker and split end. Problem is at tight end, where Fleming started season in '65 and had Lombardi looking for help most of way. Anderson finished up big in playoff and championship. Bob Jeter's younger brother, Tony, could be the answer. There's all kinds of ability in this corps; problem is to come up with best combo. RATING—VERY GOOD

All-veteran lineup makes it difficult for newcomers to break in here. Gillingham, high draft choice, has best chance. He'd have to beat out Fuzzy Thurston or Jerry Kramer. Latter staged medical comeback of the year to play full season in championship form. Gregg and Skoronski account for tackle jobs. Bowman is solid at center with Curry in reserve. Watch these boys go. RATING—VERY GOOD

Starr does everything asked of a championship field general. Bart came through when Bart was injured last year. RATING—EXCELLENT

Hornung-Taylor are probably best one-two punch in league. Newcomers Anderson and Grabowski, representing million-dollar bonus package, have to oust these vets who are still as hungry as they were a half-dozen seasons ago. Pitts is a fine back-up. Symons could wind up on defense. RATING—EXCELLENT

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

n, Fred (T)	6-5	255	22	1
-------------	-----	-----	----	---

(E)—End (T)—Tackle

LINEBACKERS

Nitschke, Ray (M)	6-3	240	27	1
Shinn, Mike (O)	6-3	225	23	1

(O)—Outside linebacker (M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Adderley, Herb (C)	6-0	210	27	4
Brown, Tom (S)	6-1	190	26	3
Hart, Doug (C)	6-0	190	27	3
Wood, Willie (S)	5-10	190	29	7
Jeter, Bob (C)	6-1	205	29	4
Hatcock, Dave (C-S)	6-0	190	23	1

(C)—Corner back (S)—Safety

group. Crutcher is fourth man in this bunch; can route to top status. RATING—EXCELLENT

Packers have experienced considerable shifting here without loss of effectiveness. Adderley, Hart and Jeter vie for corner roles; Wood, and maturing Brown provide experience and youth in safety spots. Hart and Jeter are receivers. RATING—EXCELLENT

You can hear Vince Lombardi all the way over in De Pere when an underling in the Green Bay front office forgets to replace his telephone directory, but, basically, Vincent is pretty much an imperturbable fellow. "Football," he insists, "is a game played in the dirt. It's just a matter of who tackles and blocks better."

He also said, after he had lost a couple of key assistants to Atlanta and the Pitt Steelers last winter, "Having new people around doesn't bother me. I like to count on everyone, but not too much."

But there are things that can bring Lombardi up out of his chair in rapid-fire fashion, and one of these was a wire-service photo taken early last spring during a rattlesnake hunt in Sweetwater, Tex. Not on the outskirts of Sweetwater, but in downtown Sweetwater. For some reptilian reason that particular area had proved attractive to the local diamondback population. So—would all the adventuresome young men in the area please turn out, properly equipped, and clear out the critters? The danged things were interfering with the local cocktail hour.

Lombardi's interest in Sweetwater's civic problems would have been nil except for one slightly upsetting fact. There, in the picture of a grinning young snake-hunter holding up a grinning diamondback, he spotted Donny Anderson, his big running back draft from Texas Tech. Anderson represents a $1-million-plus bonus package along with Illinois' Jim Grabowski.

The roar Lombardi let go could be heard halfway to the Panhandle. "Put it down," he screamed to the obviously oblivious newspaper page.

Now in his eighth campaign with the Packers, Lombardi has what could be the greatest collection of running backs ever assembled. To start with, he has Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, then the million-dollar babies, plus Elijah Pitts as a veteran backup.

Where does a man acquire such a profusion of riches? From having one of the keenest brains in the business, that's where. There is a generation coming to flower that remembers Vince Lombardi only as a perennial winner with an overall record of 68-23-3 going into the 1966 campaign. Not too many people remember that the Packers were 1-10-1 the year before Lombardi took over.

In the accompanying charts, Green Bay is rated "very good" in two categories, receivers and interior linemen. Everywhere else the Packers draw an unequivocal "excellent." It is an evaluation unmatched anywhere else in the NFL—or the AFL, either.

Lombardi cares little for others' evaluation. He knows what he has, and what he doesn't have. And in his pocket, to rub against each other during such infrequent times as he might suffer small doubts, are the three victories he rang up against the Colts in 1965 and the way the Packers did it. Green Bay won a close one the first time, smashed through to a second triumph, then won the third in the muck and gloom of an unprecedented overtime via the toe of Don Chandler.

Chandler is a tribute to Lombardi's sagacity. Vince needed a kicker for insurance against the possibility that Jerry Kramer or Hornung couldn't do it in 1965. Chandler was available, but a real gamble. Lombardi is an ex-Giant assistant. He knows the Giants make few mistakes. But he gambled a high draft pick for Chandler, who repaid him with a championship.

Or take Zeke Bratkowski, like Bart Starr now in his second decade in pro ball. Bratkowski was doing little or nothing in LA when Lombardi traded for him. Two years later, Starr was injured and without Zeke, the Packers wouldn't have won in '65, either.

That makes two recent trades that have added up to another championship. Maybe football is a game "played in the dirt," as Green Bay's head man says, but football championships are won through the involved thinking processes of men like Lombardi, no matter what Lombardi says. Or how loudly he yells. □

Green Bay's defense is epitomized in this photo: hard hitting, and more than one man on a tackle. Linebacker Ray Nitschke (66), end Willie Davis (87) and friends stop Dallas' Don Perkins right in his tracks

WESTERN CONFERENCE

The feeling is that everything—or almost everything—is about to mesh for this well-balanced outfit Prediction: Second

SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS

1965 RECORD (7-6-1)

52	Chicago	24
27	Pittsburgh	17
24	Baltimore	27
24	Baltimore	27
45	Los Angeles	21
41	Minnesota	42
28	Baltimore	34
31	Dallas	39
27	Detroit	21
30	Los Angeles	27
45	Minnesota	24
17	Detroit	14
20	Chicago	61
24	Green Bay	24

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Davis	0	52	13	103
Parks	12	0	0	72
Willard	9	0	0	54
Crow	9	0	0	54

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Willard	189	778	5
Crow	132	514	2	3.9
Lewis	52	256	3
Kopay	28	81	3

PASSING

	Att	Camps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Brodie	391	242	3112	30	16	61.9
Mira	58	28	460	4	3	48.2

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Parks	80	1344	12	16.8
Casey	59	765	8	12.9
Stickles	35	343	1
Willard	32	253	4

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Johnson	3	47	26	7.9
Alexander	3	23	8	7.6
Kimbrough	2	5	5	2.5
Wilcox	1	16	15	16.0

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Davis	54	2471	65	4

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Alexander	35	262	40	7.5
Swinford	2	18	18	9.0

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
	32	742	46	23.1
	14	334	39	23.8

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Burke, Vern (T)	6-4	202	25	1	Oregon State	Emergence of Parks as league's No. 1 pass catcher enabled Casey to have his best year.
Casey, Bernie (F)	6-4	209	27	4	Bowling Green	Between them they caught 139 passes. McFarland can serve as backup for either. Stickles, little off last year, can do the job at tight end. Burke watched. RATING—VERY GOOD
McFarland, Kay (S)	6-2	186	28	5	Colorado State
Parks, Dave (S)	6-2	207	24	1	Texas Tech
Poole, Bob (T)	6-2	213	24	3	Clemson
Stickles, Monty (T)	6-4	235	28	7	Notre Dame
(S)—Split end	(T)—Tight end	(F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Bostley, Bruce (G)	6-2	246	32	11	West Virginia	Unit had fine year in 1965. Bostley had his best.
Cerne, Joe (G)	6-2	235	24	2	Northwestern	Rock and Rohde are solid at tackles. Thomas and Mudd have guard roles. With extensive tackle depth Norton may be tried on defense.
Mudd, Howard (G)	6-2	263	24	1	Hillsdale	McCormick's a highly touted rookie with "can't-miss" tag. Brodie's great performance was the result of inspired line play, and it must happen again in '66 if the club is to threaten in the West. RATING—GOOD
Norton, Jim (T)	6-4	255	24	2	Washington
Hattema, Dave (T)	6-4	227	24	1	New Mexico
McCormick, Dave (T)	6-4	250	23	1	L.S.U.
Rock, Walt (T)	6-4	257	26	4	Maryland
Rohde, Len (T)	6-4	255	28	9	Utah State
Thomas, John (G)	6-4	250	31	9	U of Pacific
(T)—Tackle	(G)—Guard	(C)—Center

QUARTERBACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Brodie, John	6-1	210	31	10	Stanford	Brodie set records last year with 242 completions, 30 TDs. Mira played little, shares backup role with Kilmer. RATING—VERY GOOD
Kilmer, Billy	6-0	204	27	5	U.C.L.A.
Mira, George	5-11	192	24	3	Miami (Fla.)

RUNNING BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Crow, John David (H)	6-2	224	31	8	Texas A&M	If Crow avoids injury and Willard repeats rookie performance, San Francisco should have one of better one-two punches. Lewis and Kopay are backups, and Gary had best rushing average last year. RATING—VERY GOOD
Daugherty, Bob (H)	6-2	205	24	1	Tulsa
Kopay, Dave (H)	6-0	225	24	3	Washington
Lewis, Gary (F)	6-2	230	24	3	Arizona State
Willard, Ken (F)	6-2	230	22	2	North Carolina
(F)—Fullback	(H)—Halfback

KICKER

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Davis, Tommy	6-0	220	31	8	L.S.U.	Davis scores consistently. RATING—GOOD

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Johnson, Charlie (T)	6-2	266	22	1	Louisville	Krueger and Lakes are strong at tackle. ditto Miller at end. End Dan Colchico won't return this year because of heel injury. Rubke subbed for him, and would probably be used again awhile. RATING—FAIR
Krueger, Charlie (T)	6-4	267	30	8	Texas A&M
Lakes, Roland (T)	6-4	285	26	6	Wichita
LaRose, Dan (E)	6-5	250	27	6	Missouri
Rubke, Karl (E)	6-4	244	30	10	U.S.C.

LINEBACKERS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Beard, Ed (M)	6-1	225	26	2	Tennessee	There's plenty of experience in Dowdle, Hazel-tine, Wilcox, but first two missed much of last season with injuries. Chapple and Beard learned as rookies. Harrison backs up in mid-dle. Team has high hopes for Weisacosky, lightest of group. There's certainly room for him. RATING—FAIR
Chapple, Jack (O)	6-1	225	23	2	Stanford
Dowdle, Mike (M)	6-3	248	28	7	Texas
Harrison, Bob (M)	6-2	225	29	8	Oklahoma
Hazeltine, Matt (O)	6-1	230	33	12	California
Weisacosky, Ed (O)	6-1	219	22	1	Miami
Wilcox, Dave (O)	6-2	234	23	3	Oregon
(O)—Outside linebacker	(M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Alexander, Kermit (C)	5-11	183	25	4	U.C.L.A.	Fourth man is needed here to go with Alexander Kimbrough, Johnson. Kermit has come
Bland, Dan (C)	6-0	182	22	1	Mississippi State
Johnson, Jim (C)	6-2	187	28	4	U.C.L.A.	rookie. Mertens injured neck last year, may not play. Donnelly was used good deal but needs more experience. Bland, Phillips were among first five draft picks. RATING—FAIR
Kimbrough, Elbert (S)	5-11	196	23	6	Northwestern
Mertens, Jerry (C)	6-0	192	30	9	Drake
Phillips, Mel (S)	6-0	180	22	1	N. Carolina A&T
(C)—Corner back	(S)—Safety

"I don't know whether I like it this way," said the light-hearted Matt Hazeltine. "It used to be that when we were playing I had no trouble picking out my wife in the stands. Now, with all these people, it's not so easy any more."

Hazeltine, a veteran linebacker, is one of those who has seen some thin crowds at Kezar Stadium, home of the 49ers. The crowds stopped coming in the early '60s for a pretty good reason. After the shotgun season of '61, when the 49ers finished with a 7-6-1 mark, the same record as last year, the local fortunes declined precipitously. Red Hickey was canned and his successor, Jack Christiansen, looked as though he was to be around only until his laundry came back. But surprisingly, the management kept Christiansen even though the '63 49ers finished up with a 2-12 record. The only reason they didn't make it into the league cellar the following year was because the Giants had taken hold with a snappy 2-10-2 mark. Then last year the 49ers actually became a team to contend with, a team that could even challenge in '66 with a big running attack complemented by John Brodie's passing. A couple of key plugs in the defense just might have the 49ers in there bidding for the big prize.

Dave Parks and Ken Willard are a couple of the most exciting young players to reach San Francisco in a long time. Parks was a little-known receiver out of Texas Tech when the 49ers picked him No. 1 in the draft, causing a lot of raised eyebrows because they also needed a quarterback, and George Mira was available. (They got Mira anyway on the next time around.) Willard came for 1965 highly rated and, as it turned out, deservedly so. He racked up 778 yards in his first season, which was almost three times the figure achieved by San Francisco's best runner the previous year. John David Crow, the much-injured running back who came from the Cards in a trade for Abe Woodson, revived and racked up 500-plus yardage.

Together, this pair gave Brodie the throwing room he needed and John responded with a team TD mark.

The 49ers have had some pretty fair flingers in the past, ranging from Frankie Albert to Y. A. Tittle. Brodie broke Albert's 17-year-old record of 29 TDs by one. He also hit young Parks a dozen times with six-pointers, giving Parks a handsome two-year total of 20. It's no record, but it could be an indication. Brodie's 242 completions constitute an NFL mark, eclipsing Johnny Unitas' old 237.

A healthy Brodie throwing to confident young receivers like Parks and Bernie Casey could mean lots of successful action on the field and lots of demand at the box office. The pass blocking he got last year must have been exceptional for him to complete 61.9 per cent of his efforts. His performance was also reflected in another section of the statistics: The 49ers went from scoring the fewest number of points (236) to the most (421) in one season.

The big showing, a hint that the 49ers might eventually come through with the conference title that has eluded them ever since coming into the NFL a decade and a half ago, could scarcely have come at a more opportune moment. The recent merger between the NFL and AFL stipulated that both San Francisco and the Oakland Raiders would share the same territory. But an intense rivalry still exists between the clubs. With the 49ers a title threat in the West, there is no longer the danger of a weak sister in the Bay Area. (Oakland is one of the solid clubs in the AFL.)

Observers must consider, though, what Christiansen, Brodie, & Co. are up against in their Western Conference. It's not as if the competition stemmed from one club, or even two. Green Bay, Baltimore, Chicago—and any one of the "have not's" who gets a hot hand—will guarantee that the pot will keep boiling right to the end. Whoever wins—San Francisco included—will have to do everything right. □

Three-fourths of San Francisco's punch is shown here: halfback John David Crow (44) with the ball, rookie fullback Ken Willard (40) leading interference and QB John Brodie (12) after the handoff

WESTERN CONFERENCE

Here's another Western club that can't be taken too lightly, especially if Johnny U. is 100 per cent Prediction: Third

BALTIMORE COLTS

1965 RECORD (10-3-1)

36	Minnesota	16
17	Green Bay	20
27	San Francisco	24
31	Detroit	7
36	Washington	7
39	Los Angeles	20
34	San Francisco	28
26	Chicago	21
41	Minnesota	21
34	Philadelphia	24
24	Detroit	24
0	Chicago	13
27	Green Bay	42
20	Los Angeles	17

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Michaels	0	40	17*	101
Orr	10	0	0	60
Moore	8	0	0	48
Berry	7	0	0	42

* Includes safety

RUSHING

	Atts	Yds	TDs	Avg
Hill	147	516	5	3.4
Moore	133	464	5	3.5
Lorick	63	296	1	4.7
Matte	49	235	1	3.4

PASSING

	Atts	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
	282	164	2530	23	12	58.2
	105	54	700	7	4	51.4
	5	3	81	1	0	60.0

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Berry	58	739	7	12.9
Orr	45	847	10	18.8
Mackey	40	832	7	20.8
Moore	27	414	3	15.2

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Boyd	9	78	24	8.6
Harrig	3	77	36	25.7
Haymond	3	47	30	15.7
Logan	2	74	38	37.0

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Gilburg	54	2139	66	39.6

PUNT RETURNS

	Rets	Yds	Longest	Avg
Haymond	41	403	55	9.8
Hawkins	4	10	11	4.5

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Rets	Yds	Longest	Avg
Haymond	20	514	53	30.7
Felts	10	193	36	19.3

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS

	HT	WT	Age	Exp.	College
Berry, Raymond (S)	6-2	187	33	12	S.M.U.
Mackey, John (T)	6-2	217	24	4	Syracuse
Orr, Jimmy (F)	5-11	175	30	9	Georgia
Richardson, Willie (F)	6-2	198	24	4	Jackson State
Wilson, Butch (T)	6-2	218	25	4	Alabama
Kestner, Rick (S-F)	6-1	208	22	1	Florida

(S)—Split End (T)—Tight End (F)—Flanker

Comments

Alex Hawkins and Nei Petties were lost to Falcons, but Colts are set. Berry has caught more passes than anyone else in football history and is Unites' prime target. Orr is next. Mackey is first-class tight end. Kestner was high draft. RATING—EXCELLENT

INTERIOR LINEMEN

	HT	WT	Age	Exp.	College
Allison, Butch (T-G)	6-3	253	22	1
Ball, Sam (T)	6-5	245	22	1
Nutter, Buzz (C)	6-4	235	34	13	Ohio State
Parker, Jim (G)	6-3	275	32	10	Penn State
	6-3	235	23	2	Boston College
Dick (C)	6-3	235	32	11	Notre Dame
Vogel, Bob (T)	6-5	250	24		Ohio State

(T)—Tackle (G)—Guard (C)—Center

Ball gets shot here in effort to fill tackle spot vacated by George Press. Ditto Sullivan in guard spot for Al Sandusky. Oth—else it's first class all the way. Vog—Parker are two that can be ranked outstanding; Szymanski is solid. Ressler gets look at center job in second year. Nutter struggles to stay on. Allison could surprise. RATING—VERY GOOD

QUARTERBACKS

	HT	WT	Age	Exp.	College
Unites, John	6-1	194	33	11	Louisville
Guozzo, Gary	6-1	195	25	4	Virginia
	6-0	205	27	6	Ohio State
	6-2	220	30	13	San Francisco

If Unites' knee has fully mended, everyone sits and watches. If not, Colts must go to Guozzo, then Matte, whose stepping into qb role last year was a high point. RATING—EXCELLENT

RUNNING BACKS

	HT	WT	Age	Exp.	College
Curtis, Mike (F)	5-2	225			Duke
Hill, Jerry (F)	5-11	210			Wyoming
Lorick, Tony (F)	6-7	215			Arizona State
Moore, Lenny (H)	6-7	190			Penn State

(F)—Fullback (H)—Halfback

Hill and Lorick have good size for fullbacks. Latter was bothered by injuries last year. Curtis was drafted as a back, wound up at fullback. Moore is aging. RATING—GOOD

KICKER

	HT	WT	Age	Exp.	College
Michaels, Lou	6-2	240			Kentucky

Over 100 points in '65. RATING—VERY GOOD

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

	HT	WT	Age	Exp.	College
Wass, Ordell (E)	6-4				South Dakota
Hilton, Roy (E)	6-6				Jackson State
Michaels, Lou (E-K)	6-2
Miller, Fred (T)	6-3
Smith, Billy Ray (T)	6-4
Stynchula, Andy (E)	6-3

The Colts appear to be set here with Brease and Michaels at ends, Smith and Miller at tackles. Stynchula, who was injury-ridden most of last year with Giants, can play both positions, prefers end. Soph Hilton is available for reserve duty. RATING—VERY GOOD

LINEBACKERS

	HT	WT	Age	Exp.	College
Burkett, Jack (O)	6-4				Auburn
Davis, Ted (O)	6-1				Georgia Tech
Gaubatz, Dennis (O)	6-2
Shinnick, Don (O)	6-0
Strofolino, Mike (O)	6-2
Stonebreaker, Steve (M)	6-3
Meliszewski, Stan (O)	6-1				Princeton

(O)—Outside linebacker (M)—Middle linebacker

ker is now established in middle. y Gaubatz, Shinnick, Shinnick was out much of last year. Davis will have look at corner where Burkett also bids. Meliszewski had size in Ivy League where few opposing nemen matched up to him, but could find it a little different in pros. RATING—GOOD

DEFENSIVE BACKS

	HT	WT	Age	Exp.	College
Boyd, Bob (C)	5-10		7		Oklahoma
Haymond, Al (C)	6-0		3		Southern U.
Logan, Jerry (S)	6-1		4		W Texas State
Lyles, Lenny (C)	6-2		9		Louisville
Welch, Jim (S)	6-0	190	7		S.M.U.

(C)—Corner back (S)—Safety

Boyd, NFL's interception leader, will play one corner, tough Lenny Lyles the other. Logan is adequate at one safety; other will be filled by Welch or Haymond. Latter is probably as fast as any on kickoff returns. RATING—GOOD

The Colts cut themselves a couple of slices of 1965's record cake they'd just as soon have left for someone else: They lost two quarterbacks to injuries within a two-week span, and dropped three games to the Packers. The latter included a playoff, the longest on record, with a halfback at quarterback for Baltimore.

Tom Matte, the ex-halfback in question, became a kind of folk hero in Baltimore by taking the Colts into 13:39 minutes worth of a fifth period before submitting to the Packers. But no one, including Matte himself, compared him even remotely to a Johnny Unitas or a Gary Cuozzo.

The Colts started the 1965 campaign with one of the most feared one-two punches in the league—Johnny U. and his youthful understudy—and wound up in surgery. Unitas had his knee wrecked by the Bears one week, Cuozzo suffered a shoulder separation against Green Bay the next. It is all past history now, but painful past history.

The Colts look for Johnny U., in his 11th NFL campaign, to make history of another kind in '66. Moving into the season, he was only three TDs short of Y. A. Tittle's lifetime record of 212 touchdown tosses. For his receivers Johnny has a seasoned corps that included Ray Berry, who has caught more passes than anyone else in history. Abetting Raymond are John Mackey and Jimmy Orr. Seldom has the skilled artisan been furnished with such precision tools.

The 1966 Colts are a threat in the West, and probably are the team to beat. In three years, Colt clubs coached by Don Shula have compiled an impressive 30-11-1 record. Moving up to '66 they had won 27 of their last 34.

In each of the three years Shula has been running the show, he has come up with important and advantageous deals, getting Steve Stonebreaker and Lou Michaels in one trade, and Dennis Gaubatz in another. This past winter, Andy Stynchula, the serviceable end-tackle, came from the Giants. Shula lost two stalwarts from his offensive line when George Preas and Alex Sandusky retired, but the feeling is that new men will acquit themselves well in these spots.

It all gets back to Unitas and whether he has recovered mobility and strength in his knee. With him the Colts are a threat for Western honors, without him they are a good, but uninspired, ball club.

Although the Colts figured they had more pressing problems, the fact remains that Baltimore could use a big breakaway threat (their first three draft choices were non-runners). It's a little too much to hope for another Alan Ameche to come along, but someone in the 700-yard class would be welcome indeed. Last year's big rusher, Jerry Hill, was a 500-yarder. The year before Lenny Moore, scoring 16 TDs on the ground, was only good for 584. Tony Lorick, a 500-yarder as a frosh when he was in the running for Rookie-of-the-Year honors, dipped to around 300.

Two other performers are worth singling out for special mention—Michaels, the defensive end-kicking specialist and Al Haymond, the incredibly fast kickoff and punt return specialist. The left-footed Michaels, who came from the Steelers for the 1964 season, has contributed 221 points in two seasons. Haymond, a little-heralded performer from Southern U. who managed to hang on, gave the Colts yardage totaling 1,000-plus in leading both in punt returns (403) and kickoff returns (614). In the latter department he averaged a giddy 30.7 on 20 returns. A comparison is furnished by the fact that the two top Colt efforts in these categories the previous year amounted to only half of Haymond's figures.

This year's championship won't be won on last year's statistical tables, but they do prove one thing for Don Shula and anyone else who cares to have a look. The Colts have done it before. What's to prevent them from doing it again? □

Precision in execution is the key to any football team, and the Colts have more than their share of it. Here, top quarterback and field general, Johnny Unitas, hands off to start a play

WESTERN CONFERENCE

One-year veterans Gale Sayers and Dick Butkus make this outfit go—but they're not quite enough Prediction: Fourth

CHICAGO BEARS

1965 RECORD (9-5-0)

24	San Francisco	52
28	Los Angeles	30
14	Green Bay	23
45	Minnesota
36	Detroit	10
31	Green Bay	10
21	Baltimore	26
34	St. Louis	13
17	Detroit	10
35	New York	14
13	Baltimore	0
61	San Francisco	26
17	Minnesota	24

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
LeClerc	22	8	0	132
Arnett	0	52	11	86
Bull	4	0	0	24

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Sayers	164	887	14	5.2
Bull	91	417	3	4.6
Arnett	102	363	5	3.6
Livingston	63	363	2	5.8

PASSING

	Att	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Bukich	312	176	2641	20	9	56.4
Wade	41	20	294	0	2	48.8

RECEIVING

	Recd	Yds	TDs	Avg
	53	844	4	16.0
	36	454	2	12.6
	29	507	6	17.5
	21	360	4	16.7

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
	5	84	38	16.8
	4	116	89	29.0
	4	67	32	16.7
Pettibon	2	22	18	11.0

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Green	58	2479	66	42.7

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Sayers	16	238	85	14.9
Arnett	11	52	22	4.7

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Livingston	2	64	42	32.0
Sayers	21	640	96	31.4

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp	College	Comments
Ditka, Mike (T)	6-3	230	26	2	Pittsburgh	Morris, Ditka caught 100 fewer passes between them than previous year, but are still
Gordon, Dick (S)	5-11	190	21	2	Michigan State	deadly duo. Jones averaged TD every five
Jones, Jim (S)	6-2	187	25	2	Wisconsin	receptions RATING—VERY GOOD
Morris, Johnny (F)	5-10	180	30	9	Santa Barbara
(S)—Split end	(T)—Tight end	(F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp	College	Comments
Cadile, Jim (G)	6-3	240	26	5	San Jose State	There's plenty of experience and depth he
Cornish, Frank (T)	6-3	285	22	1	Grambling	with Ivy Leaguer Mike Pyle in the midd
Lee, Herman (T)	6-3	247	33	10	Florida A&M	and brother Palmer at one of guard spots. Lee,
Mattson, Riley (T)	6-4	255	27	6	Oregon	Wetoska and Mattson get competition at
Pyle, Palmer (G)	6-3	260	29	2	Michigan State	tackle from rookie Cornish, a 1964 future
Pyle, Mike (C)	6-3	250	27	6	Yale	from Grambling. Seals came from Redskins,
Rebold, Mike (G)	6-3	238	29	7	Indiana	bids for guard role with Cadile and Rebold
Seals, George (G)	6-3	260	23	3	Missouri	It'll be very tough for new man to break in
Wetoska, Bob (T)	6-3	240	29	7	Notre Dame	here. RATING—VERY GOOD
(T)—Tackle	(G)—Guard	(C)—Center

QUARTERBACKS

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp	College	Comments
Bukich, Rudy	6-2	206	34	12	U.S.C.	Bukich took job after first couple of games
Meyer, Ron	6-4	205	21	1	S. Dakota State	and kept it; he is as good with the bomb as
Rakestraw, Larry	6-2	195	24	3	Georgia	any in the business. Wade's in tough comeback
Wade, Bill	6-2	206	36	13	Vanderbilt	role. RATING—GOOD

RUNNING BACKS

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp	College	Comments
Arnett, Jon (H)	5-11	203	31	10	U.S.C.	Sayers was great rookie, set TD record. He can
Bivins, Charley (H)	6-2	212	27	7	Morris Brown	do everything and must be double-teamed on
Bull, Ronnie (H)	6-0	200	26	5	Baylor	halfback pass. Livingston could achieve st
Livingston, Andy (F)	6-0	234	21	3	Phoenix J.C.	dom. Marconi, Arnett have a few years on them,
Marconi, Joe (F)	6-2	225	31	10	West Virginia	Bull showed signs of returning to '63 form.
Piccolo, Brian (H)	6-0	205	22	2	Wake Forest	Bivins and Piccolo fight for spot on loaded
Sayers, Gale (H)	6-0	198	23	2	Kansas	roster. RATING—EXCELLENT
(F)—Fullback	(H)—Halfback

KICKER

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp	College	Comments
LeClerc, Roger	6-3	235	29	7	Trinity	FGs, 11 of 26. RATING—FAIR

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp	College	Comments
Atkins, Doug (E)	6-8	255	36	14	Tennessee	If Atkins hadn't "unretired" in July, end jobs
Evey, Dick (E)	6-4	225	25	3	Tennessee	would have been filled by Evey and O'Brado-
Johnson, John (T)	6-5	260	25	4	Indiana	vich Evey made switch to defense last
Jones, Stan (T)	6-1	250	34	13	Maryland	There's good depth at all positions. Johnson,
Kilcullen, Bob (T)	6-3	245	30	9	Texas Tech	Jones, Kilcullen and Loggett, veterans of 1963
Loggett, Earl (T)	6-3	265	33	9	L.S.U.	champ club that throttled most offenses, return.
McRae, Franklin (T)	6-6	276	22	1	Tennessee State	McRae, high draft, has height and speed to
O'Bradovich, Ed (E)	6-3	255	26	5	Illinois	make it. RATING—VERY GOOD
(E)—End	(T)—Tackle

LINEBACKERS

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp	College	Comments
Buffone, Doug (O)	6-1	218	21	1	Louisville	Butkus is established star in sophomore year.
Butkus, Dick (M)	6-3	240	22	2	Illinois	His five interceptions led club and was record
Fortunato, Joe (O)	6-1	225	35	12	Mississippi State	for Bear linebacker. Morris and Fortunato
Morris, Larry (O)	6-2	225	31	11	Georgia Tech	blank him. Purnell and Reilly give depth and
Purnell, Jim (O)	6-2	205	24	3	Wisconsin	Buffone's a most promising freshman, though a
Reilly, Mike (O)	6-2	238	23	3	Iowa	little light at 218. RATING—EXCELLENT
(O)—Outside linebacker	(M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp	College	Comments
Brown, Charlie (C)	6-1	193	23	1	Syracuse	This group includes the same quartet that was
Budka, Frank (C)	6-0	195	24	3	Notre Dame	so effective with the 1963 title team—McRae,
Caroline, J. C. (S)	6-1	190	32	11	Illinois	Whitsell, Taylor, Pettibon in addition Glueck,
Glueck, Larry (C)	6-0	190	24	4	Villanova	Shannon and Budka provide reserve, and Brown
McRae, Bannie (C)	6-0	180	26	5	Michigan	comes from college ranks with big reputation
Pettibon, Richie (S)	6-3	205	28	8	Tulane	and tag of No. 2 draft choice. Bears' scouts
Shannon, Carver (C)	6-0	204	28	5	So. Illinois	rated him the best in the East at Syracuse.
Taylor, Roosevelt (S)	5-11	186	29	6	Grambling	Caroline, up in years, has to fight for job this
Whitsell, Dave (C)	4-1	190	30	9	Indiana	time around RATING—EXCELLENT
(C)—Corner back	(S)—Safety

Vince Lombardi drove the Packers to the 1965 NFL championship in the murk and freezing rain of Green Bay last January; Blanton Collier's Cleveland Browns made it into the title round a second straight year; Don Shula made it into the Western Conference playoff without a Colt quarterback; and Ailie Sherman took a Giants' cellar club, which experts didn't see doing any better than repeating the two victories of the previous year, and tied for second in the East.

So who was named the 1965 Coach of the Year in the NFL?

George Halas, the incredible septuagenarian, that's who. His Bears finished third in the West, were a factor down to the final week, and produced the Rookie of the Year in Gale Sayers and the league's top passer in Rudy Bukich. Observers who had consigned the Bears to the junk heap when Billy Wade, the championship signal caller of '63 couldn't do it in the first few games, were flabbergasted.

Halas has been amazing the experts and non-experts ever since footballs were round and were inflated via a bicycle pump. It has always been a simple enough matter for him to provide the answers, since he wrote most of the questions.

Question: You are co-owner of a professional football club in the mid-Twenties, and you are also playing end. The other co-owner has taken himself out of the lineup and is slowly making his way toward the makeshift box office at the far end of the field. What do you do?

Answer: You get your tail out of the game as fast as you can and get over and check on what he's doing. Also examine the money belt he's wearing.

Question: An outstanding college prospect is apparently all wrapped up by Kansas City in the rival AFL, but he learns that he is being offered less than a player who hasn't quite made it was given three years earlier. What do you do?

Answer: You get on the phone as fast as you can and top the figure quoted. You are rewarded by acquiring the Rookie of the Year, Gale Sayers, who sets an NFL mark of 22 TDs and ties the league record of six in one game.

Question: Your scouts tell you that Dick Butkus, who is getting out of the University of Illinois almost a half-century after you did, is the best athlete among the nation's college football players and has left a string of busted bodies through the Big Ten to prove it. The young man also has some good advice on what to sign for. He says $200,000 would be a tidy little package. What do you do?

Answer: Pay the $200,000. The fellow is going to intercept five times in his first season and is going to win the middle linebacker job hands down, and in a manner that indicates he's going to be there for the next 10 years.

No further questions, except—will George Halas be the first 70-years-plus coach to win a title? If he was operating in the Eastern Conference, the inclination would be to offer a flat "Yes." In the West, tougher for some unfathomable reason (East and West are mixed up in the various scouting pools), the answer has to be "Maybe." Maybe he can do it in the West again before he passes on the torch.

In all departments on the accompanying chart the lowest rating is "good." His running backs are outstanding: Young Andy Livingston could turn out to be a game-busting fullback, Ronnie Bull's running in the last period of the 1963 playoff meant the title for the Bears. Sayers' 132 points makes him the fourth-highest single-season scorer in NFL history, topped only by a couple of efforts by Paul Hornung and one by Don Hutson, the pass-catching marvel of another era. Gale's TDs were spread thusly: rushing, 14; passing, six; punt return, one; kickoff return, one. Hey, George, how can you be so smart? □

In many departments, Chicago's Gale Sayers did better last year, as a rookie, than the great Jim Brown. His outside speed is amazing, and his ability to slither through traffic makes him an inside threat, too

WESTERN CONFERENCE

The magic is out of Fran Tarkenton's scrambling, and Alvin Harrison will be a first-round pick.

MINNESOTA VIKINGS

1964-65

42	San Francisco	41	22	22
21	Baltimore	41	22	22
13	Green Bay	38	22	22
19	Green Bay	24	22	22

TDs PATs FGs Total

Mason	11	0	0	11
Brown	7	0	0	7

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Brown	160	699	6	4.4
Tarkenton	56	366	7	6.4

VanderKelen	40	13	262	2	0	45.0
-------------	----	----	-----	---	---	------

Rec'd Yds TDs Avg

Smith	22	431	5	19.5
-------	----	-----	---	------

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Sharrockman	4	118	40	19.7
Jordan	4	45	18	11.2

PUNTING

Warwick	10	10	10.0
Mason	9	63	7.0

1964-65

Hall, Tom (F)	6-2	195	24	3	Minnesota	TD receiver last year, has improved steadily
Renfzel, Lance (S)	6-2	210	22	2	Oklahoma	him here. RATING—FAIR
(S)—Split end	(T)—Tight end	(F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Byers, Ken (G)	6-1	240	24	5	Cincinnati	rate guard combination last year. Alderman is
McClendon, Frank (T)	6-3	230	22	2	Alabama	pool of '61. Other tackle in '65, Errol Linden,
Sunde, Milt (G)	6-2	234	23	3	Minnesota	went to Atlanta in expansion draft. Sutton has
Tingelhoff, Mick (C)	6-1	237	26	5	Nebraska	kus got the headlines. RATING—GOOD
(T)—Tackle	(G)—Guard	(C)—Center

QUARTERBACKS

Tarkenton, Fran	6-0	190	26	6	Georgia	Brocklin isn't impressed. VanderKelen inte-
VanderKelen, Ron	6-1	195	26	4	Wisconsin	cepted once in two years. RATING—GOOD

RUNNING BACKS

Lindsey, Jim (H)	6-3	205	21	7	Arkansas	top 10 rushers, but Tommy's very brittle. King
ing, Phil (F)	6-4	220	30	9	Vanderbilt	be spotted. Lindsey, the No. 2 draft, has both
Young, Jim (H)	6-0	205	23	2	Queens (Ont.)	even. RATING—VERY GOOD
(F)—Fullback	(H)—Halfback

Cox, Fred	5-10	200	27	4	Pittsburgh	Cox was 23 for 36 in FGs. Walden's a fine
-----------	------	-----	----	---	------------	-------------------------------------------

FRONT LINEMEN

Eller, Carl (E)	6-6	270	23	3	Minnesota	prove. Shay, No. 1 draft, will get full shot at
Larsen, Gary (T)	6-5	250	26	3	Concordia	tackle job. Eller dipped in
Marshall, Jim (E)	6-3	235	20	7	Ohio State	after approaching All

LINEBACKERS

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Bob (S)	6-2	190	22	4	Brown	need for improvement is obvious. Jordan
Vargo, Larry (S)	6-3	215	27	6	Detroit	in. RATING—FAIR

A great many persons were disappointed by the Vikings' 1965 efforts, which resulted only in an eventual tie for fifth place in the West at break-even figures. Norm Van Brocklin, Minnesota's head man since the club was formed a half-dozen years ago, was one of the few who did something about it. He quit for 24 hours, then heeded the pleas of the front-office brass and returned. But his throwing in the sponge was genuine. He had been irritated beyond endurance. If any aspect of the picture proved more riling than the rest to the Dutchman it was probably the team's defense. There were 14 teams in the NFL last year; the Vikings finished first in giving up points, indicating that a drastic change must come here if they are to be rated future championship contenders.

There are a number of other factors to be considered if the Vikings are to figure in the title picture. Tommy Mason must enjoy a season of non-injury, Fran Tarkenton has to come through with a little faster delivery and mental mistakes must be eliminated in the defensive secondary. The ownership thinks that the Dutchman is the man to swing all this because they took his old contract last winter, shredded it and provided him with one for five additional years.

These years could be reasonably happy ones, says Van Brocklin, if Tarkenton changes his style just a bit. He is the game's No. 1 scrambler and after watching him for five seasons the Dutchman still isn't completely sold. "When he plants his foot and unloads in a hurry we're fine," he said. "When he floats, we sometimes have problems."

So have other players, and not necessarily on the Viking squad. During the Colts-Vikings game (the one that triggered Van Brocklin's sudden resignation), All-League guard Jim Parker of Baltimore said to his opposite number, Grady Alderman, "How do you keep up with that Tarkenton? He runs all over and you have to kill yourself getting there to block for him."

Alderman is the only survivor of the original draft that stocked the Minnesota franchise. He has learned a few things, one of them he passed along to Parker. "No I don't, Jim," he replied. "I just stand still and wait for Fran to come past again and then I throw another block."

Tarkenton has rushed for more than 300 yards in each of the last two seasons. Is he vulnerable to interceptions as he runs all over the place? In both seasons he has thrown TD passes in a two-to-one ratio to interceptions. That's about the same ratio as the league's best percentage performer, Rudy Bukich of the Bears, or the league's leading TD passer, John Brodie of the 49ers.

The Vikings have had Bill Brown and Mason among the league's first 10 rushers repeatedly. If Mason stays healthy he represents a double threat, as both runner and receiver. Brown is capable of achieving 1,000 yards in any given season. His best has been 866 in the 1964 campaign, and his durability is matched by his ability as a receiver, too.

The big pass catcher ever since his rookie year has been Paul Flatley, the split end. A flanker of commensurate skill would significantly enhance the Vikings' passing attack and unwrinkle field boss Van Brocklin's brow a bit.

Minnesota's big drafts were shrewdly chosen. Topping the list were Jerry Shay, a Purdue tackle; Jim Lindsey, an Arkansas running back; and Don Hansen, an Illinois linebacker. Spotting the Vikings' big picks around the various departments indicates one of two things. Either Van Brocklin isn't completely satisfied with his personnel—and is any coach ever completely satisfied?—or he's looking ahead to the time when he might have to take the appropriate corrective action. The question is, if and when that time does come, what he will do—quit again, or give the offending player(s) a good, swift kick in the pants? □

Tommy Mason is one of the league's best running backs, but repeated injuries have hampered him. Minnesota's chances will get a significant boost if Mason can stay healthy and have the year he's capable of

WESTERN CONFERENCE

Too many question marks and outright weaknesses, and too much strength in the West sums up this club Prediction: Sixth

DETROIT LIONS

1965 RECORD (6-7-1)

20	Los Angeles	0
31	Minnesota	29
14	Washington	10
7	Baltimore	31
21	Green Bay
10	Chicago	36
31	Los Angeles	7
12	Green Bay	7
21	San Francisco	27
10	Chicago	17
24	Baltimore	24
14	San Francisco	17
7	Minnesota	29
35	Philadelphia	28

SCORING

	TDs	PAIs	FGs	Total
Walker	0	33	0	57
Marsh	8	0	0	48
Looney	6	0	0	36
Studsstill	3	0	0	18

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Marsh	131	495	6	3.8
Looney	114	356	5	3.1
Pietrosante	107	374	1	3.5
Watkins	29	95	0	3.3

PASSING

	Atts	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Plum	308	143	1710	12	19	46.4
Izo	59	24	357	2	8	40.6

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Studsstill	28	389	3	13.9
Barr	24	433	3	18.0
Cogdill	20	247	0	12.4
Pietrosante	18	163	0	9.0

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
LeBeau	7	84	30	12.0
Rasmussen	5	122	56	24.4
Maher	4	76	35	19.0
Schmidt	4	42	14	10.5

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Studsstill	78	3335	69	42.6

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Watkins	23	294	41	10.2
Studsstill	5	47	17	9.4

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Watkins	17	584	94	34.3
Vaughn	13	316	41	24.3

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Cogdill, Gail (S)	6-2	195	28	7	Washington State	Tight end is adequately covered by Kramer, ex-Packer, and Gibbons. Problem is to come up with another speedster of caliber of retired Terry Barr. Studstill was the club's leading receiver but caught only half as many as Terry did previous year. Malinchak is probably best of rookie prospects. Cogdill is set at split end position. RATING—GOOD
Gibbons, Jim (T)	6-3	220	27	9	Iowa
Henderson, John (S)	6-3	190	22	1	Michigan
Kramer, Ron (T)	6-3	240	30	9	Indiana
Malinchak, Bill (F)	6-1	190	21	1	Tennessee State
Robinson, John (F)	6-2	205	21	1	Houston
Studsstill, Pat (F)	6-0	175	27	6	Tennessee State
Walker, Willie (F)	6-3	280	22	1

INTERIOR LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Flanagan, Ed (C)	6-3	280	22	2	Purdue	There's a good mixture of experience (Gonzaga, Gordy, Karras) and youth (Flanagan, who won center role after Bob Scholtz went to NY last year) Sanders has developed into a fine tackle. Smith missed entire season with bad knee. Rush is being moved to offense after look at defense in '65. Van Horn was rated Ohio State's "best lineman since Jim Parker." If his pro performance matches Parker's, the Lions have a new star. RATING—GOOD
Gonzaga, John (G)	6-3	250	33	11	none
Gordy, John (G)	6-4	250	36	9	Tennessee
Karras, Ted (G)	6-9	245	32	9	Indiana
Kowalkowski, Bob (G)	6-3	245	21	1	Virginia
Rush, Jerry (T)	6-4	270	32	2	Michigan State
Sanders, Daryl (T)	6-5	250	28	4	Ohio State
Shoals, Roger (T)	6-4	255	27	4	Maryland
Smith, J. D. (T)	6-5	250	29	7	Rice
Van Horn, Doug (G)	6-2	245	21	1	Ohio State

QUARTERBACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Plum, Milt	6-2	205	31	10	Penn State	Plum had his one poor season in general breakdown of Lions' passing game. Izo came in '65.
Izo, George	6-3	210	26	7	Notre Dame	Washington. Myers will get competition from Sweetan. RATING—FAIR
Myers, Tom	6-0	188	22	2	Northwestern
Sweetan, Karl	6-1	210	23	1	Wake Forest

RUNNING BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Felts, Bobby (H)	6-2	205	23	2	Florida A&M	Lions are still looking for the big runner. Marsh came from Dallas and was leading rusher. Looney was finished after concussion in a mid-season game with Green Bay. Pietrosante's obviously not the No. 1 runner. Nowatzke, in his soph season, gets long look. McLenna could be sleeper. RATING—FAIR
Looney, Joe Don (H)	6-2	230	23	3	Oklahoma
Marsh, Amos (F)	6-0	220	26	8	Oregon State
McLenna, Bruce (F)	6-3	225	23	1	Hillsdale
Nowatzke, Tom (F)	6-3	233	23	2	Indiana
Pietrosante, Nick (F)	6-2	225	26	6	Notre Dame
Watkins, Tom (H)	6-0	195	28	6	Iowa State

(F)—Fullback (H)—Halfback

KICKER

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Walker, Wayne	6-2	225	28	9	Idaho	Walker made eight of 22 RATING—FAIR

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Brown, Roger (T)	6-5	380	28	7	Maryland State	Sam Williams' departure for Atlanta breaks up huge front four of Karras, Brown, McCord and Hand. Hand is expected to replace Williams while rookies Dunlap, Pennie and Sullivan bid for other end role with McCord. Karras and Brown could play for anyone. They're the NFL's top tackle set. RATING—VERY GOOD
Dunlap, Ralph (E)	6-4	250	22	1	Baylor
Hand, Larry (E)	6-4	245	25	2	Appalachian State
Karras, Alex (T)	6-2	245	30	8	Iowa
McCord, Darris (E)	6-4	250	33	12	Tennessee
Pennie, Frank (E)	6-5	250	22	1	Florida State
Sullivan, Bill (E)	6-4	220	21	1	West Virginia

(E)—End (T)—Tackle

LINEBACKERS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Bethridge, Ed (M)	6-1	235	24	7	Bowling Green	Joe Schmidt is now a coach, leaving Walker as most experienced man among linebackers. Middle is up for grabs and Schmidt will probably make decision about whether it will be Hilgenberg or Lucci, who came from Browns last year. Cody had fine notices and will challenge Clark at one corner. RATING—GOOD
Clark, Ernie (O)	6-1	220	28	4	Michigan State
Cody, Bill (O)	6-1	220	21	1	Auburn
Hilgenberg, Wally (M)	6-3	225	23	3	Iowa
Lucci, Mike (O)	6-2	230	26	5	Tennessee
Malovich, Jack (M)	6-0	225	23	1	Oregon State
Walker, Wayne (O)	6-2	225	28	9	Idaho

(O)—Outside linebacker (M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Brigham, Tom (C)	6-1	280	22	1	Wisconsin	Lions usually acquit themselves quite well on pass defense. LeBeau and Thompson, Rasmussen and Maher shape up as starting foursome. This is change from '65, when Yale Lary and "Night Train" Lane retired. Vaughn is back after strong rookie year. Brigham is Big Ten hotshot. Odom, Pincavage are first-year contenders for job. RATING—GOOD
LeBeau, Dick (C)	6-1	185	28	8	Ohio State
Maher, Bruce (S)	5-11	190	27	7	Detroit
Odom, Sonny (S)	6-1	190	22	1	Duke
Thompson, John (C)	5-11	180	21	1	Virginia
Vaughn, Wayne (S)	6-2	180	23	3	S. Dakota State
Thompson, Bobby (C)	5-10	175	26	3	Arizona
Vaughn, Tom (S)	5-11	195	23	2	Iowa State

(C)—Corner back

Understatement of the year, NFL division, has to be Harry Gilmer's plaintive observation, "I'm glad that my first year as a head coach is behind me." Few head coaches, with or without a cowboy hat, have ever been buffeted about like this one-time quarterback.

Gilmer made a sour deal, handing over Earl Morrall to the Giants, then ran into a string of harrowing injuries, one of which made up the mind of gifted Terry Barr to let someone else try catching passes. The coach looked the other way at some of Joe Don Looney's shenanigans, hoping his bull-like running would make up for his eccentric behavior. He saw his club as the obvious target for the first attempts at unionizing players by Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters Union ("Now see here coach, you're not going to play that dues-paying member of our union on a bad leg, are you?"). And he also had to fine one of his star performers, Gail Cogdill, for off-season remarks, later denied, to the effect that "Gilmer doesn't know how to handle men and he's not ready for a coaching job." Yes, it was a rough debut. But what's in store for year No. 2?

The answer is—not a great deal of improvement unless Detroit can come up with the big runner it has been looking for ever since Nick Pietrosante had a couple of 800-yard seasons. Nick is still around, but he can't do it anymore. Neither, apparently, can the current coterie of runners, ranging from Amos Marsh, a pickup from the Cowboys, to Looney, who came out of a Green Bay game in mid-season with a headache that lasted until Christmas.

Gilmer, who played in the big leagues for a decade, subscribes to the philosophy of picking your quarterback and going with him. This is fine where one particular passer's mastery is clearly evident. When it becomes a matter of grays, rather than blacks and whites, though, there is room for an error in judgment. In Detroit last August it was up to Gilmer to decide which quarterback he'd let the Giants have in a trade —Milt Plum or Earl Morrall. The Giants, desperate, would have taken either. They got Morrall and a month later Gilmer was making another trade—for George Izo, Washington's second-string quarterback.

There are bright spots in the Detroit picture, however. Detroit's defense was No. 1 in the league last year, and it is still pretty much intact in the form of All-Pro tackles Alex Karras and Roger Brown. A replacement will have to be found in the middle for linebacker Joe Schmidt, many times All Pro, who has moved into a coaching role, and it could be a little while before the replacements arrive for Yale Lary and "Night Train" Lane in the defensive backfield.

Lane moves into the ticket and promotion department of the ball club, incidentally. Any irate customers are hereby warned that, whenever arguing with old Night Train about his ticket locations, they'd better not stick their heads through the window to emphasize a particular point.

Detroit, in the past few seasons, has made a specialty of losing the close ones. The Lions exchanged an almost certain victory for a tie in the big Thanksgiving Day game with the Colts last year, when they just plain forgot to call for a free kick that undoubtedly would have meant a game-winning field goal.

The big hope for Detroit in '66 is that a heavy influx of rookies will make it. This will have two effects: It will help in the overall performance, naturally, but it will also cause the veteran performers to revise their thinking. Last winter a group got together and suggested to management that in view of the unprecedented bonuses being given the new kids to sign, how about sweetening up the contracts of the vets to the tune of $300,000? After all, it's only money, isn't it? It's a good point, even if the Lions point to the sub-500 figures of '65 and demand, "How about THAT?" The only thing that can squelch this kind of demand is for three or four key kids to make it. □

Amos Marsh, trying to fight off two Colt tacklers, was a pleasant surprise for the Lions last year. He came from Dallas with not too much expected of him, but led the Detroit club in ground gaining

WESTERN CONFERENCE

A new coach can't make enough difference, though this club has some good vets and some raw talent Prediction: Seventh

LOS ANGELES RAMS

1965 RECORD (4-10-0)

0	Detroit	20
30	Chicago	26
35	Minnesota	38
6	Chicago	31
21	San Francisco	45
20	Baltimore	35
7	Detroit	31
13	Minnesota	24
3	Green Bay	8
27	San Francisco	30
21	Green Bay	10
27	St. Louis	3
42	Cleveland	7
17	Baltimore	20

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Gossett	0	30	15	75
McDonald	9	0	0	54
Bass	4	0	0	24
McKeever	4	0	0	24

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Bass	121	549	2	4.53
Josephson	72	225	0	3.12
Wilson	60	187	1	3.15
Munson	26	157	1	6.03

PASSING

	Att	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Munson	267	144	1701	10	14	53.9
Gabriel	173	83	1321	11	5	47.9

RECEIVING

	Recd	Yds	TDs	Avg
McDonald	47	1036	9	15.5
McKeever	44	542	4	12.3
Snow	38	559	3	14.7
Baker	22	210	2	9.5

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Martin	2	60	37	30.0
-----	2	57	29	28.5
-----	2	7	7	3.5
-----	2	0	0	0.0

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Lothridge	42	1619	55	38.5
Kilgore	24	999	56	41.6

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Stricker	13	104	22	8.1
Brown	1	63	15	7.0
Smith	1	56	19	6.2

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Brown	24	615	52	25.6
Smith	17	457	56	26.9
Williams	9	213	31	23.7

McKeever, Marlin (T)	6-1	225	28	4	U.S.C.	This is strongest, best-manned department on club. McDonald bounced back as second-best receiver in league. Snow made it as rookie. McKeever is rated one of better blockers. Pope is back after missing '65 campaign. Truax shows promise. RATING—EXCELLENT
Truax, Billy (T)	5-5	240	23	3	L.S.U.
Pope, Bucky (F)	6-5	200	25	3	Catawba
Snow, Jack (S)	6-2	210	23	2	Notre Dame
McDonald, Tom (F)	5-9	180	33	10	Oklahoma
Heckard, Steve (S)	6-3	190	23	2	Davidson
(S)—Split End	(T)—Tight End	(F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Carollo, Joe (T)	6-2	263	26	5	Notre Dame	Former guard Cowan is looked on to fill tackle spot vacated by retired Frank Varrichione. Remainder of unit is intact, with Iman and Wendryhoski battling for center's role. Mack, No. 3 draft, is expected to contend with Chuy for one of guard jobs. Scibelli holds down the other. RATING—GOOD
Cowan, Charles (T)	6-4	270	26	6	N.M. Highlands
Scibelli, Joe (G)	6-0	255	27	6	Notre Dame
Chuy, Don (G)	6-1	256	25	4	Clemson
Iman, Ken (C)	6-1	235	27	6	S.E. Missouri
Wendryhoski, Joe (C)	6-2	245	28	3	Illinois
Mack, Tom (G-T)	6-3	245	22	1	Michigan
(T)—Tackle	(G)—Guard	(C)—Center

QUARTERBACKS

Gabriel, Roman	6-4	225	26	5	N. Carolina State	Gabriel's now in fifth year and could be achieving maturity. Munson is excellent backup. RATING—GOOD
-----	6-2	197	25	3	Utah State
-----	6-2	182	24	1	Tulsa

RUNNING BACKS

Bass, Dick (H)	5-10	285	29	7	U. of Pacific	Help's needed here, despite acquisition of Moore from Green Bay, unless Bass can play full time. Josephson, Wilson did little to help last year. Wilson disappointed after club made special arrangements to lure him from retirement. Dennis, Miss. rookie, is rated a Ken Wilford type. RATING—FAIR
Josephson, Les (F)	6-0	215	24	3	Augustana
Moore, Tom (H)	6-2	210	28	7	Vanderbilt
Baker, Terry (H)	6-3	210	25	4	Oregon State
Wilson, Ben (F)	6-0	225	26	4	U.S.C.
Dennis, Mike (H)	6-2	210	22	1	Mississippi
Dyer, Henry (F)	6-2	225	21	1	Grambling
(F)—Fullback	(H)—Halfback

KICKERS

Gossett, Bruce	6-2	220	24	3	Richmond	Gossett made 15 of 26 FGs in '65. Kilgore's punting is a problem. RATING—FAIR
Kilgore, Jon	6-1	185	22	2	Auburn

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

Jones, Dave (E)	6-5	251			S. Carolina State	Front four of Lundy, Jones, Olsen, Grier is tops but drops off rapidly in replacements. Rams topped NFL in defense against rushing for a second straight year. Jones is one of speediest big men in league. Scott and Gilbert get long look. RATING—VERY GOOD
Lundy, Lamar (E)	6-7	265
Olsen, Merlin (T)	6-5	270
Grier, Roosevelt (T)	6-5	290
Scott, Billy Ray (E)	6-3	235			NE Oklahoma
Gilbert, Dan (E)	6-4	240			Arkansas Tech

LINEBACKERS

Baughan, Maxie (O)	6-1	227			Georgia Tech	Acquisition of Baughan and return of Pardee are sure to lend welcome strength to inexperienced group. Pardee missed 1964-1965 but is only 29 and was All Pro previous year. Guillory, Woodlief made it as rookies. Currie and Livingston are old-timers. RATING—FAIR
Guillory, Tony (O)	6-4	220			Lamar Tech
Woodlief, Doug (M)	6-3	235			Memphis State
Currie, Dan (O)	6-3	235			Michigan State
Livingston, Cliff (O)	6-3	212			U.C.L.A.
Pardee, Jack (O)	6-2	225			Texas A&M
(O)—Outside Linebacker	(M)—Middle Linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Meador, Ed (S)	5-11	197			Arkansas Tech	Los Angeles got a good, tough corner back when it traded for Irv Cross of Philadelphia. He'll be happy here. Clancy Williams made it in rookie year and holds down a corner with Irv. Veterans Ed Meador and Lamson are safeties. There's some chance for Youngblood, Hoover to break into lineup. RATING—FAIR
Lamson, Chuck (S)	6-0	190			Wyoming
Williams, Clarence (C)	6-2	198			Washington State
McIlhenny, Dan (C)	6-0	195			Texas A&M
Youngblood, George (S)	6-3	200			Cal State (L.A.)
Hoover, Darrell (S)	6-2	203			Arizona State
Cross, Irv (C)	6-1	195			Northwestern
(C)—Corner Back	(S)—Safety

Books sometimes seem a little out of place in Hollywood, but when George Allen packed for the move from Chicago he figured he'd take his along anyway, together with an impressive collection of sport coats. Four of the books happened to be written by Allen. The philosophy of the Rams' head coach on authorship is, "I don't make any money writing books, but frequently an author can learn more from his own books than anyone else who reads them."

The books are on Allen's favorite topic, football, and many of the various texts concern themselves with his favorite sub-topic, defense. Allen, who took over that department for the Bears in mid-1962 when Clark Shaughnessy quit on George Halas, is generally credited with setting up the rock-ribbed defense that brought the Bears their first National Football League title in a couple of decades.

In fact, Allen made such an impression on Papa Bear George that when he told Halas he was leaving for a head-coach's job, Halas put him through a trying court case before magnanimously saying that Allen could leave. All Halas had wanted to do was prove in court, once and for all, the validity of a professional football contract.

Now Allen can show that he has the ability to mold a winner where the last couple of incumbents failed. The Rams haven't made it above .500 in won-lost figures since 1958. They last triumphed in the rough, tough West in 1955, and last presented the inhabitants of Cinderella Land with an NFL championship in 1951, the year that the league operated under the shadow of both Bob Waterfield's and Norm Van Brocklin's throwing arms.

One of several problems confronting Allen in his freshman year will be the selection of his quarterback. Big Roman Gabriel is in his fifth season, and Bill Munson's in his third. Munson had the job for the first 10 games of 1965, then suffered a disabling knee injury. Gabriel finished up and won three of his four starts. He beat both Green Bay and Cleveland, ultimate antagonists in the NFL playoff. Against Cleveland, in the rain, he threw five TD passes, tying the club record established by Waterfield and Van Brocklin. It should be noted, however, that the Browns had already clinched in the East by that time.

Actually, the Rams have the ingredients to deliver a contender, with a break or two. Supposing Tom Moore, considered expendable by Green Bay, makes it as a 500-yard performer? (He's been there before.) That could take some of the murderous pressure off Dick Bass, the Rams' leading rusher last year despite numerous ailments. And it would give the Rams some kind of balance. Bass, incidentally, has less than 300 yards to go to become L.A.'s leading all-time rusher in his seventh campaign.

Or take the receiving corps, where Tommy McDonald made a comeback last year to achieve runner-up honors in the league. McDonald carried most of the load when rookie star Bucky Pope was lost for the entire season. Pope had tied for NFL leadership with 10 TD passes in 1964, his freshman year. Put the two together at peak efficiency and there'd be a lot of worried looks among the remainder of the Western Conference's defensive secondaries.

Allen has also made a couple of significant moves in shoring up the defense. He convinced Jack Pardee to make a comeback and he acquired Maxie Baughan from Philadelphia, where Maxie had stopped seeing eye-to-eye with the management. That should give the linebacking a lift. Baughan is one of the good ones.

With his front four, Allen won't have to do much more than point them in the general direction of the opposition and say, "They're yours." David Jones and Merl Olsen are Pro Bowlers and Lamar Lundy and Roosevelt Grier constitute 550 pounds of amazingly fast bad news. □

Quarterback Bill Munson (19) pitches out to Dick Bass to start a wide running play. Les Josephson (34) has just faked taking the handoff and now he heads into the line to make way for his hard-running teammate

EASTERN CONFERENCE

The great Jimmy is gone; but this club has the desire and cohesiveness to go all the way again Prediction: First

CLEVELAND BROWNS

1965 RECORD (11-3-0)

17	Washington	7
13	St. Louis	49
35	Philadelphia	7
24	Pittsburgh	19
23	Dallas	17
36	New York	14
17	Minnesota	27
30	Philadelphia	34
34	New York	21
24	Dallas	17
42	Pittsburgh	21
24	Washington	18
7	Los Angeles	42
27	St. Louis	24

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Brown	21	0	0	126
Groza	0	45	18	93
Collins	10	0	0	60
Roberts	4	0	0	24

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Brown	269	1544	17	5.3
Green	111	436	2	3.9
Kelly	37	139	0	3.8
Ryan	17	72	0	3.8

PASSING

	Att	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Ryan	243	119	1751	18	13	49.0
Ninowski	63	40	549	4	3	46.2

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Brown	50	884	10	17.7
Green	34	328	4	9.4
Kelly	25	298	2	11.9
Roberts	16	314	4	19.6

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Benz	5	78	31	15.6
Fichtner	4	98	48	24.5
Parrish	4	46	35	11.2
Costello	3	33	23	11.0

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Collins	65	3035	71	46.7

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Kelly	17	265	67	15.6
Roberts	18	162	51	9.0

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Roberts	18	493	88	27.4
Kelly	24	621	51	25.9

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Brewer, Johnny (T)	6-4	235	29	6	Mississippi	Collins continues one of league's best receivers. Warfield never recovered from College All Star game injury, caught three passes at season's end. Roberts was his backup. Veteran tight end and Brewer gets push from Browns' No. 1 draft pick, Morin, who didn't get national notice in college. RATING—VERY GOOD
Mitt (T)	6-4	250	23	1	Massachusetts
Collins, Gary (F)	6-4	208	25	5	Maryland
McNeil, Clifton (F)	6-2	195	26	3	Grambling
Roberts, Walt (F)	5-10	168	24	3	San Jose State
Warfield, Paul (S)	6-0	188	23	3	Ohio State
Hutchinson, Tom (S)	6-1	190	25	4	Kentucky

(S)—Split end (T)—Tight end (F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Schaftrath, Dick (T)	6-3	255	29	8	Ohio State	There's lots of experience here without age slowing 'em down yet Schaftrath, one of best in game, was hurt at season's end. Brown recovered from bad knee in '64. Morrow gives line stability. Ryan's protection from this group as good as any RATING—EXCELLENT
Brown, John (T)	6-2	248	27	5	Syracuse
Clark, Monte (T)	6-6	265	29	8	Southern California
Morrow, Gene (G)	6-3	248	31	9	Mississippi
Wooten, John (G)	6-3	250	29	8	Colorado
Morrow, John (C)	6-3	248	33	19	Michigan

(T)—Tackle (G)—Guard (C)—Center

QUARTERBACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Ryan, Frank	6-3	200	30	7	Rice	Ryan, bothered by foot injury, dipped to 18 TD passes. Ninowski is good backup. Lena is highly rated. RATING—VERY GOOD
Ninowski, Jim	6-1	207	30	7	Michigan
Lena, Gary	6-1	210	23	1	Missouri

RUNNING BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Green, Ernie (H)	6-2	205	27	5	Louisville	Jim Brown's retirement has to hurt, he was the perfect ball carrier. Green continues to improve. Kelly has made a place for himself. Rookies will get a long look RATING—FAIR
Leroy (H)	6-0	195	24	3	Morgan State
Harraway, Charley (F)	6-3	230	22	1	San Jose State
Schultz, Randle (H)	5-11	210	22	1	Iowa State

(F)—Fullback (H)—Halfback

KICKER

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Groza, Lou	6-3	250	42	20	Ohio State	Still going strong. RATING—EXCELLENT

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Bill (E)	6-5	255	30	9	Baylor	Modzelewski could be losing a step and much depends on Parker's comeback from knee surgery after missing entire season. Kanicki is now established and Johnson will see more action this year. Glass and Wiggin can do it at ends. Garcia was a disappointment last year with illness and injuries. RATING—VERY GOOD
Wiggin, Paul (E)	6-3	245	31	10	Stanford
Jim (E)	6-4	240	22	2	Purdue
Kanicki, Jim (T)	6-4	270	25	4	Michigan State
Parker, Frank (T)	6-5	270	26	4	Oklahoma State
Johnson, Walter (T)	6-3	265	22	2	L.A. State
Modzelewski, Dick (T)	6-0	260	35	14	Maryland

(E)—End (T)—Tackle

LINEBACKERS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Costello, Vince (M)	6-0	228	33	10	Ohio University	Fiss, Costello and Houston know all the answers. Sczurek stuck with club after making team during injury period previous season. Williams was capable fill-in last year. Lindsey, top prospect, is rated a possibility at middle spot. RATING—VERY GOOD
Fiss, Galen (O)	6-0	227	35	11	Kansas
Houston, Jim (O)	6-3	240	28	7	Ohio State
Sczurek, Stan (O)	5-11	230	27	4	Purdue
Williams, Sid (O)	6-2	235	24	3	Southern University
Lindsey, Dale (M)	6-3	220	23	2	Western Kentucky

(O)—Outside linebacker (M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Parrish, Bernie (C)	5-11	195	29	8	Florida	Biggest problem on club is here. Defensive secondary lacked height and speed last year. Larry Benz and Bobby Franklin went to Atlanta in expansion pool, so this group will have new look. Parrish and Beach have plenty savvy. Barnes could be losing a step. Rookies get big chance. RATING—FAIR
Beach, Walter (C)	6-0	195	31	4	Central Mich.
Barnes, Erich (C)	6-3	198	31	9	Purdue
Fichtner, Ross (S)	6-0	195	27	7	Purdue
Howell, Mike (S)	6-1	187	22	2	Grambling
Cordill, Olie (S)	6-2	186	22	2	Memphis State
Kellermann, Ernie (S)	6-0	183	22	1	Miami (O.)

(C)—Corner back (S)—Safety

The inevitable tendency, in discussing the Browns, is to start by saying "Jim Brown is gone . . ." and proceed from there. The Browns, however, were an awesome football machine in the early '50s, when Brown was only a teenager reading about the six straight Eastern Conference triumphs of the Clevelanders. And there is no reason to expect the club to disintegrate following his retirement. The team has too much else going for it, and—just as important—there is no other outfit in the East that is quite ready to hurdle Blanton Collier's men.

Pride, balance, a team that has worked together for a long time—all of these are very much in evidence when you examine the Cleveland personnel. So who is to say that the club won't be the first since the New York Giants of '61-'63 to make the title playoff three times in a row as the East's representative? And the Clevelanders have a bit of added incentive this year—in addition to having the chance to prove they can do it without Jimmy: From the NFL championship game, the winning club goes on to play the AFL titleholders. And the winner of that will proudly be known as the masters of the pro grid sport.

Cleveland's squad is an all-veteran one, and is as sound as any. Frank Ryan gets the pass protection that he requires, and the receivers have the benefit of the strong running game for additional pressure on the defense. Paul Warfield, recovered from the broken collarbone he suffered a year ago in the Chicago All Star game, is back to team with Gary Collins to make a deadly one-two receiving combination.

There are other interesting tidbits in the Browns picture. Tackle Dick Modzelewski, now in his 14th campaign, could break the NFL consecutive-games record. He had 166 going in; the old mark, 174, belongs to Leo Nomellini of the 49ers. Mo has played with four clubs—Washington, Pittsburgh, New York and the Browns. He was obtained from the Giants for insurance, but a lucky (for him) break—in the form of a first-game injury to Frank Parker—enabled him to keep his decade-plus string going in 1964 and 1965 at his defensive post.

Then there is the bid by Archie Roberts, who was originally obtained as insurance against the time Frank Ryan couldn't do it any more. Archie came out of Columbia as one of the finest Ivy League quarterbacks since Sid Luckman. The Browns' deal to get him included a medical school education not only for him, but for his wife. They do things like that in football. Archie could have sat out his education, watching on Sundays from the bench. Instead, he popped the astounding news to the management last spring: His marks were so good that the dean thought he could carry his imposing academic load and play ball too. At least he thought Archie could give it a try. The dean was noted wearing a small "Let's Go, Browns" button at the time.

Warfield, a local favorite (he's Ohio State and from Warren, just down the road), is counted upon heavily in any Brown bid. As a rookie he caused the most first-year excitement since Jim Brown arrived in '57. He caught 52 passes and nine TDs. Only one Brown receiver, Mac Speedie, ever caught more in a single season.

Another local favorite, playing in his 20th campaign, is Lou Groza, who holds a half-dozen NFL scoring records. Groza goes back to the days of the All-America Football Conference, which was dominated by the Browns in the four years of its existence. He has lost a bit of range, but none of his accuracy.

The super-publicity stunt for Browns' boss Arthur Modell would involve convincing Groza to keep playing another year or two. Then he could point him out to some young twerp on the way up and say, "See that guy kicking for us? He was playing big-league pro football before you were born." □

Frank Ryan's talents—he's handing off here—were often taken for granted because he played in the shadow of the great Jim Brown. But this year he'll have the chance to show his value to the veteran Cleveland club

EASTERN CONFERENCE

Tom Landry makes progress more slowly than his fans

The Cowboys' front seven has improved a great deal. But the backfield is still a work in progress.

DALLAS COWBOYS

39 • San Francisco 31

(S)—Split End (T)—Tight End (F)—Flanker

Att. • Yds. TDs • Avg.
86 • 295 • 2 • 3.4

Meredith 305 • 141 • 2415 • 22 • 73
Morton 34 • 13 • 173 • 2 • 4
21 • 157 • 1

INTERCEPTIONS

Ints. Yds. Longest Avg.
3 • 47 • 43 • 16.3
3 • 5 • 5 • 1.7
3 • 6 • 3 • 1.7

Punts Yds. Longest Avg.
Villanueva 60 • 2505 • 58 • 41.8
Ridgway 73 • 510 • 44

PUNT RETURNS

(B) • 4-3
(T) • 6-5
Pugh, Jethro (E) • 6-6

LINEBACKERS

26 • 3 • Marquette
27 • 3 •

Atlanta, Lilly is All-League at tackle, Andrie's at linebacker at end. Rookie Townes is expected for Colvin at other tackle. One of Cowboys' strong points. RATING—EXCELLENT

Is this to be the year of the Big Cowboy? Can the momentum of a second-place tie in the East, the result of having won five of its last seven, propel Dallas to its first title? And will a major strategem planned by Tom Landry, the Cowboys' high-domed impresario, play a vital role?

Dallas has been Landry's only head coaching assignment, and Landry has been Dallas' only head coach. In the early days of his tenure he sought to control the game completely from the sideline, alternating quarterbacks Eddie LeBaron and Don Meredith, and switching on every play. After LeBaron's retirement he went with Meredith as his number one. Then last year he installed the rollout pass, a sharp break with the standard pro setup of passing from the protection of the pocket. The success of the experiment was marked; the Cowboys ultimately averaged 70 yards more per game in over-all offense. The rollout may not be here to stay, but it sure is going to get a big look this year.

Landry thinks that the rollout offense will increase the effectiveness of the Cowboy personnel, apparently ignoring the strain it places on the interior linemen attempting to pass block. "The ideal NFL offense," he says, "is pocket passing and a running game built around two big, good backs. We have good backs but they aren't big."

Dallas' efforts to improve its outside running game didn't get anyplace last year, because there was no speedy back to complement Don Perkins, who worked both inside and outside.

The biggest man among the runners this year is Jimmy Sidle, who was Tucker Frederickson's running mate at Auburn two years ago. Sidle, still a rookie, is a sound 215 after laying off a year with an injury.

But Landry is proceeding on the assumption the running game will be no better than last year, hence the rollout. "We noticed," he said, "when Meredith rolled wide to throw during the last half of the season the defense adjusted just as it would if we were throwing a wide-running threat at it. If it widens just a bit, it might be enough to open up the middle a little."

The rollout game has its drawbacks. The curtain of blockers normally expected must of necessity disperse, leaving the quarterback only one blocker and making him a lot more vulnerable to the pursuit. Meredith survived this style of play without too much punishment last year.

The year before he was hobbled by all sorts of injuries, ranging from a knee to a torn stomach muscle. He's a big fellow, with desire, and last year's 22 touchdowns was his best figure to date. But how much additional banging around can Don take?

The Cowboys are well supplied with quarterbacks. Jerry Rhome and Craig Morton are both sophomores. Rhome, who comes from Tulsa, is used to the rollout style of offense but Morton was strictly a pocket passer at California. In fact, any efforts on his part to run with the ball were frowned upon back in his college days.

The best man for the new job, if he could be sent back to college to learn quarterbacking, would be the Cowboys' rookie pass-catching sensation, Bob Hayes. Given a half-step, there is no one in the NFL capable of catching him. Hayes' role, however, is that of a pass receiver, one he filled to the tune of a dozen TD receptions last year. So that's where he stays, a threat hanging over the opposition's head right down to the final gun.

Whether the rollout is slated for modification or elimination will be determined by the events of the '66 campaign. With it Landry took the Cowboys further than ever before. If the opposition catches up with it he can always change. If they don't, the customers won't freeze to death at the Cowboys' first hometown playoff. Chances are you can get away with just a sport jacket in Dallas on New Year's Day. □

One of the flashiest stars to enter the pro ranks last year was Dallas' Bob Hayes (22). Here he's moving past his blockers and stepping into the open—where nobody stands a chance to catch him

EASTERN CONFERENCE

This campaign will be a bit of a backward step for the Maramen. Last year the team tied for second Prediction: Third

NEW YORK GIANTS

1965 RECORD (7-7-0)

2	Dallas	31
16	Philadelphia	14
23	Pittsburgh	13
14	Minnesota	40
36	Philadelphia	27
14	Cleveland	30
14	St. Louis	10
21	Washington	23
21	Cleveland	34
20	St. Louis	15
14	Chicago	36
36	Pittsburgh	10
27	Washington	10
20	Dallas	30

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Frederickson	16	8	0	36
Jones	5	0	0	34
Morrison	5	0	0	30
Thomas	5	0	0	30
Thurlow	5	0	0	30

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Frederickson	195	659	5	3.8
Thurlow	186	440	4	4.2
Koy	36	174	0	5.0
Wheelwright	24	96	0	4.0

PASSING

	Att	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
	302	156	2446	22	12	51.3
	36	15	190	1	2	41.7

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Morrison	41	574	4	14
Thomas	27	631	5
Jones	26	709	5
Frederickson	24	177	1

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Lockhart	4	117	37	29.2
Lynch	4	30	23	9.5
Hillebrand	2	25	25	12.5
Carr	2	19	19	9.5

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Lockhart	8	267	53	44.5
Koy	30	2246	67	41.2

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Carr	4	13	17	3.3
Williams	10	26	14	1.6

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Childs	29	718	51	24.8
Koy	21	481	30	19.1

RECEIVERS

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp
Thomas, Aaron (T)	6-3	212	28	4
Crespiro, Bob (T)	6-4	225	28	5
Shofner, Del (S)	6-3	185	31	10
Jones, Homer (S)	6-2	205	25	2
Morrison, Joe (F)	6-1	195	28	8
Reynolds, Roger (E)	6-1	191	24	1

(S)—Split end (T)—Tight end (F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Brown, Roosevelt (T)	6-3	285	34	13
Peay, Fran (T)	6-5	250	21	1
McDowell, John (F)	6-3	235	26	5
Bolin, Bookie (G)	6-3	235	26	5
Davis, Roger (G)	6-3	240	26	7
Caso, Pete (G)	6-3	243	25	5
Larson, Greg (C)	6-2	250	27	6
Scholtz, Bob (C)	6-4	258	28	7

QUARTERBACKS

Morrall, Earl	6-2	206	32	11
Timberlake, Bob	5-4	220	23	2
Wood, Gary	5-11	195	24	3

RUNNING BACKS

Frederickson, Tucker (F)	6-3	230	23	2
Merrett, Chuck (F)	6-3	230	24	2
Thurlow, Steve (H)	6-3	225	24	3
Reed, Smith (H)	6-0	215	24	2
Harris, Phil (H)	6-0	195	21	1
Randy (H)	6-0	240	21	1

(F)—Fullback (H)—Halfback

KICKER

Gogolak, Pete	6-2	200	24	1
---------------	-----	-----	----	---

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

Katcavage, Jim (E)	6-3	246	32	11
Davis, Roosevelt (E)	6-5	260	24	2
Briggs, Bill (E)	6-3	230	21	1
Slaby, Lou (T)	6-5	245	24	3
LoVetere, John (T)	6-4	278	30	8
Davis, Don (T)	6-4	240	21	1
Condren, Glen (T)	6-2	225	24	2
Lalonde, Roger (T)	6-3	295	24	3

(E)—End (T)—Tackle

LINEBACKERS

Hillebrand, Jerry (M)	6-3	240	26	5
Carroll, Jim (O)	6-3	230	23	2
Underwood, Glen (O)	6-4	220	24	2
Swain, Bill (O)	6-2	230	25	4
Costello, Tom (O)	6-3	220	25	3
Ciccolilla, Mike (O)	6-4	235	22	1

(O)—Outside linebacker (M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Lynch, Dick (C)	6-1	190	30	2
Lockhart, Carl (C)	6-2	175	23	2
Patton, Jim (S)	5-10	185	33	1
Carr, Henry (S)	6-3	205	23	2
Clarence (S)	6-0	200	23	3
Harris, Wendell (S)	5-11	185	26	5

(C)—Corner back (S)—Safety

ting hurt. Shofner has been on downgr couple of seasons and colorful Jones could replace him as ace receiver. Multi-talented Morrison's most valuable olds is back from Army stint. RAT1

Questions here include whether Roosevelt Brown, offensive captain, plays in 13th campaign. McDowell was fill-in last Peay w Bolin is veteran of championship teams fitted in last year. Scholtz was adequate at center when Larson recovered slowly from knee surgery. RATING—FAIR

Morrall has real class and is plenty Timberlake did no quarterbacking re Wood is still improved. RATING—VE

Unless military demands make dent, this is one of top departments on club. Frederickson was second half of season. Thurlow's big and durable. Reed is speediest of all. Rookies will have tough time breaking in here. Both Thurlow, Koy throw option pass. RATING—EXCELLENT

45: 20 of 44 FG atts. RATING—VERY GOOD

Kat still has All-League stature, but after him class drops rapidly. Other end was filled by rookie Roosevelt Davis last year. Tackle was problem, with Slaby converted from lineb in middle of season. Condren got to play briefly at end of year. Don Davis was Giants' No. 2 draft pick. Lalonde was 1965 regular. Lots of youth here. RATING—FAIR

Hillebrand has what it takes but he has to get meaner. Carroll, Underwood made it in roo years. Swain came from Vikings and did jo Costello was taxi-squadder couple of years Ciccolilla was a future draft pick two years

Patton fights to hold safely spot. Carr was surprisingly tough in roo

Any romantic word-painter would have little difficulty coming up with something nice and colorful to describe the New York Giants the past few years. In 1963 it would have been the "Year of the Bald Eagle," a grandeloquent reference to the 36-TD passing prowess of Yelberton Abraham Tittle.

And 1964 could be described as the "Year of the Great Depression," a morose description of the worst season in Giant annals: The many-times Eastern champs wound up with their poorest record (2-10-2) and their customers singing derisively in the stands.

Last year it was "Baby Bulls to the Rescue," a tribute to the astuteness and all-around effectiveness of the Giants' recruiters, who concentrated on getting large, fast backs to the exclusion of virtually all other needs. True, they worried about defensive backs, all right—and linebackers, too—but the No. 1 draft pick was Tucker Frederickson and he turned out to be their best rusher in several seasons. And along with him came Ernie Koy, Chuck Mercein and Smith Reed, no one of them less than 220, and all effective in lugging the leather.

What's the sub-title this year? It could well be "Year of the Big Linemen," because that's where the Giants concentrated their efforts in viewing the collegiate field last fall, and where they think they have been singularly shrewd in their choices. The gaps had been apparent to even the most casual viewer; the loss of two regulars to Atlanta in the expansion draft indicated quite emphatically the Giants' obvious dissatisfaction with what they had.

So they hit the big linemen in the grab-bag, and hit them as heavily as they could. Their first three picks for '66 were linemen Fran Peay, the big tackle from Missouri, No. 1; Don Davis, the even bigger defensive tackle from L. A. State, No. 2; and Bill Briggs, the defensive end from Iowa, No. 3. (Briggs was actually the fifth choice of the Giants; Nos. 3 and 4 were accounted for by a future pick, plus the fulfillment of a previous trade commitment.)

And the urgent need for linemen was there. Rosey Brown, the team's defensive captain, might be finished as the result of his second serious bout with phlebitis, an inflammation of the linings of the veins in his leg. Peay, if he progresses rapidly, could fit right into an offensive tackle role.

At the end of '65, the Giants were using Lou Slaby, a linebacker, at defensive tackle. Davis makes the 6-3 Slaby look like an undernourished kid. And the Giants are counting heavily on the return here of 280-pound John LoVetere, veteran of the championship 1963 club who has been plagued by injury the past two years. Solid tackles could anchor the entire defense.

The Giants finished in a tie for second with Dallas last year, losing their hold on the No. 2 spot to the Cowboys in the final confrontation of the campaign. They got that far with what can be charitably described as week-to-week improvisations in both the offensive and defensive lines. For this reason the high command seems to feel that luck with a couple of the big picks could mean the difference between just first division and a strong bid for Eastern honors.

Aiding and abetting will be such proven performers as Earl Morrall (22 TDs and only a dozen interceptions last year); Frederickson, who had the best year rushing for the New Yorkers since Alex Webster enjoyed a 700-yards-plus year in '62; and Homer Jones, who could wind up as one of the most colorful personalities on a club where the hallmark has always been efficiency rather than color.

Homer caught six TD passes last season, and along with Frederickson shared individual scoring honors. He's also taken a few prizes in the humor department. In fact, Jones likes to keep everybody laughing—with the exception of the defensive backs assigned to cover him, that is. □

Tucker Frederickson (24) gave the Giants the power runner they so desperately needed, and with him in the backfield as a constant threat, New York's passing game—under the guidance of Earl Morrall—worked well also

EASTERN CONFERENCE

Holes in some key spots, questionable trades and a bit too much age on defense cancel any flag shot Prediction: Fourth

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES

1965 RECORD (5-9-0)

34	St. Louis	27
14	New York	16
17	Cleveland	35
35	Dallas	24
27	New York	35
14	Pittsburgh	20
21	Washington	23
34	Cleveland	38
21	Washington	14
24	Baltimore	34
28	St. Louis	24
19	Dallas	21
47	Pittsburgh	13
28	Detroit	35

SCORING

10	0	0	0	60
9	0	0	0	54

RUSHING

T. Brown	150	861	6	5.7
Gros	145	479	7	3.3
Woodeshick	28	145	0	1.2
Concannon	9	104	0	11.1

PASSING

Att	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
208	190	2346	15	13	52.1
112	60	857	5	10	53.6
29	32	176	1	3	41.4

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Retzlaff	64	1190	10	18.8
T. Brown	90	682	3	7.6
Poage	31	612	5	19.8
Gros	29	271	2	9.4

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Ramsay	6	74	24	12.3
Nettles	3	85	54	28.0
Scarpati	3	4	3	1.1
Cross	3	7	1	0.3

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Hill	19	813	52	42.8
Baker	37	1551	40	41.9

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Cross	14	79	13	5.6
Gill	2	26	14	14.0
Brown	4	13	9	3.3

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Cross	25	842	74	26.5
Nelson	26	683	78	26.3

OFFENSE

Retzlaff, Pete (T)	6-1	215	34	11	S. Dakota State	Retzlaff was best tight end in league in what was probably his next-to-last season. Poage has continued to improve, and Goodwin, Glass battle for flanker role. Cronin, activated second half of last year, has size for backup of Retzlaff. The acquisition of speedy Willie Brown from the Rams should help. RATING—GOOD
Poage, Ray (S)	6-3	205	25	4	Texas
Goodwin, Ronnie (F)	5-11	190	25	4	Baylor
Glass, Glenn (F)	6-0	203	26	5	Tennessee
Cronin, Bill (T)	6-4	231	23	2	Boston College
Hill, Fred (S)	6-2	215	23	2	U.S.C.
Brown, Willie (F)	6-0	187	24	3	U.S.C.
(S)—Split End	(T)—Tight End	(F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Brown, Bob (T)	6-4	295	24	13	Nabraska	Brown is up there with league's best tackles. Howell did the job after Giants gave up on him. Rismiller set out season with knee operation, but could challenge at either tackle or guard. Blaine and Skaggs are worriers at guard. Hoyam is backup here. Ringe in 14th season, is apparently as durable as ever. The Eagles' could soar or fall on the performance here. RATING—GOOD
Howell, Lane (T)	6-5	272	25	4	Grambling
Graham, Dave (T)	6-3	250	27	4	Virginia
Rismiller, Ray (T)	6-4	250	24	1	Georgia
Blaine, Ed (G)	6-7	243	26	5	Missouri
Skaggs, Jim (G)	6-3	250	26	4	Washington
Hoyam, Lynn (G)	6-4	253	27	4	Long Beach State
Ringo, Jim (C)	6-2	230	34	4	Syracuse
Osmond, John (C)	6-4	255	22	1	Tulsa

QUARTERBACKS

Snead, Norman	6-4	215	27	6	Wake Forest	Snead comes off knee operation. Retzlaff rates him coming in sixth season. Concannon has had surprisingly little work with club. Miller is free agent. RATING—FAIR
Hill, King	6-3	213	29	3	Rice
Concannon, Jack	6-3	205	23	3	Boston College
Miller, Bob	6-3	195	21	1	Sacramento State

RUNNING BACKS

Brown, Timmy (H)	5-11	200	29	8	Ball State	Timmy Brown, probably as good a football player as any around, has been prone to injury in recent years. He had best rushing average in league and caught 50 passes. Gros is major-league fullback, and Woodeshick is good backup. Lang helps depth; Matson, who played for
Gros, Earl (F)	6-3	230	26	3	L.S.U.
Kuzniewski, John (F)	6-2	210	23	3	Purdue
Kanter, Joe (F)	6-1	217	23	1	Notre Dame
Lang, Israel (F)	6-1	232	24	3	Tennessee State
Matson, Ollie (H)	6-2	215	34	14	San Francisco U

Woodeshick, Tom (F)	6-0	225	24	4	West Virginia	against rookies like Jim Todd, Joe Kantor, Jr.
Brown, Jim (H)	6-0	210	22	1	S. Carolina State	Brown. RATING—GOOD
(F)—Fullback	(H)—Halfback

KICKERS

Baker, Sam	6-2	218	35	12	Oregon State	Baker was hurt most of year. Ciroc gets look for punting. RATING—FAIR
Ciroc, Gerald	6-0	195	22	1	Chico State

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

Hultz, Don (E)	6-3	235	25	6	Southern Miss.	Peters was big man here in '65, but sat out last five games with knee operation. Meyers fills other tackle spot. Defensive end needs help. Tarasovic has been around long time, and is slowing. Mezzanti, back from service, started five games at end in 1963 and will get shot. Rookies Pettigrew and Beisler are in contention, too. Hultz is also a candidate. Molden came from L.A. in Baughen deal. RATING—FAIR
Tarasovic, George (E)	6-4	248	34	12	L.S.U.
Mezzanti, Jerry (E)	6-3	240	26	2	Arkansas
Beisler, Randy (E)	6-5	245	21	1	Indiana
Pettigrew, Gary (E)	6-4	245	21	1	Stanford
Meyers, John (T)	6-4	276	26	4	Washington
Peters, Floyd (T)	6-4	255	30	9	San Francisco
Khayat, Ed (T)	6-4	250	30	10	Tulane
Molden, Frank (T)	6-5	286	23	2	Jackson State

LINEBACKERS

Brown, Fred (O)	6-5	223	23	1	Miami (Fla.)	Lloyd, Morgan remain from last year's starters. Maxie Baughen's spot is up for grabs among Harold Wells, Brown, who came from L.A., and Ike Kelley, All-America from Ohio State who is comparatively small but comes with big rep. Whoever fills it is going to have a tough act to follow. RATING—FAIR
Lloyd, Dave (M)	6-3	248	29	8	Georgia
Morgan, Mike (O)	6-4	242	24	3	L.S.U.
Wells, Harold (O)	6-2	220	27	2	Purdue
Kelley, Dwight (O)	5-11	225	22	1	Ohio State
Vasys, Arunas (O)	6-2	225	23	1	Notre Dame
Whittingham, Fred (O)	6-2	240	27	2	Calif Poly (SLO)
(O)—Outsde linebacker	(M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Nelson, Al (S)	5-11	186	22	2	Cincinnati	Move of Nelson to corner and Ramsay to safety seemed to help last year. Scarpati is small but around the ball a lot. Aaron Martin comes from the Rams in exchange for a disenchanted Iv Cross. Nettles a fill-in. The rest are rookies. The sleeper might be Medved, a versatile star
Nettles, Jim (C)	5-10	177	24	2	Wisconsin
Ramsay, Nate (C)	6-1	200	25	4	Indiana
Scarpati, Joe (S)	5-10	185	23	3	N. Carolina State
Longo, Tom (C)	6-1	200	24	1	Notre Dame
Medved, Ron (C)	6-1	210	24	1	Washington

(C)—Corner back

When the tea and scones are served at the next meeting of the Theophysical Society and someone asks, "Who had the best rushing average in the NFL last year?", more than half the members will probably answer, "Brown." And they'll be wrong. Well, half wrong, anyway, because chances are they'll mean Jim Brown of the Browns, when the champ was actually Timmy Brown of the Eagles.

Or take a corollary question, "Who gained more yards in a season than anyone else?" Again the answer will be "Brown," again they'll be wrong, or half wrong, etc., etc. It'll be Timmy again, the fellow who can do just about everything on a football field.

So when you're talking about the pound-for-pound merits of various football players, don't forget the Eagles' 200-pound ace from Ball State. In 1963, with an Eagle club that won two games, he racked up a combined net yardage of 2,428. No one has ever come within 100 yards of this mark. Who came closest? Timmy Brown, with the 1962 Eagles.

The 1966 Eagles figure to win a lot more than two games, probably several more than the five they won last year. The reason for this is, of course, the continued presence of Timmy Brown, plus the emergence of Norm Snead as a first-class quarterback. Snead played with a bad knee last year, but he has apparently learned to take the extra split second that makes the difference. Says who?

Says Pete Retzlaff, best tight end in Eagles' history, who set a club record with 66 pass receptions last year for 1,190 yards (another club record). Retzlaff, having a final go at it at age 34, thinks Snead could become one of the really good ones.

"When you're in the end zone," offers the Baron, "and they're throwing to you, a foot either way means an interception. That's why Snead's learning to take his time has been so important."

Retzlaff's availability is also a significant factor.

Last year he was the only tight end among the top 10 NFL receivers, finishing third behind Dave Parks and his former teammate, Tommy McDonald. Tommy beat him out by a single reception in the last game.

The Eagles are a half-dozen years past their last championship, having won in 1960 with Norm Van Brocklin at the helm. The Dutchman was hanging 'em up at that time, and when he didn't get the coaching job he was after, he went to Minnesota as field boss. Eventually Joe Kuharich replaced Nick Skorich as head man, and right now Joe is operating under the longest contract in pro football, if not in pro sports. His pact is for a total of 15 years as general manager and head coach.

Kuharich's overall task is to inject a note of determination into the Eagle defense. The club scored as many points as any in the East last year, and its total offense was second-best in the NFL. But, obviously, performance that resulted in almost twice as many losses as victories can stand improvement.

The potential is there, though, and if such top draftees as Randy Beisler and Gary Pettigrew in the defensive line have the desired effect, they'll be a big help. Timmy Brown and Earl Gros form a fine one-two running punch, and Retzlaff is a constant long threat as he beats men many years his junior.

If the Theophysical Society is still lingering over its tea and scones, another question could be thrown in to brighten things up: "What player had the two best rushing games in the NFL last year?"

The membership will inevitably answer "Brown" and they'll be half right, again, but it was Timmy, not Jim. Timmy had a 186-yarder against Cleveland and a 180-yarder against St. Louis.

And just to confuse matters a trifle, the Eagles took another Brown to camp this year. A running back, too. He's a rookie from South Carolina State. His name is Jim. □

Earl Gros (34) gives the Eagles an inside running threat to go with Tim Brown's outside speed—and both of these backs do a good job catching Norm Snead's aeriads, blocking for each other and pass protecting

EASTERN CONFERENCE

Even if Charley Johnson's shoulder is okay—and that's a big if—there are too many other "maybe's". Prediction: Fifth

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

1965 RECORD (5-9-0)

27	Philadelphia	13
26	Dallas	13
37	Washington	14
20	Pittsburgh	7
20	Washington	24
10	New York	14
21	Pittsburgh	17
13	Chicago	34
15	New York	20
24	Philadelphia	28
3	Los Angeles	27
13	Dallas	27
24	Cleveland	27

SCORING

	TDs	PGs	FGs	Total
Bakken	0	33	21	96
Randle	9	0	0	54
Triplatt	7	0	0	42
Conrad	5	0	0	30

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Triplatt	174	617	6	3.5
Crenshaw	127	437	0
Thornton	31	100	0
Gault	44	175	2

PASSING

	Att	Comp	Yds	TDs	Int	Pct
Johnson	322	155	2439	10	15	48.2
Humphrey	105	50	736	3	9	55.2
Nofsinger	20	8	47	1	1	40.0

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Conrad	50	309	5	18.7
Randle	51	945	9	18.6
	41	648	2	15.8

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Wilson	6	152	95	25.3
Burson	5	113	42	22.6
Fischer	3	30	16	10.0
Stovall	2	15	10	7.5

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Bakken	26	1098	56	42.2
Smith	39	1532	62	39.3

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Silvestri	3	21	12	7.0
Woodson	14	7	13	0.5

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Woodson	27	665	65	24.6
Gambrell	9	216	31	24.0

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp
Conrad, Bobby Joe (F)	6-2	195	30	3
Gambrell, Billy (S)	5-10	175	24	4
Logan, Chuck (T)	6-4	210	23	3
Ogden, Ray (F)	6-5	215	23	2
Randle, Sonny (S)	6-2	190	30	8
Smith, Jackie (T)	6-4	215	26	4
Drulis, Chuck Jr. (F)	6-3	215	23	1

(S)—Split end (T)—Tight end (F)—Flanker

COLLEGE

Texas A&M
South Carolina
Northwestern
Alabama
Virginia
NW Louisiana

COMMENTS

Conrad and Randle represent awesome one-two threat. Between them they picked up 180 completions last year. Bobby Joe has 254 in four years. Smith established at tight end with support from Logan. Gambrell is versatile. Drulis is son of former pro and current Card assistant.

INTERIOR LINEMEN

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp
DeMarco, Bob (C)	6-3	240	27	6
Goode, Irv (G)	6-5	250	25	5
Gray, Ken (G)	6-2	250	30	9
McMillan, Ernie (T)	6-6	260	28	6
Reynolds, Bob (T)	6-5	265	27	4
Sortun, Rick (G)	6-2	235	23	1
Turner, Herschel (G-T)	6-3	230	24	3
Brooks, Chuck (T)	6-5	245	23	1

(T)—Tackle (G)—Guard (C)—Center

COLLEGE

Dayton
Kentucky
Howard Payne
Illinois
Bowling Green
Washington
Kentucky
Memphis State

This is same line that provided enough blocking in 1964 for Johnson to pick up more than 3,000 yards passing. All are established. DeMarco in the middle, flanked by Goode and Gray, with McMillan and Reynolds at the tackles. Sortun, Turner are sometime performers. Brooks is up from taxi squad. The key to '66 is right here. RATING—VERY GOOD

QUARTERBACKS

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp
Johnson, Charley	6-0	190	27	6
Humphrey, Buddy	6-2	200	30	8
Nofsinger, Terry	6-4	215	28	6
Snook, Gary	6-1	185	22	1

New Mex. State
Baylor
Utah
Iowa

Everything depends on Johnson's recovery from a shoulder injury. Humphrey couldn't do it last year. Nofsinger is a fill-in. Snook gets look after great Iowa career. RATING—FAIR

RUNNING BACKS

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp
Childress, Joe (H)	6-0	210	32	10
Crenshaw, Willis (F)	6-2	230	25	3
Gault, Prentice (F)	6-1	210	20	7
Thornton, Bill (F)	6-1	215	26	4
Triplatt, Bill (H)	6-2	210	26	5
Roland, Johnny (H)	6-2	207	21	1
Bryant, Larry (F)	6-1	207	23	1

(F)—Fullback (H)—Halfback

Auburn
Kansas State
Oklahoma
Nebraska
Miami (O.)
Missouri
Allen University

Childress was hurt last year and Triplatt had to carry too much of load, especially after disabling illness of year earlier. Crenshaw showed flashes. Thornton and Gault are reserves. Gault suffered broken arm after six games. Roland was much-sought high draft, may work on defense. RATING—FAIR

KICKER

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp
Bakken, Jim	6-0	200	25	5

Wisconsin

Bakken has top record. RATING—EXCELLENT

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp
Brumm, Don (E)	6-3	245	24	3
Long, Dave (E)	6-4	235	21	1
McQuarters, Ed (T)	6-1	255	23	2
Lucas, Harold (T)	6-2	266	20	1
Melinkovich, Mike (E)	6-4	240	24	2
Owens, Luke (T)	6-3	255	30	10
Redmond, Tom (E)	6-5	255	28	7
Robb, Joe (E)	6-3	245	29	8
Silas, Sam (T)	6-4	250	25	3
Walker, Chuck (T)	6-3	245	25	3

(E)—End (T)—Tackle

Purdue
Iowa
Oklahoma
Michigan State
Gray Harbor
Kent State
Vanderbilt
Texas Christian
So. Illinois
Duke

Front line is intact from last year, with Brumm, Robb, Silas and Owens. Silas could be a real corner. McQuarters saw limited action last year. Cards, in their second and third draft choices in this department, went for Harold Lucas, fireplug Big Ten tackle (206) and Dave Long, big prospect from Iowa. If this group can play up to its 1964 performance, Cards will be back in Eastern Conference contention. If not, forget it. RATING—GOOD

LINEBACKERS

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp
Alford, Mike (O)	6-3	230	23	2
Hammack, Mal (O)	6-2	210	33	10
Koman, Bill (O)	6-2	230	31	11
Meggyesy, Dave (O)	6-2	220	24	4
Meinert, Dale (M)	6-2	220	32	9
Simmons, Dave (M)	6-4	245	23	2
Stallings, Larry (O)	6-2	235	24	6

Auburn
Florida
North Carolina
Syracuse
Oklahoma State
Georgia Tech
Georgia Tech

Meinert in middle flanked by Stallings and Koman looks like Cards' basic lineup. Koman talks big but plays big, too. Meinert's a real top-notch as play analyst. Hammack is seeking to hang on. Meggyesy, Alford and Simmons are reserves. Marion Rushing went to Atlanta in draft. RATING—FAIR

DEFENSIVE BACKS

	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp
Bailey, Monk (S)	6-1	180	20	1
Burson, Jimmy (C)	6-1	190	25	4
Fischer, Pat (C)	5-9	170	26	4
Stovall, Jerry (S)	6-2	205	25	4
Wilson, Larry (S)	6-0	190	26	7
Woodson, Abe (S)	5-11	190	31	9

(C)—Corner back (S)—Safety

Utah
Auburn
Nebraska
L.S.U.
Utah
Illinois

Wilson, a standout in courage department, shares safety role with Jerry Stovall. Burson gained confidence despite spur Card season and had five interceptions. Fischer, probably smallest defensive back in league, is one of best. Bailey is reserve. RATING—GOOD

The Cards start their 1966 campaign on a slightly different note from last year. They have a new ball park, a new coach and a new problem at quarterback. Actually the latter is a carryover from last year, when Charley Johnson struggled through the season with a shoulder injury, a dramatic and very relevant factor in the Cardinals' ultimate fifth-place finish.

The new Riverfront ball park is a dandy, a reflection of the pride St. Louisans feel in their city. It opened for baseball last spring. The new coach is Charlie Winner, who was a defensive assistant for a dozen years with the Baltimore Colts.

Charley is a son-in-law of Weeb Ewbank and was good enough to be retained by Baltimore when Weeb moved over to run the New York Jets in the other league. The reason given for Winner's replacing Wally Lemm is a dandy. The management said that Wally, who had another year to go on a two-year contract, didn't want to make his year-around home in St. Louis.

Charlie went along with the gag: The day he signed, he announced he was making his year-around home in St. Louis. Sometimes, not often, but sometimes, football front-office people think and act like baseball people in their contempt for the intelligence of the public.

Lemm isn't coaching St. Louis any more because Charley Johnson was hurt in the fourth game of the season against Washington. It wasn't even his throwing shoulder, but if the non-throwing shoulder is injured sufficiently it can affect your style. Charley's stand-in, Buddy Humphrey, who had been watching a half-dozen years, was asked to step in and take charge and clearly he couldn't do it. He threw one TD pass and nine interceptions. That's the real reason Wally Lemm is coaching at Houston.

There were other items that helped. John David Crow, who didn't care for the way things were run in St. Louis, was traded straight-up to San Francisco for Abe Woodson. Bill Triplett came back from a year's illness to be the leading Card rusher, but Joe Childress was lost for the year. Larry Stallings, one of the outside linebackers, was injured.

The Cards were upset by the Eagles in the opener, but roared back with an immense victory over the Cleveland Browns during which Johnson threw a half-dozen TD passes, and the defense picked off six Brown passes. This had to be an omen, but a couple of games later Johnson was hurt and the season ended there. (Actually it ended late in December with the Cards dropping the last of six straight losses.)

Winner inherits some fine personnel. The interior line is established and it provided the pass blocking for Johnson in 1964 that enabled him to pick up 3,000 yards. Name a better pair of receivers than Bobby Joe Conrad and Sonny Randle. Conrad has caught 254 tosses in the past four seasons.

The defensive line is intact from last year and one of the newcomers here is Harold Lucas, the 290-pound Michigan State lineman who used to mow the opposition down like dominoes in the Big Ten. Anytime someone 290 or thereabouts leans on the opposition it has to yield like dominoes. Lucas' explanation of his heft is that he doesn't eat much, but "often."

The linebacking is first class, with Dale Meinert, Bill Koman and Larry Stallings holding down the regular spots. The top four in the defensive backfield are also top-notch. Pat Fischer, a 5-9, 170-pound ball of fire, used to stand out above all the rest defensively, but last year Larry Wilson wrested the spotlight from him.

So Winner doesn't go into St. Louis with empty pockets. Yet it all comes down to whether Johnson makes a comeback in his sixth campaign. There is only one thing worse that can happen to a club than having its bus run through a closed railroad gate. And that's an injury to the star quarterback with an inadequate backup. Ask Wally Lemm. □

Charley Johnson's performance through most of the 1965 campaign was not up to par. An injury to his left shoulder—not on his passing arm—cut his playing time, completion record and TD tosses way back

EASTERN CONFERENCE

There's a new coach, but no improvement in players to build any big hopes around for this season Prediction: Sixth

WASHINGTON REDSKINS

1965 RECORD (6-8-0)

7	Cleveland	17
7	Dallas	27
10	Detroit	14
16	St. Louis	37
7	Baltimore	36
24	St. Louis	20
23	Philadelphia	21
23	New York	7
14	Philadelphia	21
31	Pittsburgh	3
34	Dallas	31
16	Cleveland	24
10	New York	27
36	Pittsburgh	14

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Jurgensen	8	29	10	99
Mitchell	6	0	0	36
Lewis	4	0	0	24

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Taylor	146	482	3	3.3
Lewis	117	348	2	2.9
Hughley	37	175	0	4.7
Atkins	16	44	0	2.8

PASSING

	Att	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Jurgensen	366	190	2179	15	16	53.4
Shiner	45	26	470	3	8	43.1

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Mitchell	60	866	6	14.4
Taylor	40	575	3	14.4
Carpenter	28	298	0	10.7
Lewis	23	240	2	10.4

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Krause	6	118	43	19.6
Sample	4	67	20	16.8
Steffen	3	56	42	18.7
Sanders	4	121	40	30.2

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Richter	94	2364	72	43.8
Snidow	9	304	59	37.3

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Harris	30	304	57	12.8
Atkins	3	11	9	2.7

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Hunter	17	405	50	23.7
Hughley	13	295	47	22.3

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Bp.	College	Comments
Cola, Angelo (S)	6-2	194	28	7	U.S.C.	ago if Redskins are to make showing here. Co-
Hunter, Bill (F)	6-1	185	22	2	Syracuse	can do it at split end, but Carpenter could
Mazurek, Fred (S)	5-11	192	23	2	Pittsburgh	be pushed at tight end by Jerry Smith, who
Bobby (F)	6-0	196	21	4	Illinois	played last five games of '65 when Fred was
Pat (S-T)	6-5	229	25	4	Wisconsin	injured. RATING—FAIR
(S)—Split end	(T)—Tight end	(F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Croffcheck, Don (G)	6-1	230	24	2	Indiana	There's plenty of guard talent here with Pro-
Haus, Len (C)	6-2	235	25	3	Georgia	muto, Dess, Reed, Croffcheck, but tackle spots
Premuto, Vince (G)	6-1	245	28	7	Holy Cross	and Snowden. Haus is a solid pivot. With re-
Dess, Darrell (G)	6-0	245	31	5	N. Carolina State	this area. RATING—FAIR
(T)—Tackle	(G)—Guard	(C)—Center

QUARTERBACKS

Jurgensen, Sonny	6-0	285	32	10	Duke	Jurgy threw only 15 TD passes last season.
Shiner, Dick	6-0	197	24	3	Maryland	Shiner's picking up polish. RATING—FAIR

RUNNING BACKS

Barrington, Tom (F)	6-1	210	22	1	Ohio State	Much depends on Taylor's third year. Ankle
Briggs, Bob (F)	6-1	225	23	2	Central St. (Okla.)	hampered him last year, but he was still best
Ferguson, Bob (F)	5-11	225	24	3	Ohio State	on one leg. The other spot is open. Barrington's
Hughley, George (F)	6-2	226	25	2	Central St. (Okla.)	high draft hope. Ferguson gets final look
Michel, Tom (H)	6-0	215	25	2	East Carolina	Michel, ex-Viking, is journeyman. Hughley has
Taylor, Charley (H)	6-3	210	26	3	Arizona State	lots of zip but can't block. RATING—FAIR
(F)—Fullback	(H)—Halfback

KICKER

Gogolak, Charley	5-10	165	21	1	Princeton	All eggs are in rookie basket. RATING—??
------------------	------	-----	----	---	-----------	------------------------------------------

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

Walter (T)	6-3	280	22	1	Nebraska	Patuck may quit for dental school which would ck (T)	6-3	258	24	2	Colorado State	be real ache. If he plays, he and Kammerer
Kammerer, Karl (E)	6-3	243	29	6	U. of Pacific	will hold down ends. Quinlan retired but
Patuck, John (E)	6-2	246	31	9	Pittsburgh	Kammerer won job mid-season anyway. Rutgens
Rutgens, Joe (T)	6-2	255	27	8	Illinois	Snidow shape up as tackles, and Snidow can
Snidow, Ron (E-T)	6-3	280	24	4	Oregon	also play end. Williams has reached retirement
Williams, Fred (T)	6-4	256	36	15	Arkansas	age, but is ok in spots. Barnes was second
Yates, Earl (T)	6-4	225	22	1	Duke	pick in draft after unprecedented use of first
Lemay, Dick (E)	6-3	285	23	1	Vanderbilt	pick for kicker. RATING—FAIR
(E)—End	(T)—Tackle

LINEBACKERS

Adams, Willie (O)	6-2	235	28	2	New Mex. State	There's real problem here, particularly
Hamburger, Chris (O)	6-2	218	24	2	North Carolina	doesn't come back. Carr, Pellegini retired but
Huff, Sam (M)	6-1	230	32	11	West Virginia	puts Sam in middle flanked by inexperienced
Rager, John (O)	6-0	220	35	12	Pittsburgh	Hamburger and Adams. RATING—POOR
(O)—Outside linebacker	(M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Clay, William (C)	6-4	192	22	1	Mississippi	This could prove fine unit despite loss of
Rickie (C)	6-0	192	22	2	Arizona	tiring Sample. Krause, All-League two years,
Krause, Paul (S)	6-3	195	24	3	Iowa	has 18 interceptions for that period, and no one
Sanders, Lonnie (C)	6-3	207	24	4	Michigan State	else comes close. Smith or Walters play other
Shorter, Jim (C)	5-11	185	28	5	Detroit	safety spot. Corners are held down by Sanders.
Smith, Jerry (S)	6-2	208	23	2	Arizona State	Steffen. Lonnie is called for interference more
Steffen, Jim (C)	6-0	196	29	8	U.C.L.A.	often than is healthy. Harris did well in rookie
Walters, Tom (S)	6-2	195	24	3	Southern Miss.	season. RATING—GOOD
(C)—Corner back

Trading draft choices for established players is a lot like buying furniture on the installment plan. The old front parlor looks pretty nifty for a while, but inevitably the guy from the collection agency shows up asking for payment due.

That's the way it was with Washington last year, and among the heads that rolled was the ample-browed one owned by Bill McPeak, the club's head coach-general manager. The previous year McPeak had gotten lucky with a couple of high-round picks like Charley Taylor and Paul Krause. Trades brought Sam Huff, Angelo Coia, Pres Carpenter and Sonny Jurgensen, and the ball club, with a half-dozen victories, won twice as many as the previous year.

But Washington had to sit on its hands at the following year's draft meeting while the other clubs picked in the Redskins' stead. Washington wound up with the same half-dozen victories in '65 and McPeak wound up with a job in TV, replaced by Hall-of-Famer Otto Graham, who came in on a five-year deal reported to be worth in the vicinity of a half-million bucks. Graham, whose coaching experience had been confined to the no-pressure atmosphere of the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, oddly enough came off a TV job (color man for the N. Y. Jets), indicating the inherent flexibility of the insatiable medium. (It taketh, but it also giveth back.)

Otto took over late in January, so the draft, etc., was behind him. Washington's No. 1 draft pick was unprecedented—a kicker, Charley Gogolak. It was the first time within memory that a specialist, toe division, had been accorded this honor by a club. After that Washington got around to its other needs—runners, linemen, etc.

The club suffered badly in the running department when Charley Taylor sustained an ankle injury before the season started. The big-back attack was never there, placing an inordinate burden on the throwing of Sonny Jurgensen, and Jurgy's TD production suffered accordingly.

Many experts picked Washington to top the East last year, or at least make a strong bid for the title. But the club let the forecasters down badly. As a result not many will give the Redskins more than a break-even outlook for '66. But the stuff is there and as Otto put it so succinctly, "No one expects the Redskins to win the championship this year. But if we put a good football team out on the field, the championship will take care of itself."

The "good" football team will include a number of top-notch people, including Paul Krause, All-Pro safety in his two years in the NFL, Bobby Mitchell, the speedy receiver and Taylor, the runner-receiver threat. And there's always Sam Huff in the middle on defense.

A number of Washington standbys are gone from the '66 picture, their usefulness at an end for one reason or another. Among them, Johnny Sample, the defensive back, Rick Casares, the fullback, and Bill Quinlan, the defensive lineman, could be counted on to make headlines off the playing field as well as on. Their passing should be noted.

Sample's last official act with the Redskins was to be suspended for failing to turn in six playbooks, a record, since the usual rate is one playbook to a player. Casares will be remembered for triggering the investigation that led to the suspension of Paul Hornung and Alex Karras for gambling. Quinlan, who played with a couple of championship Packer clubs, started a fight between Ben Scotti, a 185-pound defensive back, and John Mellekas, a 260-pound lineman, with a remark about Rozelle on the weekend the NFL played its full complement of games after the death of President Kennedy. Result? Scotti proceeded to break both hands beating Mellekas into a pulp.

Otto Graham is sure going to miss this trio, but he'll have Jurgy for entertainment. □

Washington's defense is one of its few strong points. Here, linebackers John Reger (51) and Sam Huff (70) and safety Paul Krause (26) put the brakes on an unfortunate Lion runner

EASTERN CONFERENCE

The name of the game is quarterback—and nobody in the Steel City is even sure what his name will be Prediction: Seventh

PITTSBURGH STEELERS

1966 RECORD (2-12-0)

9	Green Bay	41
17	San Francisco	27
13	New York	23
19	Cleveland	24
7	St. Louis	20
20	Philadelphia	14
22	Dallas	13
17	St. Louis	21
17	Dallas	24
3	Washington	31
21	Cleveland	42
10	New York	36
13	Philadelphia	47
14	Washington	36

SCORING

	TDs	PGs	FGs	Total
Clark	0	39	11	52
Ballman	8	0	0	48
Hoak	8	0	0	36
Lind	2	0	0	12

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Hoak	131	426	3	3.3
Lind	111	375	2	3.4
Peaks	47	230	0	4.9
Butler	46	100	1	2.2

PASSING

	Att	Comp	Yds	TDs	Int	Pct
Nelsen	270	121	1917	8	17	44.8
Wade	66	38	463	2	12	58.0

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Ballman	46	687	5	14.9
Thomas	25	431	1	17.2
Lind	25	236	1	9.4
Hoak	19	298	1	15.7

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
J. Bradshaw	5	117	82	23.4
Woodson	3	87	61	29.0
Sherman	1	36	36	36.0
Keys	1	20	20	20.0

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Lambert	78	3618	59	46.4

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Jefferson	13	100	67	7.7
Keys	10	77	32	7.7

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
—	26	599	36	20.4
—	20	409	98	21.4

OFFENSE

Ballman, Gary (S)	6-1	206	36	5
Jefferson, Ray (S-F)	6-2	198	23	2
Martha, Paul (F)	6-0	106	24	1
Immons, Jerry (F)	6-1	190	24	2
—	6-2	190	21	1
—	6-5	220	22	2
Folkies, Lee (T)	6-5	215	27	3
Powers, John (T)	6-2	210	26	6

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Bradshaw, Charles (T)	6-6	260	38	9
— Dan (T)	6-4	250	29	7
— Ray (G)	6-0	240	31	10
Sandusky, Mike (G)	5-11	235	31	10
Hunter, Art (C)	6-4	245	33	12
Killerich, Ray (C)	6-2	220	21	1
Magac, Mike (G)	6-3	240	28	7
Adamchik, Ed (G)	6-2	235	24	2
Gagner, Larry (T)	6-3	240	22	1
Nichols, Bob (T)	6-3	260	23	2

QUARTERBACKS

Nelsen, Bill	6-0	195	24	4
Dial, Ben (F)	6-1	198	21	1
Lucas, Ken	5-10	185	21	1

RUNNING BACKS

Hoak, Dick (H)	5-11	188	26	6
Lind, Mike (F)	6-2	240	26	5
Peaks, Clarence (H-F)	6-1	220	39	10
Butler, Jim (H)	5-10	185	23	2
Leftridge, Dick (F)	6-2	240	21	1

(F)—Fullback (H)—Halfback

KICKERS

Clark, Mike	6-2	200	25	4
Lambert, Frank	6-3	200	23	2

FRONT LINEMEN

Baker, John (E)	6-6	270	30	9
McGee, Ben (E)	6-3	280	27	3
Mallik, Fran (E)	6-3	245	26	2
Gunnels, Riley (T)	6-3	265	29	7
Hinton, Chuck (T)	6-5	260	27	4
Kortas, Ken (T)	6-4	260	24	3
Mansfield, Ray (T)	6-3	260	24	4

LINEBACKERS

Breedlove, Rod (O)	6-2	235	26	7
Breen, Gene (O)	6-2	230	25	3
Campbell, John (O)	6-3	225	26	4
Pine, Ed (O)	6-2	240	26	5
Pottios, Myron (M)	6-2	240	27	5
Schmitz, Bob (M)	6-1	235	28	4
Russell, Andy (O)	6-2	215	24	2
Saul, Bill (O)	6-4	225	25	4
Novogratz, Joe (M)	6-2	230	21	1

Idle linemen

DEFENSIVE BACKS

—	—	—	22	3
—	—	—	22	6
—	—	—	25	6
—	—	—	30	9
—	—	—	36	3
—	—	—	24	2
—	—	—	25	1
—	—	—	28	1

Woodson, Mary (S)
Hohn, Bob (C)
Johnson, Herm (S)
Lofquist, Craig (S)
(S)—Corner back

DEFENSE

N. Car. College	6-6	270	30	9
Jackson State	6-3	280	27	3
None	6-3	245	26	2
Georgia	6-3	265	29	7
N. Car. College	6-5	260	27	4
Louisville	6-4	260	24	3
Washington	6-3	260	24	4

Ballman, who is easily the best here, has been close to All-League caliber last three seasons. Jefferson showed progress at end of rookie campaign. Martha, local favorite, is still a question mark. Wilburn's a most promising rookie. Need for tight end is pressing and Mike Lind might be shifted there from fullback slot. RATING—FAIR

There are lots of problems here and rookies will have to help out. Bradshaw and James might get push from Nichols and Gagner, both of whom come with considerable reps. Lemak, Sandusky shape up as guards. Magac and Adamchik as reserve for veteran Hunter at center. Steelers will generate as feeble an attack in '66 as they did in '65, unless there's marked improvement here. RATING—FAIR

Nelsen comes off knee surgery and has the job hasn't been tested yet. Lucas was a good football name in western Pa. RATING—FAIR

Rushing game was pitiful during '66 campaign. Hoak, Lind, Peaks fail to provide explosive qualities necessary. High hopes for Cannonball Butler faded in bad season. Leftridge has size

awhile. RATING—FAIR

Clark is just fair in point-making department. Lambert punts ok. RATING—FAIR

Given their pick here, other NFL clubs would probably take McGee, who made it as rookie. Hinton's no slouch, either. Baker is journeyman getting mileage out of having flattened Y. A. Little two years ago. Gunnels has been around. Kortas came from Cards last year, has size. No stars here. RATING—FAIR

If Pottios is the middle again if he stays whole. Otherwise look to Schmitz. Russell is back from two years in army. He was a pleasant surprise in hi Breedlove, Breen, Campbell, Pine, Saul this has to be the catch-all of the NFL. graetz looks like best of new men. Weakness here puts an overwhelming burden on the front four. RATING—POOR

unit from breaking down. Too much pressure on it last year had this effect. Bradshaw was innermost of this group with five interceptions. Keys plays well against certain clubs. Daniel, smallest of group, is on other corner. Johnson was good prospect two years ago with Mich. State. RATING—FAIR

The Pittsburgh Steelers have sent a player to the U. S. Supreme Court (Byron White) and a player to the Pro Football Hall of Fame's pantheon of great players (Bill Dudley), but they have never sent a team to an NFL title playoff. And the prospects for any break in a tradition extending over more than three decades are dim, dim, dim as the Steelers struggle to clamber from the league cellar.

Last year Pittsburgh had the worst record in the pros, two meager victories against a dozen losses. The management changed coaches before the season started, then changed coaches after the season ended. Bill Austin, a blond young man who has known title games as both a player (New York) and as an assistant coach (Green Bay) will now have a shot at it. He can only go as far as the horses can take him. To travel somewhat afield in search of an analogy, the current edition of the Steelers looks more like the entry for some claiming race than it does for the Kentucky Derby classic.

There are first-class operatives spotted throughout the lineup, but in scarcely sufficient numbers. Gary Ballman, the gifted receiver, is All Pro, or close to it. Given a big fullback to operate alongside, Dick Hoak could be as good as almost any No. 2 running back in the league. Jim Bradshaw is a fine defensive back. But everywhere the Steelers need help that just doesn't seem to be there. In an era of unprecedented prosperity, the Steelers, with their half-filled park on home Sundays, constitute a poor relation.

The indifference of the customers, in an area that goes back to before the turn of the century in its interest in the pro game, is a matter of deep concern to the NFL's high councils. Or it should be, with this year's tradition-shattering decision lifting the ban on hometown TV while the home team is playing. Does the Steeler customer continue climbing the mountain on which Pitt Stadium is perched to see his home club drop another this fall? Or does he stay home to watch the Packers or the Browns on TV?

The Steelers had high hopes last year for a rookie runner named Jim Butler, who only stood 5-10 and weighed 185. He came to them with unbelievable credentials, such as six carries, six TDs in a single game for Edward Waters College, etc. NFL competition cut Cannonball down to size. The big hope this year is a much larger rookie, Dick Leftridge, and he's from much-closer West Virginia. Leftridge scales 240, and the Steelers rated him their No. 1 pick.

Leftridge will have to step into the shoes that John Henry Johnson left behind. Strange as it may seem, a large portion of the Steeler hopes were built around the return of John Henry, the aging heavy-duty back who sat out the 1965 campaign with a leg injury. Doubters held that a man of his age (36) couldn't come back. Hopefuls pointed out that Johnson seemed to improve with age. Then, in June, the Steeler brass suddenly gave Johnson his unconditional release. Leftridge is really on the spot, now.

Pittsburgh finally gave up on jolly Ed Brown as its field general last season, and this year Bill Nelsen gets what may turn out to be his final chance. Last year Nelsen was not impressive as Brown's successor. He threw eight TD passes, was intercepted twice as many times. Tommy Wade threw two TD passes, was intercepted 13 times. For a record almost as sour, one must go to the Cards' Buddy Humphrey (1 TD, nine times intercepted).

No one is trading away quarterbacks, not even for a fistful of draft choices anymore, so the Steelers go along with Nelsen. For the sake of Art Rooney, and the rest of the nice guys whose fortunes are tied up with the Steelers, it is fervently hoped that Nelsen has learned a good deal watching the Steelers pile up a mark of 14-25-3 in the three years he has been with the Pittsburgh club. □

Bill Nelsen (14) will get an opportunity to be the full-time field general of the Steelers this year, and it will be on his arm that the hopes—slim as they are—of the Pittsburgh club will ride

EASTERN CONFERENCE

Newborn teams fare badly at the start, and there's no reason to think this club will be an exception Prediction: Eighth

ATLANTA FALCONS

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Jencks (Wash.)	0	29	10	59
Lewis (Wash.)	4	0	0	24
Dunn (Dallas)	0	0	0	18

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TD
Lewis (Wash.)	117	343	2
Dunn (Dallas)	54	171	2	3.2
Wheelwright (N.Y.)	24	96	0
Coffey (Green Bay)	3	12	0	4.0

PASSING

	Att	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Claridge (Green Bay)	1	1	13	0	0	100.0

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Lewis (Wash.)	25	276	2	11.0
Mack (Pitt.)	3	41	0	13.7
Johnson (San Fran.)	3	49	0	16.3

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Benz (Cleva.)	5	78	31	15.6
Sherman (Pitt.)	1	36	36	36.0

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Franklin (Cleva.)	4	29	31	7.8

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Hawkins (Balt.)	4	18	11	4.5
Silvestri (St. L.)	3	21	12	7.0

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Silvestri (St. L.)	4	96	28	24.0
Johnson (San Fran.)	4	71	27	17.8

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Hawkins, Alex (S)	6-1	186	29	8	South Carolina	Hawkins is convinced he can make it as receiver and will get chance. Casey was bust in SEC last year. Martin has to fight off only Anderson for tight-end spot. Mack is prone to injuries. Petties could surprise as best in draft. The Colts used him very sparingly. Barnes had look with Bears. RATING—FAIR
Casey, Charlie (F)	6-1	195	22	1	Florida
Martin, Billy (T)	6-5	240	23	3	Georgia Tech.
Anderson, Tex (T)	6-2	215	26	5	Georgia Tech.
Mack, Red (S)	5-10	185	29	6	Notre Dame
Petties, Neil (F)	6-2	198	25	3	San Diego State
Barnes, Gary (F)	6-4	210	25	4	Clemson

INTERIOR LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Grimm, Dan (G)	6-3	245	25	4	Colorado	Grimm and Simon have played regularly. Cook has a lot of years on him. Whitlow was Lions' regular center until he lost out to Ed Flanagan in '65; no bad handoffs from him. Marchlewski was rookie with Rams; Linden was a Viking starter. Ditto Lasky with Giants, but several ends around league handled him too easily. Talbert comes from Cowboys. RATING—FAIR
Simon, Jim (G)	6-5	235	25	4	Miami (Fla.)
Cook, Ed (G)	6-2	250	34	9	Notre Dame
Whitlow, Bob (C)	6-2	236	30	7	Arizona
Talbert, Don (T)	6-5	240	27	3	Texas
Marchlewski, Frank (C)	6-2	238	22	2	Minnesota
Linden, Errol (T)	6-5	260	29	6	Houston
Lasky, Frank (T)	6-2	265	26	3	Florida

QUARTERBACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Claridge, Dennis	6-3	225	24	3	Nebraska	Claridge is only QB with big-league experience.
Johnson, Randy	6-3	192	22	1	Texas A&I	Johnson was high draft but some feel Sloan could be real sleeper. RATING—POOR
Sloan, Steve	6-8	195	22	1	Alabama

RUNNING BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Coffey, Junior (F)	6-1	210	24	2	Washington	to injury but can go when right. Coffey can be used at half or full. Lewis was overworked with Washington club. Wolski's Notre Dame rep stems from a big day against Southern California. Asbury has size and ran well against small-school competition. RATING—POOR
Dunn, Perry Lee (H)	6-1	200	25	3	Mississippi
Lewis, Dan (H)	6-1	200	30	9	Wisconsin
Johnson, Rudy (H)	5-11	190	24	3	Nebraska
Wolski, Bill (H)	5-11	203	22	1	Notre Dame
Asbury, Willie (F)	6-1	225	22	1	Kent State

KICKER

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Jencks, Bob	6-5	227	25	4	Miami (O.)	Wash.'s top scorer last year. RATING—FAIR

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Youmans, Maury (E)	6-4	253	29	7	Syracuse	Youmans was Cowboy regular but comes off knee surgery. Williams was long-time member
Williams, Sam (E)	6-5	235	36	8	Michigan State
nski, Chuck (T)	6-5	260	24	5	S.M.U.	army. Reese was occasional starter for Colts, Sieminski ditto for 49ers. Anderson was tried by
Anderson, Roger (T)	6-5	265	23	3	Penn State	Giants both ways. Powell was Rams' No. 3 end and Taylor's been around. RATING—FAIR
Taylor, Bob (E)	6-3	242	27	4	Maryland State

LINEBACKERS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Nobis, Tommy (M)					Texas	Nobis was prize draft, has spot in middle until he plays himself out of it. Rushing, Jobko are both experienced NFL hands; Messner, Heck
Rushing, Marion (O)					So Illinois
Jobko, Bill (O)	6-1	235	30	9	Ohio State
Lee, Monte (O)	6-4	220	28	5	Texas	ING—FAIR

DEFENSIVE BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Calland, Lee (C)	6-0	198	25	4	Louisville	Unit consisting of G and, Richardson, Benz, Franklin would disgrace no one. Last two played
Richardson, Jerry (C)	6-3	190	23	3	West Texas State
Nelson, Andy (C)	6-1	180	32	9	Memphis State	kings, Richardson was Ram regular in 1964.
Bassas, Nick (S)	6-0	192	22	1	Notre Dame	wear. Bassas, Great Notre Dame punt returner, was second draft pick. RATING—GOOD
Franklin, Bobby (S)	5-11	182	29	7	Mississippi

(C)—Corner back

Atlanta is at the top of the list this year in at least two respects: alphabetically, and in the undisguised eagerness of the other clubs to clash with the new Falcons on the field of battle as soon as possible. It isn't every season that a grab-bag team pops up on the schedule; the lone regret in the East is that the newcomer plays a "swing" schedule, meeting every club in the NFL once instead of each Eastern Conference club twice.

It isn't the fault of the rival moguls that the first club to represent the gridiron-rich Southeast in big-time pro ball must inevitably prove a patsy in its premiere season. Winning clubs are not put together around a conference table. It took the Minnesota Vikings four years to move into a challenging position, and it took the Dallas Cowboys even longer.

If those people who accounted for the sale of 47,000 season tickets last winter were motivated by the hope they'd soon be taking part in a triumphal procession, they are doomed to disappointment. Should Atlanta win more games than can be counted on one hand, it would be considered a phenomenally successful campaign.

The core of all pro football is the heart, nerve and experience of the quarterback. Re the last qualification, the Falcons are laughable. Their one experienced quarterback, acquired in the expansion draft, threw one pass last year. The fact that Dennis Claridge also completed it is just a touch of irony.

Norb Hecker is one of several earnest young men getting their first shot at head-coaching roles in 1966. Hecker's credentials are impeccable: He worked for Vince Lombardi at Green Bay. Inevitably, some of the Generalissimo's know-how had to rub off. Hecker ran Lombardi's defensive secondary, and now he's running the entire show. He will doubtless think back to the afternoons he watched a Bart Starr running the offensive show at Green Bay or a Zeke Bratkowski stepping in when injury sidelined Bart.

Hecker's task borders on that facing the alchemists of yore: making something precious out of base metals. The only thing going for Norb is that there is no feudal lord of the manor with life-and-death powers impatiently tapping his toe outside the lab door. Or is there? Atlanta probably represents the heaviest single sports investment in history. A half-dozen years ago it cost $625,000 to stock a franchise. The Falcons paid almost 10 times that much. Add another couple million for bonus payments to untried youngsters, throw in training camp, operating costs, the incidentals of running the first year, etc., and the Falcons could represent a $10-million investment. And that's U.S. money, folks, not the Confederate variety.

The local fanaticism for football, it is hoped, will carry the Falcons through their first few tough years. Georgia and Georgia Tech were drawing capacity crowds of 60,000 in the same area where the baseball teams drew peanuts. Wisely, the new management has merged the Georgia and Georgia Tech colors for the Falcons' finery. Merging the talents of the men made available by the 14 other clubs in the loop could be a somewhat more difficult task.

Playing each rival only once, instead of a home-and-home series within its own conference, will have the Falcon coaching staff functioning differently from all others. Game films will be studied only for what the Falcon players do. There won't be any need to note any idiosyncrasies of rival teams for future reference.

There'll be a four-game segment within five weeks for the Falcons that will have the rest of the league, in fact the rest of football, watching with interest. In the following order, Atlanta plays San Francisco, Green Bay, Cleveland and then, after a week's lay-off, Baltimore. There is an excellent chance that the Falcons could be playing the 1967 title playoff principals on successive weekends—which would be both flattering and flattening. □

Among the outstanding picks that the Falcons made in the NFL expansion draft are, from left, Maury Youmans, defensive end; Dan Grimm, guard; Alex Hawkins, receiver; Chuck Sieminski, defensive tackle; Dennis Claridge, quarterback; and Neal Petties, receiver. They comprise a good blend of youth and experience

1965 NFL INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Sayers, Chicago	22*	0	0	132*
Brown, Cleveland	21	0	0	126
Cox, Minnesota	0	44	23*	113
Davis, San Francisco . . .	0	52*	17	103
Michaels, Baltimore . . .	0	48	17	101
Bakken, St. Louis	0	33	21	96
Groza, Cleveland	0	45	16	93
Chandler, Green Bay . . .	0	37	17	88
Leclerc, Chicago	0	52*	11	85
Villanueva, Dallas	0	37	16	85

RUSHING

	Atts	Yards	TDs	Longest	Avg
Brown, Cleveland	289*	1544*	17*	67*	5.3
Sayers, Chicago	166	867	14	61	5.2
Brown, Philadelphia	158	861	6	54	5.4*
Willard, San Francisco . . .	189	778	5	32	4.1
Taylor, Green Bay	207	734	4	35	3.5
Brown, Minnesota	160	699	6	40	4.4
Perkins, Dallas	177	690	0	43	3.9
Frederickson, New York . . .	195	659	5	41	3.4
Triplett, St. Louis	174	617	6	59	3.5
Mason, Minnesota	141	597	10	26	4.2

PASSING

	Atts	Comps	Pct Comps	Yards	TDs	Ints	Pct Ints	Avg Gain
Bukich, Chicago	312	176	56.4	2641	20	9	2.9*	8.46
Unitas, Baltimore	282	164	58.2	2530	23	12	4.3	8.97*
Brodie, San Francisco	391*	242*	61.9*	3112*	30*	16	4.1	7.96
Starr, Green Bay	251	140	55.8	2055	16	9	3.6	8.19
Morrall, New York	302	155	51.3	2446	22	12	4.0	8.10
Tarkenton, Minnesota	329	171	52.0	2609	19	11	3.3	7.93
Snead, Philadelphia	288	150	52.1	2346	15	13	4.5	8.15
Meredith, Dallas	305	141	46.2	2415	22	13	4.3	7.92
Gabriel, Los Angeles	173	83	48.0	1321	11	5*	2.9*	7.64
Jurgensen, Washington	356	190	53.4	2367	15	16	4.5	6.65

Standings are based on per cent of completions, touchdown passes, per cent of interceptions and average yards gained. To qualify for championship rating, a player must throw at least 140 passes.

PASS RECEIVING

	Recs	Yards	TDs	Longest	Avg
Parks, San Francisco . . .	80*	1344*	12*	53	16.8
McDonald, Los Angeles . . .	67	1036	9	51	15.5
Retzlaff, Philadelphia . . .	66	1190	10	78	18.0
Mitchell, Washington . . .	60	867	6	80	14.5
Casey, San Francisco . . .	59	765	8	59	13.0
Conrad, St. Louis	58	909	5	71	15.7
Berry, Baltimore	58	739	7	40	12.7
Morris, Chicago	53	846	4	80	16.0

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yards	TDs	Longest	Avg
Boyd, Baltimore	9*	78	1	24	8.7
LeBeau, Detroit	7	84	1	30	12.0
Adderley, Green Bay	6	175*	3*	44	29.2*
Wilson, St. Louis	6	153	1	96*	25.5
Krause, Washington	6	118	0	43	19.7
Sharockman, Minnesota . . .	6	118	1	40	19.7
Ramsey, Philadelphia	6	74	0	24	12.3
Wood, Green Bay	6	65	0	28	10.8

PUNTING

	Punts	Yards	Longest	Avg
Collins, Cleveland	65	3036	71	46.7*
Davis, San Francisco	54	2473	65	45.8
Lambert, Pittsburgh	78*	3518*	69	45.1
Richter, Washington	54	2365	72	43.8
Chandler, Green Bay	74	3175	90*	42.9
Studstill, Detroit	78*	3338	69	42.8
Green, Chicago	58	2477	66	42.7
Walden, Minnesota	51	2147	61	42.1
Baker, Philadelphia	37	1550	60	41.9
Villanueva, Dallas	60	2508	58	41.8

*1965 NFL leader

PUNT RETURNS

	Recs	Yards	TDs	Longest	Avg
Kelly, Cleveland	17	265	2*	67	15.6*
Sayers, Chicago	16	238	1	85*	14.9
Harris, Washington	31	377	1	57	12.2
Watkins, Detroit	23	234	0	41	10.2
Haymond, Baltimore	41*	403*	0	55	9.8
Roberts, Cleveland	18	162	0	51	9.0
Alexander, San Francisco . . .	35	262	0	40	7.5
Stiger, Dallas-LA	16*	120	0	22	7.5
Renfro, Dallas	24	145	0	35	6.0
Cross, Philadelphia	14	79	0	16	5.6

THE BIG LEAGUES MAKE PEACE

The bitter feud between the NFL and AFL has finally been resolved, and January, 1967, will see the initial "world championship" encounter between loop kingpins

No matter what the eventual destiny of pro football, 1966 must go down as one of the memorable years in the game. The merger of the National and American Leagues; the ascendancy of Pete Rozelle to the role of the most potent sports administrator in history; the swift arrangement of a "world championship" game in January, all provide a kaleidoscopic background for a move that has changed the game almost as dramatically and drastically as would the addition of another down, a second fullback, or a penalty for an incomplete forward pass.

A decade hence, people will remember 1966 as the year the two leagues got together, the year that peace came to pro football. It was peace, all right, although some of the handshakers had to be prodded into making the traditional out-stretched gesture. On both sides there were holdbacks; on both sides there was "never the twain shall meet" thinking.

Money smoothed it out on one hand; the vastly improved position of the AFL did it on the other. Now everyone is equal and the only sting the American League will feel will come once a year when those 20-year payments totaling $18 million, plus interest, fall due. And on the National League side, the owners of the New York Giants and San Francisco 49ers will have to live with the idea that having someone selling the same product down the street isn't really too bad.

The late, great NFL Commissioner Bert Bell had two theories on which the tremendous growth of pro football—National League variety—was based, apart from the action on the field. They were (one) absolutely no home TV during home games, and (two) one team to a city, thus barring a possibly tacky situation whereby a home club on the road could televise back while the other home club was playing. The Chicago Cards moved their franchise to St. Louis almost a decade ago for this very reason.

Last winter Bell's successor, Rozelle, after a half-dozen years of prosperity, convinced the NFL owners that TV during a home game—TV of another NFL game, that is—wouldn't be injurious. Most games, he insisted, were sellouts. This would encourage the shut-out viewers to watch NFL football and ignore rival TV fare, implicitly inferior. It had to do with providing more football, so TV could sell more time, so the NFL could get more money for its TV rights, etc.

That in itself was an awesome step. However, rivals who had been mutual targets for total extirpa-

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle is flanked by Tex Schramm, left, president of the NFL Dallas Cowboys, and Lamar Hunt, founder of the AFL and president of that league's Kansas City Chiefs, after announcing news of the merger. The decision of the two pro grid loops ended a costly bidding rivalry for talent

The Buffalo Bills will be shooting for an unprecedented third straight AFL title this year. Led by veteran quarterback Jack Kemp, above, and blessed with superb offensive and defensive lines, the Bills have an excellent shot at another crown, and an opportunity to prove something against the NFL's best tion on one weekend became business partners the next. Rozelle is top man. Al Davis, the AFL commissioner, has been consigned, perhaps temporarily, to the nether regions. A great victory, apparently, decorates the crest of the oldest football league.

THE BIG LEAGUES MAKE PEACE/continued

But is it a great victory? "One more of these victories," snapped a bitter principal to the NFL's announced unanimous decision to merge, "and we are undone. Frankly, I don't think we can stand to have another such victory."

On the AFL's side there were three dissenting votes, not the least vociferous being that of the New York Jets. They had, within the space of three years, built the franchise from bankruptcy into the keystone of the league, with 50,000 attendance averages for home games in Shea Stadium. "Why should we pay to come into their league?" demanded Sonny Werblin, Jets' president. "We don't need them. Maybe they should pay us."

What Werblin meant was that he didn't need the NFL, perhaps. But how about such watering spots as Denver, Kansas City and Boston? If they didn't need the NFL they certainly needed something.

The pro fan, that much put-upon character who is a frequent subject for crocodile tears, written and radio-yammering divisions, comes out on top in this one. Win or lose he gets his big game early in January, whether he is in Needles, Calif., or N. Brattleboro, Vt. The fact that the TV rights will set a record in this one is incidental. Football has to come to him with its very best and the price will be right.

Not so for this year's crop of collegiate heroes. Their golden showers are over. The common draft, a few weeks before this season ends, takes care of this. The $250 thousand bonus for a linebacker, the million dollar package for a pair of backs, the yes-yes-yes is gone, along with the "baby sitter." He's the slithery person of peculiar persuasive talents whose sole job was to convince some 22-year-old that everyone in the world was out to skin him, fleece him, cheat him, everyone except, of course, this particular baby sitter. With a common draft and a "you play for us or you don't

Green Bay field general Bart Starr has guided the Packers to four Western Conference wins and three NFL titles in the past six seasons. The Packer dynasty figures to keep rolling in high gear in '66, and if it needs any added incentive this time, there's the guarantee of a crack at the AFL champion play for anyone, young man" ultimatum, the need for the baby sitter is over.

Actually, there are places to play other than in the super-league and it's not exactly all broken glass and tin cans, either. The Continental League, now in its second year and reaching out for the major markets that will bring a TV package almost automatically, has plenty of salaries that top the previous NFL $5,000 minimum. The Canadian League has its attractions, too. But the business of buying out some bull-necked kid's father's decrepit motel for five times its value, of wrapping ermine around the shoulders of some adenoidal girlfriend of some campus hotshot, of coming up with the exact upholstery color for the $6,000 complimentary car, all that is over.

What isn't over, of course, is the implied threat of anti-trust action by some thwarted strongboy, born one year too late. He is going to want to know why someone with his exact talents received exactly 20 times the amount he received to sign only a year earlier? And the cost of living, his lawyer will say, has gone up, not down. You can count on assorted Congressmen to get into the act, demanding fair play, etc., for their far-flung constituents. They won't be interested in the subsequent headlines. No, of course not.

What the merger has immediately produced is a unit of 24 teams this year, 26 in two years. After that things grow vague, but associates of Rozelle know he feels quite strongly about "even" groups. What could be more "even" than four groups of seven clubs, which adds up to a nice round 28? That would divide the country into four quarters. Baltimore would find itself in the Northeast quadrant, and quite properly, although this would sort of spoil the fun the Bears have had shooting for Johnny Unitas. Maybe they could match them up in early July in a pre-season game.

The merger means increased pressure on baseball. Super-rivalries between top teams in the NFL and AFL which, formerly, had to be ignored, can now be consummated during the height of the baseball season, and on color TV, too. Baseball's years of non-promotion, of sitting back and waiting for the customers, may well prove a costly error. Certainly the merger was bleak news for the baseball lords. □

BY JOHN BRODIE
San Francisco 49ers' Quarterback

With only two pro seasons behind him, split end Dave Parks is an acknowledged NFL super-star

GAME-BREAKER!

John Brodie enjoyed his greatest pro season in 1965, as he led the San Francisco 49ers to a 7-6-1 won-lost mark and fourth place in the Western Conference. But he says he couldn't have done it without a spectacular performance from split end Dave Parks.

Has Dave Parks emerged as a super-star after just two seasons in professional football? I think so, and it isn't simply because of great hands—which he has—but because he has virtually everything else it takes to make it big in his profession. This includes a vital element: a good football team—to which he contributes greatly—and this factor actually spurs him to get the most from his own abilities.

As a quarterback, I'm supposed to know what it takes to be a great receiver. Regardless of whether I do or not, I do know what it means to me to have one in the right place at the right time; a man I can depend upon to make the catch if I'm able to do my part. Physically, as I said, Parks has the great hands always present in a top receiver. To boot, he is strong, agile and fast. Technically, he is as good a pattern runner as there is in the game, executing sideline and post maneuvers as well as they can be done.

What's more, he has the competitive spirit, determination and courage that must be present before any man can become a super-star. It is this last quality that makes him what any football team has to have to lead the pack: a game breaker like Jimmy Brown or Gale Sayers, men who can go all the way at any time. We depend on Dave for the big play.

All of this is pretty high praise, but I don't think

While the 49er defensive squad is on the field, passer Brodie and receiver Parks watch the action and talk over upcoming moves, opposite page. The Lions' Dick LeBeau, left, jars Dave as soon as he gets his hands on the ball anybody can punch holes in it. During the past two seasons, Dave has earned the respect of everybody in the game. Here's a good example: Last season, against Green Bay in our final game, we had a battle royal which finally wound up in a 24-24 tie, forcing the Packers into the playoff with Baltimore for the Western Conference title.

Late in the game, I called a pass play which sent Dave on a "flag" pattern (on which the receiver runs a sideline pattern, fakes a cut to the inside, then heads toward the end zone flag). As he cut to the flag, two Green Bay defenders converged on him and tangled him up good. Nobody else was open and I was under pressure, so I threw the ball into the end zone, high and behind Dave, on the outside chance that he could spring loose and get to it. If he didn't, nobody else would. He broke away from the defenders, turned, leaped for the ball, and came down with it for the touchdown. It was a truly great catch. When he came back, he said, "Nice throw, John. That was just where I wanted it." And he meant it. He knew what I had to do, and he knew what he had to do. The fact that it worked didn't astonish Dave.

Really, not much does surprise him, yet he seems to have surprised a lot of people—people not in professional football, anyway. In college at Texas Tech, he was a receiver on a team that didn't throw very much, so he didn't get a whole lot of national recognition—but the pro scouts knew about him. They knew of his speed, his strength and agility, his competitiveness, and they knew that he could also play defense. So, when he was San Francisco's No. 1 choice prior to the 1964 season, many people may have been surprised, but none of them were football people who had seen him play before.

His first season was excellent, although it might not seem so in comparison with last year. Dave caught 32 passes during his rookie year and he had to battle some obstacles to do it. He came to pre-season camp a little heavy, and he didn't have much to say, but, right from the start, he had to be our ace. To make it even tougher, there was no veteran receiver at his spot to help break Dave in. He was "it," and he did a good enough job to be named to the Pro Bowl after the season. The league learned fast that there was a good new football player around.

Last year, he nailed down the super-star label. He caught 80 passes to lead the NFL and set a 49er record. Incidentally, the old record was 60, set by Billy Wilson, who is now our end coach and who, along with quite a few others, has played a big part in Dave's rapid development.

The San Francisco end corps is one of the deadliest in the NFL. In addition to Parks, quarterback John Brodie, shown barking signals, far right, can throw to flanker back Bernie Casey, below, or to his tight end from Notre Dame, big Monty Stickles, right

GAME-BREAKER! / continued

Earlier, I said Parks had a pretty good football team from which to get help last year. I'll amplify that by saying that, from my point of view, we have the best offensive front five in the business: tackles Walt Rock and Len Rohde, guards Howard Mudd and John Thomas and center Bruce Bosley. Look at last year's records and you'll see that I was thrown fewer times while trying to pass than any other quarterback in the league. With that kind of protection, I get a lot more time to throw and it gives all of our receivers a better chance to get free. Also up front there is a lot of football player by the name of Monty Stickles, playing tight end. He keeps the linebackers mad at him most of the game, and don't think that's not helpful!

All of these factors contributed to Dave's fine year, as did a number of other important things. For instance, prior to the 1965 season the 49ers obtained halfback John David Crow in a trade from St. Louis, and selected fullback Ken Willard as No. 1 choice in the draft. The addition of those two to our offensive arsenal was a great boost to Parks' effectiveness. Although neither man is a breakaway runner, each is a dependable weapon. In addition to his other chores, Crow—who is as savvy as they come—acted as a great decoy for Parks. Not many halfbacks can do that. Willard proved to be our first-down runner. He averaged four yards a carry, amazing for a man who never had a really long run all year.

As our flanker, we have an established NFL star in Bernie Casey. While, understandably, most of the attention went to Dave last year, Bernie was having an outstanding year of his own. He caught 59 passes and made any number of key catches that turned games around for us. Without doubt, Bernie is a star. Because he is, he helped Dave reach the "super" rank. It's unlikely that Dave would have had the year he did without the aid of a flanker of Bernie's caliber.

Look at it this way. When a defensive signal caller considers our offensive lineup, he knows that Crow and Willard are threats not just as runners, but as receivers. Then, there's Casey on one side, and Parks, the game breaker, on the other. The defense has to play it honest. It can't overplay any one aspect of our attack. This is the kind of thing I mean when I say a lot of people helped Dave to his great year.

I want to add a little about John David Crow, a real pro football player. His contributions last year, aside from his yardage, catches and touchdowns, were immeasurable. No matter how efficient we get at it, football is still an emotional game. Friendship with, confidence in, and respect for your teammates are all vital. I don't think there was a man on the squad who didn't feel these things for John David last year. And he was a great factor in the success of Dave Parks.

Parks is the kind of football player who must understand the full picture, must know what everybody is doing and why. Perhaps most important, he has to see just what his particular assignment contributes. Crow knows these things because he has been around a long time and because he is a keen student of the game. He explained a lot about the pro football facts of life to his young friend from Texas.

Many people who have followed professional football and the 49ers for a long time remember Billy Wilson as one of the great receivers in the game. I do, too, because I joined the team while Billy was still playing. There are a number of similarities between Wilson and Parks. They have the same competitive spirit, and Wilson, too, had great hands. Many of Dave's moves are similar to those that made Wilson so effective, but even Billy admits he wasn't the speedster Parks is. Dave has spent a lot of off-season time studying old films of Wilson in action. It has paid off for all of us.

Unquestionably, Parks is now an established star, and he should have great years ahead of him. But, as anyone who has played professional football knows, for any individual player to have a topflight year, all of the factors must be present. Our offense had them last year, and we think it can have them again for quite a few years, if all goes well.

I think this story about Dave really underlines his approach to his profession. From the beginning, Dave was our split end. In his first start as a rookie, a pre-season game, things went pretty badly. He blew patterns, missed blocks, balls were bouncing off his helmet—a real nightmare for him. After the year was over, he sent for the film of that game and ran it over and over. He showed it to a lot of people in his home town of Abilene and at Texas Tech, always with the vow, "I never want to get tied up like that again."

I don't think he ever will . . . and he still has the film of that game. □

The All-Time Exhibition Classic

For those associated with the financial aspects of pro football, it's difficult to lose money any time the New York Giants play the Chicago Bears. Difficult—but not impossible. You can check the sad truth of that unlikely possibility with the maitre d' of a certain very fashionable Toronto cocktail lounge. It's in a hotel which shall be nameless because the man was still working there at last report.

Back in 1960, he figured he had struck upon a plan to shorten the number of years he'd have to work: Bring American football—or more specifically, two big-name National Football League teams—to sports-minded Toronto. Then he'd just sit back and listen to the pleasing tune of clicking turnstiles.

His enthusiasm rubbed off on a sufficient number of friends, who produced the necessary grubstake. In this case, it was a $10,000 deposit which was required to bring both the Bears and the Giants from their respective training camps for a Saturday night encounter.

The first the Giants heard about it was a phone call to their camp, then at Winooski, Vt. This was followed by a $5,000 cashier's check. The arrangement called for another $5,000 after the game. Over the years, the Giants had played in more unlikely places than Canada's second-largest city. And, after all, half the guarantee was already in the bank.

The same went for the Bears. George Halas has never turned his back on a buck. For years, there were good-natured stories of the tough days when he also never turned his back on anybody who had a piece of his money. In the days of the Decatur Staleys, before the Bears were formed, Halas was player-coach-manager—and co-owner. The other owner, Joey Sternaman, was also a player. There was a standing joke that if, for any reason, either one left the game, the other hustled out too, just to check up.

Halas got his $5,000 advance, so the Bears were there in Toronto for this early August clash with their traditional Eastern NFL foe. So was a substantial CBS crew, making a TV documentary—the one that helped fashion a distinguished pro career for Sam Huff. Huff was one of a half-dozen excellent linebackers in pro ball at the time but, like it says in the brochures, if you're going to play football, play it in New York. It was in New York that the CBS people called Don Smith, the Giants publicity man, and suggested a documentary underscoring the hard, bruising aspects of earning a living in this manner.

"Violence" was the catchword enjoying heavy popularity along Madison Avenue at that particular time. In one of the conferences regarding the proposed film, some bright young man, enraptured with the gory possibilities, exclaimed, "That's it! Let's call it 'The Violent World of . . . of . . . oh—anybody with the kind of name that'll fit.'"

Smith recalled the way Huff fitted the picture. "I ran the title over in my mind . . . 'The Violent World of . . . Andy Robustelli'? No, that wouldn't fit . . . 'of Jim Katcavage'? Nope . . . 'Violent World of Sam Huff'? Ah, that had a nice ring."

So Huff became a national figure, overflowing the boundaries of pro football, and fellows like Joe Schmidt, Bill Pellington, Bill George and Matt Hazeltine sat back and chewed on their fingers, or on the opposition's facial extremities the rest of the year.

The documentary was better than most, because of the technical knowledge Smith brought to the project, plus the unique method of obtaining Huff's reactions. Tiny mikes were installed in his shoulder pads. Anything Huff said was instantly available, monitored, of course. The most dramatic moment on camera was when Huff took heated exceptions to something Willard Dewveall, the Chicago end, had done to him. As he moved back to his position he directed a steely glance over his shoulder and, half-pointing, said, "Don't do that again, 88."

The on-the-spot documentary offered a problem or two which received ready cooperation from the officials. For instance, when the Bears belted Huff extra hard on one play, they busted one of the mikes. A pause was ordered while repairs were made. Actually, it didn't inconvenience too many spectators because there weren't too many spectators.

There were a number of reasons for the sad turnout. For one thing, the Canadian football season had already started; for another, the Pittsburgh Steelers had been in town the previous week and had stunk it up with one of those "halfie-halfie" things. That's where they play Canadian rules one half, American rules the next, against the local Canadian club. And thirdly, no Canadians were buying American football at American prices.

The promoter had pressed his son into service as the public-address-system announcer and sat with him in the press box during the first half. The son was voluble, the father quiet. During the intermission, the pair walked out. When play was resumed, there was no one manning the mike. "They musta scrambled with the money," said the proverbial press-box wit. He was only half-right. They had scrambled all right, but there was no money to scam with. In pursuit went Ray Walsh, the dignified business manager of the Giants. Meanwhile, the meaningless exhibition dragged to an inevitable end.

The Giants lost and now all they wanted was to get to the airport, then back to Winooski, where everyone could forget the whole thing. Fifty yards away, Walsh could be seen in earnest conversation with the promoter, who was resorting frequently to a two-handed shrugging gesture. His palms were outstretched, facing upward, and empty.

Jim Lee Howell, the Giants coach, sat tapping his foot. It hadn't been much of an evening. Finally he said, "Start the bus, he'll catch up with us by cab." How right he was! When the Giants got to the airport, they had to feel their way through a fog-shrouded gate. Walsh, with empty pockets, came feeling his way in a cab a short time later.

There was no getting out of Toronto that night. Somehow, the Giants found a motel able to accommodate the sizeable party of 50 players, coaching staff, club group, press and radio. Walsh paid for the lodgings with a check—a good one. Neither the Giants nor the Bears have been in Toronto since. . . . □

AFL

Continued domination by a pair of long-time juggernauts is the prospectus for the AFL in 1966

EASTERN DIVISION

Overall excellence—on defense, in the offensive line, among the receivers—is the happy story here Prediction: First

BUFFALO BILLS

1965 RECORD (10-3-1)

San Diego

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Shaw, Billy (G)	6-3	260	27	4	Western Illinois	responded. If he can't go, Ben Miller moves back
Prudhomme, Remi (G)	6-5	260	24	1	Georgia Tech	O'Donnell or Prudhomme, who missed rookie
Bahrman, Dave (C)	6-5	265	24	4	Louisiana State	guard. Remi has defensive possibilities, to
					Michigan State	is not strong. RATING—VERY GOOD

Carlton

Goodwin, Doug (F)	6-2	228	23	1	Maryland State	ness. He's the only experienced back with top
Smith, Bob (H)	6-2	215	24	3	N. Texas State	hands. But his speed earns him coaches' pa-

(F)—Fullback (H)—Halfback

RECEIVING

Roberson	31	483	15.3
Carlton	24	196	8.2

DEFENSE

Byrd	22	220	30	10.0
Rutkowski	13	127	33	11.5

Jacobs, Harry (M)	6-1	225	27	7	Bradley	and clutch punter. RATING—VERY GOOD
-------------------	-----	-----	----	---	---------	-------------------------------------

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Byrd, Bufch (C)	6-0	211	24	3	Boston U.	Husky Byrd has speed to cover anyone deep.
-----------------	-----	-----	----	---	-----------	--------------------------------------------

League MVP Jack Kemp hands off to Buffalo teammate Wray Carlton as an off-tackle play gets started. Billy Shaw (66) moves over to throw a block and tackle Stew Barber (foreground) moves out the Oakland defensive end

Joe Collier is spooked by intangibles in his first season as head coach of the champion Buffalo Bills.

At 33 he's the youngest head coach in pro football. He has a difficult act to follow—Lou Saban's. Saban won an AFL title in each of his last two years before defecting to the University of Maryland.

Then there is historical precedent. No pro football team, with the sole exception of the 1946-49 Cleveland Browns of the old All-America Conference, has ever won more than two consecutive championships.

The Bills still have the overall balance, strong defense and sufficient reserves to repeat in the Eastern Division. But Saban passed along at least one real problem that restricts the Bills' attack: Buffalo still doesn't have an outside runner, and only fullback Wray Carlton has a pedigree as a solid pro back.

Saban used another fullback, Billy Joe, as Carlton's running mate last year, but Joe went to Miami in the expansion draft. Joe's job is inherited by Bobby Smith, and if Smith's tendency to drop the ball in key situations makes him too much of a liability, the job could go to rookie Bobby Burnett, who scored 16 touchdowns for Arkansas in 1965.

Burnett, however, was the deep back in Arkansas' I formation and did not get much blocking experience. In Collier's view, this puts him a year away.

Lack of really outstanding ground forces could be offset by the recovery of wide receivers Glenn Bass and Elbert Dubenion. Both were on their way to big seasons when injuries struck them down in early games.

Without them, Jack Kemp's passing game became a hunt-and-peck affair. Nevertheless, Kemp supervised 11 victories and was voted the league's MVP.

While Bass and Duby were non-combatants, Kemp discovered a new bread-and-butter receiver, rookie tight end Paul Costa. At 6-5 and 256 pounds, Costa is the biggest eligible receiver in the sport.

The Bills still have just about the best offensive line in the AFL, but it will be a bit thinner if center Dave Behrman can't shake his back injury.

If Behrman can't go, guard Al Bemiller moves to center, with Joe O'Donnell or rookie Remi Prudhomme taking over at guard.

Defensively the Bills seem to have it all. The hold-'em unit could assure their third straight appearance on championship day. □

EASTERN DIVISION

Enough veterans to hold the team together, but too many problems to be a threat for the top spot Prediction: Second

BOSTON PATRIOTS

1966 RECORD (4-8-2)

7	Buffalo	24
10	Houston	31
10	Denver	27
17	Kansas City	27
10	Oakland	24
13	San Diego	13
21	Oakland	38
22	San Diego	4
7	Buffalo	23
26	New York	30
10	Kansas City	10
27	New York	23
20	Denver	30
42	Houston	14

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Cappelletti	9	27	17
Nance	5	0	0
Garrett	3	0	0
Colclough	3	0	0
Burton	3	0	0

RUSHING

		TDs	Avg
Nance	111	321	5 2.7
Garron	75	263	1
Parilli	49	179	0
Garrett	40	151	1

PASSING

	Atts	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Parilli	426	173	2592	37	26	40.6
Wilson	40	24	257	1	3	43.5

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Colclough	40	477	3	16.9
Cappelletti	47	419	9	10.7
Graham	25	316	0	12.6
Whalen	22	301	0	17.3

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Hall	4	35	29	8.8
Buoniconiti	3	31	26	10.3

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Yewcic	74	3048	70	42.8

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Burton	18	64	32	3.4
Cunningham	5	23	13	4.6

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Cunningham	16	344	45	22.7
Garrett	12	232	25	19.3

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Graham, Art (S)	6-1	205	25	4	Boston College	Can Graham stay healthy enough to produce at split end? Is Whalen big enough for tight end? Can Johnson snap back after knee surgery? Is Bellino washed up? Pats had better get some affirmative answers Cappy shouldn't have to start. RATING—FAIR
Whalen, Jim (T)	6-2	210	22	2	Boston College
Romeo, Tony (T)	6-2	230	28	7	Florida State
Cappelletti, Gino (F)	6-0	190	32	7	Minnesota
Johnson, Ellis (F)	6-2	190	22	2	S. E. Louisiana
Bellino, Joe (F)	5-9	185	28	2	Navy

(S)—Split end (T)—Tight end (F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Neville, Tom (T)	6-4	230	22	2	Mississippi State	Offense parked up when Neville and Canale won spurs. Morris is real star of this line. Only Oakland's Otto is in his class. Long is tough steady guard. Some knowledgeable scouts called Singer best offensive lineman in college football. He figures in some position. Size is only thing that holds Arrington back. If he isn't tall enough for guard he'll get audition as line-backer. RATING—FAIR
Oakes, Don (T)	6-3	255	27	5	Virginia Tech
Singer, Karl (T)	6-3	245	22	1	Purdue
Long, Charley (G)	6-3	250	27	6
Canale, Justin (G)	6-2	230	22	2	Mississippi State
Arrington, Dick (G)	5-11	245	22	1	Notre Dame
St. Jean, Len (G)	6-1	240	24	3	No. Michigan
Morris, Joe (C)	6-2	240	23	3	Holy Cross
Avazzano, Joe (C-G)	6-2	235	22	1	Florida State

(T)—Tackle (G)—Guard (C)—Center

QUARTERBACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
	6-0	190	36	13	Kentucky	At 36, Parilli's effectiveness has to be questioned. If Babe falters at start Huarte must be used. Future rests with him. RATING—FAIR
	6-0	190	22	1	Notre Dame
Yewcic, Tom	6-0	185	32	6	Michigan State

RUNNING BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Nance, Jim (F)	6-1	245	23	2	Syracuse	Nance's weight problem is issue here. If he's in top form Garron teams with him for explosive running game. If he's unable to perform peak, Garron must switch to full. Garrett hasn't played as expected. Cappadonna is an interesting newcomer. RATING—GOOD
	6-1	230	23	1	Northeastern
	6-3	225	25	1	Penn State
Carr, Tom (F)	6-1	230	22	1	Bates
Garron, Larry (H)	6-0	195	29	7	Western Illinois
Garrett, J. D. (H)	5-11	195	24	3	Grambling

(F)—Fullback (H)—Halfback

KICKER

Cappelletti, Gino	6-0	190	32	7	Minnesota	'65: 17 of 27 FG atts. RATING—EXCELLENT
-------------------	-----	-----	----	---	-----------	-----------------------------------------

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Bob (E)	6-4	240	30	9	Holy Cross	There's a big hole at tackle alongside Antwine. Holovak is hoping Mangum and Irby, tough small-college stars, can fill it. Dee should be slipping at this stage of his career but younger Eisenhower did the backsliding. Ike should snap back, however. Just in case, Pats made rugged Boudreaux their second draft pick. They're banking on youth. RATING—FAIR
Eisenhower, Larry (E)	6-5	250	26	6	Boston College
Boudreaux, Jim (E)	6-4	245	21	1	Louisiana Tech.
Antwine, Houston (T)	6-0	270	27	6	So. Illinois
Hunt, Jim (T)	5-11	245	28	7	Prairie View
Pyne, George (T)	6-4	205	23	2	Olivet
Mangum, John (T)	6-3	275	22	1	Southern Miss.
Irby, Dan (T)	6-1	246	21	1	Louisiana Tech.

LINEBACKERS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Addison, Tom (O)	6-2	230	30	8	South Carolina	Illness left Addison weak for three-quarters of season. He finished well, however. Jack Rudolph's departure leaves way clear for Jim Fraser, who came in Ron Burton trade. Buoniconiti is unquestionably AFL's best middle man. Farmer will press Fraser. RATING—GOOD
Fraser, Jim (O)	6-3	235	29	6	Wisconsin
Farmer, Lon (O)	6-0	220	25	3	Chattanooga
Dukes, Mike (O)	6-3	235	30	6	Clemson
Buoniconiti, Nick (M)	5-11	220	25	5	Notre Dame
Satcher, Doug (M)	6-0	220	22	1	Southern Miss.

(O)—Outside linebacker (M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Webb, Don (C)	5-10	200	26	6	Iowa State	The party line has it there are leaks here, but they look more like gaping holes. Webb strongest corner back and he's competent, at best. Hennessey had in-and-out rookie year. Felt is trying comeback after thigh injury kept him out in '65. Hall makes safety a bit brighter, but inexperienced White is partner. Shonta moves from corner. RATING—POOR
Hennessey, Tom (C)	6-0	180	25	2	Holy Cross
Cunningham, Jay (C)	5-10	180	23	2	Bowling Green
Felt, Dick (C)	6-1	185	29	7	Brigham Young
White, Graves (S)	6-0	185	23	2	Louisiana State
Hall, Ron (S)	6-0	190	27	7	Missouri Valley
Shonta, Chuck (S)	6-0	200	28	7	Eastern Michigan
Purvis, Vic (S)	5-11	190	21	1	Southern Miss.

(C)—Corner back (S)—Safety

Gino Cappelletti (20) takes a pass between Buffalo linebacker Harry Jacobs (64) and defensive back Booker Edgersson (24). Gino's prime value to his club is as a field-goal and extra-point kicker, more than as a receiver

A mixture of too much age and an abundance of youth makes the Boston Patriots a questionable concoction.

Babe Parilli is 36-years-old and is coming off a bad year. The only suitable man behind him is John Huarte, who won a Heisman Trophy at Notre Dame, then observed Joe Namath from a seat on the New York Jets' taxi squad as a pro rookie.

If Parilli is all washed up and Huarte isn't ready, 1966 could be a year of catastrophe for the Pats.

There are parallels throughout the roster. Gino Cappelletti is a devastating field-goal kicker, but if he has to play regularly as a flanker or split end, the passing game is reduced to nickle-and-dime patterns on his side. Nevertheless, Gino may start if Art Graham is invalidated by one of his many injuries or if Ellis Johnson hasn't recovered from knee surgery.

The only other possibility is Joe Bellino, who looked as if he had lost his Navy magic during four years in the service.

The Pats' running game should be perked up if sophomore fullback Jim Nance stays in shape. The former Syracuse ace averaged about five yards per carry as Boston won its last four games in '65.

If Nance captures the fullback post, then Larry Garron can switch to halfback, a job he is better suited, physically, to handle.

Coach Mike Holovak started rebuilding his offensive line late last year, using rookies Justin Canale at guard, Tom Neville at tackle and Jim Whalen at tight end. He may continue the trend with prize newcomers Karl Singer of Purdue and Dick Arrington of Notre Dame. Singer was the No. 1 draft choice.

Another touted rookie, defensive end Jim Boudreaux of Northeast Louisiana, will get a thorough trial. So will John Mangum of Mississippi Southern and John Irby of Louisiana Tech, both tackles.

Middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and outside man Tommy Addison are safe, but there's an opening across from Addison. Jim Fraser, acquired from Kansas City, or Lon Farmer probably will fill it.

Holovak's two biggest projects are generating a more potent scoring punch and repairing the secondary. The latter may be Mike's Twilight Zone.

Even if he's successful, Holovak will be haunted by injuries. The Miami draft left the Pats perilously thin, and injuries could decimate them. □

EASTERN DIVISION

The distant future is bright, but this campaign might be too early for Namath to carry the club to a flag Prediction: Third

NEW YORK JETS

1965 RECORD (5-8-1)

21	Houston	27
10	Kansas City	14
21	Buffalo	33
13	Denver	16
24	Oakland	24
9	San Diego	34
46	Denver	10
13	Kansas City	10
30	Boston	20
41	Houston	14
23	Boston	27
7	San Diego	38
14	Oakland	24
14	Buffalo	12

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
J. Turner	0	31	20	91
Maynard	14	0	0	84
Mathis	3	0	0	36
Snell	4	0	0	24

RUSHING

	Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
Snell	169	763	4	4.5
Mathis	147	684	5	4.1
Smolinski	28	59	0	2.5
Carson	7	25	2	3.6

PASSING

	Att	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Namath	340	164	2220	18	15	48.2
Taliaferro	119	46	531	3	7	37.8

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Mathis	66	1218	14	17.9
Snell	38	264	0	6.9
Carson	31	402	2	13.0
Smolinski	29	301	2	10.4

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Mathis	7	72	22	10.3
Carson	6	57	26	9.5
Smolinski	3	9	9	3.0

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Johnson	72	3260	73	45.3

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Baird	14	88	1	6.3
West	10	34	1	3.4

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
B. Turner	18	402	32	22.3
Carson	14	311	38	22.2

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Maynard, Don (F)	6-1	179	28	9	Texas Western	Maynard, on the verge of exile in August, revived to catch 68 passes and score 14 TDs. Colclough is slow-footed but sure-handed. Sauer is best future bet. Playing tight and retarded his development. Big experiment has Yearby, college defensive tackle, trying tight end. Lammons or Heeter could win the job. Yearby and Lammons should play somewhere. Pete's a sleeper. RATING—FAIR
Colclough, Jim (F-S)	6-0	196	28	7	Boston College
Evans, Jim (F)	6-1	190	26	4	Texas Western
Sauer, George (S)	6-2	284	23	2	Texas
Turner, Bake (S)	6-1	179	26	5	Texas Tech
Mackey, Dee (T)	6-5	236	31	7	E. Texas State
Heeter, Gene (T)	6-4	230	25	4	West Virginia
Yearby, Bill (T)	6-3	230	22	1	Michigan
Lammons, Pete (T)	6-3	225	22	1	Texas
(S)—Split end	(T)—Tight end	(F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Plunkett, Sherman (T)	6-2	300	32	9	Maryland State	exciting new blood is furnished by Waskiewicz. Coaches like Herman. He came fast at mid-season. Plunkett, De Luca and Ficca fall into the journeyman class. There's still hope for Hill's progress. Werl, defensive end in college,
Nick (T)	6-3				Southern Conn.
Ken (T)	6-4				Indiana
Sam (G)	6-2				South Carolina
n, Dave (G)	6-2				Michigan State
Werl, Bob (G)	6-3	240	23	1	Miami (Fla.)	could provide needed depth. It's the same old story: good pass protection but not enough
Perreault, Pete (G)	6-3	245	27	5	Boston U.

QUARTERBACKS

Namath, Joe	6-2	191	23	1	Alabama	With some help Namath could overcome all of Jets' flaws. RATING—VERY GOOD
Taliaferro, Mike	6-2	205	24	3	Illinois

RUNNING BACKS

Mathis, Bill (H)	6-1	220	27	7	Clemson	Snell's performance dipped from '64. He battled variety of injuries, though. Mathis had one of his better years and he's still young. Then the quality falls. Booser and Smith are sleepers. Carson, Johnson and Smo are fill-ins, but Curley's punting is first-rate. Cosmo lacks speed and size. Injuries would be disastrous in this department. RATING—GOOD
Booser, Emerson (H)	5-11	215	23	1	Maryland State
Carson, Kern (H)	6-1	200	23	2	San Diego State
Smith, Allen (H)	5-11	195	22	3	Findlay
Johnson, Curley (H)	6-1	215	31	9	Houston
Snell, Matt (F)	6-2	220	24	3	Ohio State
Smolinski, Mark (F)	6-1	215	26	4	Wyoming
Iacavazzi, Cosmo (F)	5-11	209	23	2	Princeton
(F)—Fullback	(H)—Halfback

KICKER

Turner, Jim	6-2	205	25	3	Utah State	'65. 20 of 34 FG attempts. RATING—GOOD
-------------	-----	-----	----	---	------------	-----------------------------------------------

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

Philbin, Gerry (E)	6-2	246	25	3	Buffalo	Only lack of dedication can keep Biggs from becoming one of league's best. Philbin's a plugger, but he has trouble getting to enemy quarterbacks. Development of Harris in last seven games cheered Weeb Rochester had an exceptional year. Depth and spotty pass rush are minuses. RATING—GOOD
Biggs, Verlon (E)	6-4	253	24	2	Jackson State
Wilder, Bert (E-T)	6-3	245	24	3	N. Carolina State
Jones, Jim (E)	6-5	255	22	1	Omaha
Harris, Jim (T)	6-4	280	22	2	Utah State
Rochester, Paul (T)	6-2	250	28	7	Michigan State
Walton, Bob (T)	6-4	236	22	1	Auburn
(E)—End	(T)—Tackle

LINEBACKERS

Baker, Ralph (O)	6-3	228	24	3	Penn State	McAdams has to play somewhere. If Atkinson produces, the big rookie will be tried outside
Grantham, Larry (O)	6-6	204	26	7	Mississippi	Al must master pass defense, however. Grantham had sub-par season but could rebound. Baker's potential remains high. Crane was collegiate offensive ace. RATING—FAIR
O'Mahoney, Jim (O)	6-1	228	25	2	Miami (Fla.)
Crane, Paul (O)	6-2	205	22	1	Alabama
Atkinson, Al (M)	6-2	230	22	2	Villanova
McAdams, Carl (M)	6-3	220	22	1	Oklahoma
(O)—Outside linebacker	(M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

	6-0	187	24	2	N. Carolina A&T	Gordon was a pleasant rookie surprise in '66. Other corner is a problem. It could be solved if Gray, out last year, rebounds. Paulson's still a star. Hudson, hindered by pneumonia as a rookie, has a big future. Abruzzese, ex-Bill, helps. Defense may be Schweikert's last stop. Pass defense gets criticized, but a more aggressive rush and help from linebackers would improve it. RATING—FAIR
	5-10	180	27	4	San Fran. State
Washington, Clyde (C)	6-1	206	26	5	Purdue
Gray, Jim (C)	6-0	180	24	1	Toledo
Paulson, Dainard (S)	6-0	190	29	6	Oregon State
Abruzzese, Ray (S)	6-4	194	26	5	Alabama
Hudson, Jim (S)	6-2	210	23	2	Texas
Schweikert, Bob (S)	6-1	190	23	2	Virginia Tech.
Mosher, Jerry (S)	6-1	195	22	1	California
(C)—Corner back	(S)—Safety

The Jets' future rides on the golden arm of bonus-rich Joe Namath (12), getting ready to pass. Billy Mathis (30) circles to get into the clear and Roland McDole (72) of the Bills fights to get clear of a block and break up the play

The New York Jets don't have a first-rate offensive lineman. The Miami Dolphins, the newest AFL club, have a better group of pass receivers. The Jets defense needs something only experience can give it. Yet the rest of the AFL's Eastern Division is more than a little wary of Sonny Werblin's employees. Or maybe "employees" should be singular.

Smart money in the league thinks the Jets could challenge the Buffalo Bills if quarterback Joe Namath gets merely adequate help from his teammates. Werblin's $400,000 baby already is considered the AFL's best quarterback in his sophomore season. And, after the pro owners are through casting their bread upon collegiate waters this year, Namath may look like the bargain of the decade.

"You have to be concerned about New York as long as Namath is the quarterback," is the way Boston Patriots' coach Mike Holovak puts it.

Because Joe Willie has a lightning release and finds his receivers quickly, opposing linemen rarely lay violent hands upon him. His protection could improve, too, if guard Dave Herman keeps maturing and rookie Jim Waskiewicz produces at center.

Inconsistent Don Maynard had a good year, catching 14 touchdown passes, but he's the only receiver with credentials. Young George Sauer has possibilities at split end, but coach Weeb Ewbank is hoping a college tackle, Michigan's Bill Yearby, can play tight end. Yearby was the No. 1 draft choice.

If Namath finds someone to hang onto his delivery, the Jets should have a balanced offense. The ingredients for a respectable running game are there. Matt Snell is a fine fullback and Billy Mathis a hard-running halfback. Mathis could be challenged by rookie Emerson Boozer.

It's defense where the questions are raised. Even the immediate stardom of rookie Carl McAdams, a strong possibility, may not cure what ails the Jets at linebacker. Ewbank was happy with development in his youthful defensive line, but only end Verlon Biggs gets to the passer with any degree of regularity.

Weeb uncovered two good defensive backs in corner Cornell Gordon and safety Jim Hudson last year, but he's badly in need of a mate for Gordon.

The Jets have the nucleus for a future winner—say 1968. But Namath could revise that schedule. □

EASTERN DIVISION

Only the most dedicated optimists will find hope here, and from there the road to glory is long.

HOUSTON OILERS

1965 RECORD (4-10)

27	New York	21
31	Boston	10
17	Oakland	21
14	San Diego	31
17	Denver	20
30	Kansas City	36
19	Buffalo	17
21	Oakland	33
21	Denver	31
14	New York	41
21	Kansas City	52
10	Buffalo	29
26	San Diego	37
14	Boston	42

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	PGs	Total
Blanda	10	26	11	61
W Frazier	4	0	0	48
Burrell	7	2	0	46
C. Frazier	6	0	0	36

* Caught two-point conversion pass

RUSHING

	Atts	Yds	TDs	Avg
Burrell	130	526	3
Tolar	73	230	0
Spikes	47	173	3	3.6
Trull	29	145	2
Jackson	37	95	2

PASSING

	Atts	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Blanda	442	186	2542	20	30	42.1
	107	38	528	5	5	36.5

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Burrell	55	650	4	11.8
Hennigan	41	578	4	14.1
C. Frazier	38	717	6	18.9

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Hicks	9	154	31	17.3
Norton	7	52	10	7.4

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Norton	84	3711	65	44.2

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Jancik	12	86	25	7.1
Glick	7	44	13	6.3

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Jancik	18	430	43	23.9
Jaquess	13	200	49	21.5

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Frazier, Charley (S)	6-0	175	24	5	Texas Southern	If Elkins' knee is mended, Oilers' offense could be potent. Hennigan is due for comeback after sub-par year. McLeod was a capable backup last year, would appear to be first-string with Willie Frazier gone. Charley Frazier is tremendously improved. RATING—GOOD
Compton, Dick (S)	6-1	195	25	5	McMurry
McLeod, Bob (T)	6-5	230	26	6	Abilene Christian
Hennigan, Charley (F)	6-1	187	29	7	N. W. Louisiana
Elkins, Larry (F)	6-1	190	22	1	Baylor
Kinderman, Keith (F)	6-0	215	25	5	Florida State

(S)—Split end (T)—Tight end (F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Michael, Rich (T)	6-3	242	26	6	Ohio State	What Lemm needs is a center and tackles to complement his outstanding guards, Bishop and Talamini. Bob's a regular on All League team.
Suggs, Walt (T)	6-5	245	25	5	Mississippi State
Allen, George (T)	6-7	245	21	3	W. Texas State	Two rookie tackles, Hines and Allen, could start. Often-injured Wayne Frazier might improve. Frongillo will challenge him. Michael and Suggs are the incumbent tacklers, but Oilers need someone who can keep Trull and Lee from destruction. Improvement is vital in this area.
Hines, Glenn Ray (T)	6-5	255	22	1	Arkansas
Bishop, Sonny (G)	6-2	245	25	5	Fresno State
Talamini, Bob (G)	6-1	255	26	7	Kentucky
Wittenborn, John (G)	6-2	240	29	9	S. E. Missouri
Frazier, Wayne (C)	6-3	245	26	3	Auburn
Frongillo, John (C)	6-3	255	25	5	Baylor
Neely, Ralph (T)	6-5	257	22	2	Oklahoma	Neely will help (if he stays). RATING—FAIR

(T)—Tackle (G)—Guard (C)—Center

QUARTERBACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Trull, Don	6-1	190	23	3	Baylor	Lemm says No. 1 job is a three-way battle, but Blanda doesn't figure in future plans. Trull or Lee must play. RATING—POOR
Lee, Jacky	6-1	190	27	7	Cincinnati
Blanda, George	6-2	220	37	17	Kentucky

RUNNING BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Jackson, Bob (F)	6-3	238	27	5	New Mex. State	Burrell continues to amaze. If Blanks makes comeback after year out due to knee injury, Lemm will have even more to work with.
Tolar, Charley (F)	6-4	280	26	7	N. W. Louisiana
Granger, Hoyle (F)	6-1	225	21	1	Mississippi State	Granger could be the big fullback Oilers have waited seven years for. RATING—GOOD
Burrell, Ode (H)	6-0	195	26	3	Mississippi State
Blanks, Sid (H)	6-0	206	23	2	Texas A&I

(F)—Fullback (H)—Halfback

KICKER

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Blanda, George	6-2	220	37	17	Kentucky	'65: 11 of 21 FG attempts. RATING—GOOD

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Floyd, Don (E)	6-4	245	26	7	Texas Christian	The addition of Ernie Ladd might mean a solid defense, at last. Floyd is a first-class holdover.
Cutsinger, Gary (E)	6-4	245	25	5	Oklahoma State	He may get some help this year. Appleton should be ripening in third year. Rice is one of class products of draft. Holmes, who played out option in Canadian League, could help.
Kinney, George (E)	6-4	250	22	2	Wylie	Cutsinger shows occasional good signs, could benefit from being pushed. Hayes, Kinney impressed at times as fresh. RATING—FAIR
Appleton, Scott (T)	6-3	255	23	3	Texas
Hayes, Jim (T)	6-4	240	24	2	Jackson State
Husmann, Ed (T)	6-2	242	33	12	Nebraska
Holmes, Pat (T)	6-5	270	25	4	Texas Tech
Rice, George (T)	6-3	265	21	1	Louisiana State
Ladd, Ernie (T)	6-9	295	28	5	Grambling

LINEBACKERS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Maples, Bobby (O)	6-4	245	22	2	Baylor	Maples muscled his way into lineup as rookie. Baker can stay healthy he would be an id.
Baker, Johnny (O)	6-3	238	24	4	Mississippi State	complice. Brabham should be a lot better than he's shown. Caveness could battle Cline at vital middle spot. RATING—FAIR
Brabham, Danny (O)	6-4	238	24	4	Arkansas
Cline, Doug (M)	6-2	230	26	7	Clemson
Caveness, Ron (M)	6-1	225	22	1	Arkansas

(O)—Outside linebacker (M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Hicks, W. K. (C)	6-1	185	22	3	Texas Southern	Here's chance for rookies. Only Hicks at corner and Glick at safety are sure of jobs. W. K. led AFL in interceptions. Banfield's play dropped off after knee surgery. He'll get final chance from Lemm. Oilers can do better than Norton.
Banfield, Tony (C)	6-1	185	27	6	Oklahoma State
Jancik, Bobby (C)	5-11	178	25	5	Lamar Tech
Monfies, Hartwell (C)	6-2	190	23	3	New Mex. State
Glick, Fred (S)	6-1	190	28	8	Colorado State
Norton, Jim (S)	6-3	190	26	7	Idaho
Onesti, Larry (S)	6-0	198	26	7	Northwestern	Onesti, too light for linebacker, tries here. He's got the desire. RATING—POOR

(C)—Corner back (S)—Safety

Houston running back Ode Burrell (25) cuts for the open field as Boston's Bob Dee (89) and Tom Hennessey (30) try to head him off. Throwing the block for Burrell is Oiler guard Bob Talamini, one of the stalwarts of the Houston line

How effective will be the Houston Oilers' publicized "New Era"? It is supposed to move owner Bud Adams discreetly into the background and leave the driving to the football folk, namely Don Klosterman, the new GM, and Wally Lemm, the new head coach.

Lemm returns to Houston after four seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League. Wally has the distinction of being the only undefeated coach in AFL history, winning the last nine after Lou Rymkus was bounced early in 1961. That should change quickly; Wally will be honored as a genius if he reaches .500.

The Oilers harvested an interesting rookie crop. They drafted heavily for linemen and came up with tackles George Rice of LSU, Glenn Ray Hines of Arkansas and George Allen of West Texas State. And fullback Hoyle Granger of Mississippi State could be the short-yardage specialist they need. In addition, there is last year's No. 1 pick, flanker Larry Elkins of Baylor. He cracked up a knee in the first exhibition game and missed the whole season.

Klosterman also traded for Arkansas linebacker Ron Caveness. Pat Holmes, Canadian League All Star tackle, was signed after he played out his option with the Calgary Stampeders.

The Oilers would get a large lift if Sid Blanks' knee has mended well. He was a rookie halfback sensation in 1964, but the gimpy knee made him a spectator all last year.

Lemm's biggest problem obviously is at quarterback. Chaos in the previous administration held up the progress of young Don Trull. He'll probably duel with Jacky Lee, returned from Denver after two years of exile as a result of a lend-lease deal. George Blanda is sure only of the place-kicking assignment.

The Oilers have possibilities for the future, thanks to a number of young, potentially outstanding players—halfback Ode Burrell, linebackers Bobby Maples and Johnny Baker, defensive back W. K. Hicks, defensive tackle (and bonus baby) Scott Appleton and guard Sonny Bishop.

Then there are a handful of top veterans like safety Fred Glick, flanker Charley Hennigan, guard Bob Talamini and defensive end Don Floyd. Lemm still has to flesh out the rest of the roster. It should take him at least two years. □

EASTERN DIVISION

Even though coach Wilson did well in stocking his new team, you can't expect a winner the first year Prediction: Fifth

MIAMI DOLPHINS

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Joe (Buf)	6	0	0	36
Spikes (Hou)	3	6	1	27
Mingo (Oak)	0	0	8	24
Roberson (Buf)	3	0	0	18

RUSHING

	Atts	Yds	TDs	Avg
Joe (Buf)	123	377	4	3.1
Spikes (Hou)	47	173	3	3.6

PASSING

	Atts	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Avg
Wood (Oak)	157	89	1003	9	6	43.9
Wilson (Bos)	44	20	267	1	3	43.5

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Roberson (Buf)	46	703	3	15.3
Jackson (KC)	28	440	1	15.7
Kocourek (SD)	20	363	2	13.0
Joe (Buf)	27	271	2	10.0

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
West (NY)	4	57	20	9.5
Warren (SB)	3	48	26	8.6

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Wilson (Bos)	5	194	49	38.8

PUNT RETURNS

	Refs	Yds	Longest	Avg
Jackson (KC)	13	163	41	12.5
West (NY)	10	36	9	3.4

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Refs	Yds	Longest	Avg
Roberson (Buf)	16	318	29	19.9
Jackson (KC)	2	240	62	20.9

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Roberson, Bo (S-F)	6-1	190	30	6	Cornell	If Roberson, Jackson or Kocourek are beaten out it will surprise Twilley and Roderick are quality freshmen. Tulsa flash hasn't size or speed but he catches the football. Roderick has 9.3
Twilley, Howard (S)	5-10	180	21	1	Tulsa	speed. Roberson, former Olympian, led Bills' catchers. Kocourek is among AFL's best tight ends. Mitchell was a fullback at Tennessee, but his blocking makes him Kocourek's most likely rival. Moreau, Mather are kickers. Latter was a Navy star. RATING—GOOD
Moreau, Doug (S)	6-1	195	20	1	Louisiana State
Craig, Dobia (S)	6-3	205	27	4	Howard Payne
Jackson, Frank (F)	6-1	190	26	6	S.M.U.
Roderick, John (F)	6-1	180	21	1	S.M.U.
Noonan, Karl (F)	6-3	185	21	1	Iowa
Kocourek, Dave (T)	6-5	240	28	8	Wisconsin
Mitchell, Stan (T)	6-2	220	21	1	Tennessee
Mather, Greg (T)	6-2	220	25	1	Navy

INTERIOR LINEMEN	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Davidson, Jim (T)	6-4	245	22	1	Ohio State	Dolphins could use some experience here. Only Rice, Neighbors and Hudock are proven pros, though Park started for Chargers in last half of season. Goode may push Hudock. Davidson, Neighbors, Billy (G)
Evans, Norm (T)	6-5	235	23	2	Texas Christian
Williams, Maxie (T)	6-4	240	25	2	S. E. Louisiana
Lerdani, Ray (T)	6-3	280	28	3	Miami (Fla.)
Neighbors, Billy (G)	5-11	245	25	5	Alabama
Rice, Ken (G)	6-2	240	27	6	Auburn
Park, Ernie (T-G)	6-3	253	25	4	McMurry
Goode, Tom (C)	6-3	240	26	6	Mississippi State
Hudock, Mike (C)	6-2	245	31	8	Miami (Fla.)	return to early form would help. Kenny can play guard or tackle. RATING—POOR

QUARTERBACKS	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Wilson, Eddie	6-0	200	25	5	Arizona	Norton is good future bet, but Wilson or Wood will play in '66. Eddie's younger, can do more things. Dick has flimsy knees. RATING—FAIR
Wood, Dick	6-5	200	28	6	Auburn
Norton, Rick	6-1	198	22	1	Kentucky

RUNNING BACKS	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Joe, Billy (F)	6-2	236	24	4	Villanova	Billy Joe starred in first half for Bills, then slumped. Spikes has his moments. Price could be a big help. He was eclipsed by Jim Grabowski at Illinois. Mingo has the ability. Powell's an ex-Brown. RATING—POOR
Spikes, Jack (F)	6-2	220	27	7	Texas Christian
Powell, Preston (F)	6-2	230	29	3	Grambling
Price, Sam (H)	5-11	215	22	1	Illinois
Mingo, Gene (H)	6-1	190	28	7	none

KICKER	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Mingo, Gene	6-1	190	28	7	none	'64: 8 of 19 FG attempts RATING—FAIR

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Branch, Mel (E)	6-2	230	28	7	Louisiana State	There are prospects here, but few proven players. Branch had big year at KC, but he's small for position. Cooke can hold fort. Dotson got king-sized bonus from KC but pulled muscle kept him out for the year. Zecher played little as Oakland rookie. Torczon is tough, seasoned
Torczon, Laverne (E)	6-3	250	29	8	Nebraska
Cooke, Ed (E)	6-4	250	29	3	Maryland
Lorenz, Don (E)	6-3	235	21	1	S. F. Austin
Holmes, John (E)	6-2	248	22	1	Florida A&M
Dotson, Alphonse (T)	6-5	255	22	1	Grambling
Zecher, Rick (T)	6-2	240	21	2	Utah State
Nomina, Tom (T)	6-5	270	23	3	Miami (O)	Nomina never earned big money. Denver gave him Bolton is the top rookie. He could be regular. RATING—POOR
Bolton, Grady (T)	6-2	240	22	1	Mississippi State

LINEBACKERS	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Rudolph, Jack (O)	6-4	230	27	7	Georgia Tech	Emanuel is Exhibit A. Dolphins gave him big money to sign. He's the middle linebacker unless Wahoo can prove otherwise. Rudolph was Boston's best blitzer. If Erlandson couldn't help Denver, it's hard to see what he'll do. Bruggers is a sleeper. RATING—POOR
Erlandson, Tom (O)	6-3	235	25	4	Washington State
Bruggers, Bob (O)	6-1	225	21	1	Minnesota
Bugel, Tom (O)	6-1	210	20	1	Ohio State
Emanuel, Frank (M)	6-3	225	23	1	Tennessee
McDaniel, Wahoo (M)	6-1	229	27	7	Oklahoma

DEFENSIVE BACKS	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Westmoreland, Dick (C)	6-1	198	24	4	N. Carolina A&T	AFL observers think Westmoreland was Dolphins' most fortunate pick in veteran draft. Warren was two-year regular for talent-laden San Diego. West is above average. Willie's had good years. O'Hanley is a classy free safety. McGeever was unhappy at Denver, could improve in the sun. RATING—GOOD
Warren, Jim (C)	5-11	185	26	3	Illinois
West, Willie (C)	5-10	185	26	4	Oregon
Petrelle, Bob (C)	6-0	185	24	1	Tennessee
Buckner, Mike (C)	6-2	205	21	1	Northwestern
Martha, Richie (C)	6-0	182	22	1	West Virginia
O'Hanley, Ross (S)	6-0	180	26	7	Boston College

The Miami team will be built around such men as defensive back Dick Westmoreland, top left; flanker Bo Roberson, top center; flanker Frank Jackson, right; tight end Dave Kocourek, bottom left; and fullback Billy Joe, bottom center

George Wilson, the veteran National League coach who was hired to guide Miami's new AFL entry, says he would like to see his yearlings play the NFL's fledgling Atlanta team 14 times this year. "We'd win every game," he predicts.

The problem is that Wilson has to play the Buffalo Bills, San Diego Chargers and Kansas City Chiefs instead. The AFL gave him a good nucleus, but if he wins three games it will be a triumph.

The strongest hands dealt Wilson in the generous stocking plan were in his receiving department and in the secondary.

The veteran draft gave him Frank Jackson of Kansas City and Bo Roberson of Buffalo as wide receivers, and Dave Kocourek of San Diego at tight end.

In addition, personnel director Joe Thomas signed prize rookies Howard Twilley of Tulsa, John Roderick of SMU and Stan Mitchell of Tennessee.

Thomas plucked off five defensive backs who started for their former teams—Dick Westmoreland and Jim Warren of San Diego, Ross O'Hanley of Boston, Willie West of New York and John McGeever of Denver. Westmoreland broke his arm last year, but if he's sound the Dolphins could have their first All-League player.

It took boxcar figures to sign Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton, and he may be the team's future. Right now Eddie Wilson, formerly of Boston and Kansas City, looks like the starter.

Another expensive frosh, Frank Emanuel of Tennessee, is the middle linebacker. The outside linebackers and defensive linemen could be anyone. There's more experience on the offensive line, with Ken Rice of Oakland, Billy Neighbors of Boston, Ernie Park of San Diego and Mike Hudock of New York.

Billy Joe of Buffalo looks like the best back. There's also Jack Spikes of Houston and rookie Sam Price, who played in Jim Grabowski's shadow at Illinois. Former Navy star Greg Mather and rookie Doug Moreau of LSU challenge Gene Mingo for the place-kicking duty.

Coach Wilson could make things embarrassing for the opposition if Eddie Wilson blossoms, the line gives adequate protection and a pass rush develops.

Otherwise it might be prudent to play youngsters like Twilley, Roderick, Price and Norton. □

WESTERN DIVISION

Winning the flag won't come easy to Sid Gillman's

SAN DIEGO CHARGERS

1966 RECORD (9-2-3)

34	Denver	31
17	Oakland	6
10	Kansas City	10
31	Houston	14
34	Buffalo	3
13	Boston	13
34	New York	9
6	Boston	22
35	Denver	21
7	Kansas City	31
20	Buffalo	20
36	New York	7
37	Houston	26
24	Oakland	14

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Travenio	8	40	18	94
Alworth	14	0	0	84
Lowe	8	0	0	48
Lincoln	7	0	0	42

RUSHING

	Atts	Yds	TDs	Avg
Lowe	222	1121	7	5.0
Foster	121	469	2	3.9
	74	302	3	4.1
	29	180	0	3.4
	28	91	1	3.2

PASSING

	Atts	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Breaux	43	22	494	2	4	51.2

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Alworth	59	1602	14	23.2
Norton	34	405	2	14.3
Kocourek	26	363	2	13.0
Lincoln	23	376	4	16.3

INTERCEPTIONS

	Yds	Longest	Avg
	127	35	18.1
	108	51	21.6
	43	26	8.6
Duncan	4	30	7.5

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Hadl	30	1544	66	40.6
Redman	29	1146	59	39.5

PUNT RETURNS

	Recs	Yds	Longest	Avg
Duncan	20	444	66	15.5
Graham	5	36	12	7.2

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Recs	Yds	Longest	Avg
Duncan	24	612	46	23.5
Farr	7	123	-	17.6

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Norton, Don (S)	6-1	195	28	7	Iowa	Chargers will start one or two new receivers.
Garrison, Gary (S)	6-1	195	22	1	San Diego State	Mackinnon was all set to take Kocourek's place, but along came Willie Frazier from
Mackinnon, Jacques (T)	6-4	250	27	6	Colgate	Houston. Rookie Garrison may bench Norton.
Waff, Wayne (T)	6-5	245	23	1	E. Tennessee State	Alworth remains top target, has been called
Owens, Terry (T)	6-4	240	21	1	Jacksonville State	pro football's finest receiver. Mackinnon needs
Alworth, Lance (F)	6-0	180	24	5	Arkansas	strong determination Owens will get trial as
Taylor, Sammie (F)	6-0	190	24	2	Grambling	tackle or defensive end, too. RATING—GOOD
Frazier, Willie (T)	6-4	235	22	3	Arkansas AMN
(S)—Split end	(T)—Tight end	(F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Wright, Ernie (T)	6-4	265	26	7	Wisconsin	Mix figures to rebound from so-so season. He's
Mix, Ron (T)	6-4	250	26	7	U.S.C.	among best in game. Wright's an underrated
Sweeney, Walt (G)	6-3	250	25	4	Syracuse	star. They make Chargers' outside stuff go.
Shea, Pat (G)	6-1	245	26	5	U.S.C.	Sweeney should get better with more savvy
Farris, John (G)	6-4	245	25	2	San Diego State	Shea comes off injured list. Farris may challenge
Lucas, Tom (G)	6-2	232	23	1	Mississippi	for his job. Lucas is swift and tough. He'll get
Mitchell, Ed (G)	6-2	280	24	2	Southern U.	chance to unseat Grunelsen. Wright, Mix and
Grunelsen, Sam (C)	6-1	240	25	5	Villanova	Sweeney are nucleus. RATING—GOOD
(T)—Tackle	(G)—Guard	(C)—Center

QUARTERBACKS

Hadl, John	6-1	215	26	5	Kansas	Hadl isn't Gillman's ideal, but is best avail-
Tensi, Steve	6-5	215	23	1	Florida State	able. Tensi is learning. RATING—GOOD

RUNNING BACKS

Lincoln, Keith (F)	6-1	215	27	4	Washington State	Lowe, Lincoln and Foster make this a class
Allison, Jim (F)	6-0	220	23	2	San Diego State	unit. Keith should rebound after injury-plagued
Lowe, Paul (H)	6-1	210	29	7	Oregon State	year. Lowe is best outside back in AFL. If
Foster, Gene (H-F)	5-11	212	23	2	Arizona State	either falters, Foster will figure. Allison may
Travis, John (H)	6-1	218	22	1	San Jose State	play tight end. RATING—EXCELLENT
(F)—Fullback	(H)—Halfback

KICKER

Travenio, Herb	5-8	195	34	3	Texas College	'65: 18 of 30 FG attempts. RATING—GOOD
----------------	-----	-----	----	---	---------------	----------------------------------------

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN	Ht	Wt	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Faison, Earl (E)	6-5	245	27	6	Indiana	Chargers didn't have enough money to pay
Patrick, Bob (E)	6-4	250	25	4	W. Texas State	Ernie Ladd what he felt he was worth. Mean-
Kindig, Howard (E)	6-4	255	25	2	L. A. State	while, Gross and Patrick play fine, unap-
Gross, George (T)	6-3	258	25	4	Auburn	preciated football. Kindig, DeLong wait in
DeLong, Steve (T-E)	6-3	252	23	2	Tennessee	wings till needed. They're great prospects.
Martin, Larry (T)	6-2	270	24	1	San Diego State	Moore is valuable sub at either spot. Martin's
Moore, Fred (T-E)	6-3	285	26	3	Memphis State	got promise. RATING—EXCELLENT
(E)—End	(T)—

LINEBACKERS

Buncom, Frank (O)	6-1	240	26	5	U.S.C.	Buncom blossomed in All Star game where he
Redman, Rick (O-M)	6-0	225	23	2	Washington	was best defensive player. At 240 he's frighten-
Degen, Dick (O)	6-1	229	24	2	Long Beach State	ing. Allen junked retirement thoughts. He's
Carpenter, Ron (O)	6-2	230	25	3	Texas A&M	valuable. Redman could win outside job or oust
Good, Tom (O)	6-0	230	22	1	Marshall	Allen. He's a comer. Degen is tough but can be
Horton, Bob (O)	6-2	230	23	3	Boston U.	had on pass defense. Mifinger returns after
Mifinger, Bob (O)	6-2	235	26	4	Penn State	year's layoff. Good is top rookie, but is there
Allen, Chuck (M)	6-0	225	27	4	Washington	room for him? RATING—GOOD
(O)—Outside linebacker	(M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Duncan, Les (C)	5-10	175	23	3	Jackson State	No. 1 project is replacing Westmoreland and
Farr, Miller (C)	6-1	192	23	2	Wichita	Warren at corners. Jacques, an ex-Oiler,
Harris, Dick (C-S)	5-11	174	29	7	McNeese State	should fill the bill nicely. Duncan had good
Stiles, Bob (C)	5-9	178	23	1	U.C.L.A.	year as sophomore, but he's a midget. Farr
	6-1	188	21	1	Idaho	was claimed mostly because of speed. Stiles is
	6-0	280	24	3	Washington State	another shrimp. Graham rates with best strong
	5-11	185	27	6	Florida State	safeties. Whitehead was talked out of co-
	6-1	205	28	4	Wisconsin	coaching. Tolbert, highest draft pick, is green.
Tolbert, Jim (S-C)	6-3	210	21	1	Lincoln	Gillman must be sorry he gave up so much
Jacquess, Pete (C)	6-0	185	23	1	Eastern N. Mex.	talent. RATING—FAIR
(C)—Corner back	(S)—Safety

Lance Alworth (19) does his act again—grabs a pass and leaves defenders in his wake. In this instance, he cuts past a lunging Harry Jacobs (64) and gets ready to do the same thing to Mike Stratton (58) and a Bills' defensive back

The San Diego Chargers, despite all their talent, have a fatal flaw: They step back to admire their work.

Last season, for the fourth time in five tries, they lost the AFL title after winning the Western Division crown. Heavily favored, the Chargers absorbed a 23-0 kayo from the Buffalo Bills.

This year coach Sid Gillman has more to worry about than big heads. For starters there are the Kansas City Chiefs and Oakland Raiders, both improved and both hungry for championship checks.

Then there are Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison. Ladd has already signed with Houston as a free agent, and Faison is apparently gone for good over a salary squabble, too—though he's still listed on the roster.

In addition, Gillman lost his starting tight end, Dave Kocourek; a starting guard, Ernie Park; and two corner backs, Dick Westmoreland and Jim Warren, to Miami in the expansion draft.

Then the Chargers lost their first nine college draft choices.

Other than that everything is fine. Of course, there's considerable compensation in the fact that the Oilers were forced to hand over tight end Willie Frazier and corner back Pete Jaquess to the Chargers as compensation for Ladd's defection.

And San Diego still has such high-powered talent of its own as flanker Lance Alworth, backs Keith Lincoln, Paul Lowe and Gene Foster and quarterback John Hadl. But the other Western Division clubs are catching up.

The draft did bring one bonus, split end Gary Garrison. The San Diego State Little All-America was the Chargers' top future and is expected to move into the starting lineup as Alworth's running mate.

Replacing Ladd and Faison are two promising youngsters, tackle Steve DeLong and end Howard Kindig. DeLong was Lineman of the Year as a Tennessee senior in '64.

The rest of the defense could be a problem. Outside linebacker Frank Buncom and middle man Chuck Allen are solid, but there is a drop in class at the third spot. The loss of Westmoreland and Warren makes the secondary questionable.

Still, if Lincoln and Lowe keep shredding defenses and Hadl matures, Kansas City and Oakland may have to wait a bit longer. □

WESTERN DIVISION

The club is a year away, though a shot at all of the

OAKLAND RAIDERS

1965 RECORD (0-5-1)

37	Kansas City	10
4	San Diego	17
21	Houston	17
12	Buffalo	17
24	Boston	10
24	New York	24
30	Boston	21
7	Kansas City	14
33	Houston	21
14	Buffalo	17
28	Denver	20
24	Denver	13
24	New York	14
14	San Diego	24

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Powell	12	0	0	72
Daniels	12	0	0	72
Mercer	0	36	9	62
Mingo	0	0	8	24
Miller	4	0	0	24

RUSHING

	Att	Yds
Daniels	219	884
Miller	73	272
Todd	32	183
Hagberg	48	171

PASSING

	Att	Comps	Yds	TDs	Ints	Pct
Flores	269	122	1593	14	11	45.3
Wood	157	69	1083	8	6	43.9

RECEIVING

	Recs	Yds	TDs	Avg
Powell	32	880	12	15.4
Daniels	36	568	7	15.8
Biletnikoff	24	331	0	13.8
Miller	21	288	3	13.7

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yds	Longest	Avg
Powers	5	56	21	11.2
Gibson	4	53	22	13.2

PUNTING

	Punts	Yds	Longest	Avg
Mercer	75	3079	70	41.1

PUNT RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Gibson	31	357	38	11.8
Krakoski	2	5	5	2.5

KICKOFF RETURNS

	Ret	Yds	Longest	Avg
Todd	20	461	50	23.1
Gibson	9	186	34	20.7

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Exp.	College	Comments
Biletnikoff, Fred (F)	6-1	190	23	2	Florida State	Here's possibly the best young receiver corps in AFL. Todd must be considered a catcher now. Reason is that Powell hobbled through the '65 season, may be slowing up. Biletnikoff is full of promise. Mitchell, a high draft pick by inspired Cannon. RATING—VERY GOOD
Todd, Larry (F)	6-1	185	23	2	Arizona State
Powell, Art (S)	6-2	212	28	10	San Jose State
Atkins, Parvis (S-T)	6-1	195	28	6	New Mex. State
Cannon, Billy (T)	6-3	215	29	7	Louisiana State
Mitchell, Tom (T)	6-2	235	21	1	Bucknell
(S)—Split end	(T)—Tight end	(F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Svihus, Bob (T)	6-4	245	23	1	U.S.C.	jobs as rookies. Tyson could do the same thing this year. He was schooled well as pass blocker
Harvey, Jim (T)	6-5	245	22	1	Mississippi
Otto, Jim (C)	6-2	240	27	7	Miami (Fla.)	gradient is experience. RATING—GOOD
(T)—Tackle	(G)—Guard	(C)—Center

QUARTERBACKS

Davidson, Cotton	6-0	180	34	18	Baylor	Cotton's fragile arm holds key. He has great days against some clubs, Flores against others. Raiders need both. RATING—FAIR
Flores, Tom	6-1	190	27	4	U of Pacific
Green, Charley	6-0	190	22	1	Wittenberg

RUNNING BACKS

Dixon, Hewitt (F)	6-1	218	27	7	Prairie View A&M	Trade which brought Dixon was key one. Hewitt could be that kind of fullback—top blocker and good receiver. Daniels remains outstanding. Scouts like Benaszak. If things get tough Todd could be brought back. RATING—GOOD
Miller, Alan (F)	6-1	220	25	3	Miami (Fla.)
Hagberg, Roger (F)	6-1	220	25	3	Florida A&M
(F)—Fullback	(H)—Halfback				Boston College
					Minnesota

KICKER

Mercer, Mike	6-0	210	28	6	Arizona State	'65: 9 of 15 FG attempts. RATING—GOOD
--------------	-----	-----	----	---	---------------	----------------------------------------------

DEFENSE

FRONT LINEMEN

Davidson, Ben (E)	6-7	265	27	8	Washington	Davidson gives Raiders best pass rush. "The Tree" has flowered in the AFL. Lassiter's another surprise. Oats, diamond in rough, could smooth out this term. Kent starred in East-West game. Costa could be among league's
Lassiter, Isaac (E)	6-5	270	25	5	St. Augustine
Oats, Carleton (E)	6-2	245	23	2	Florida A&M
Kent, Greg (E)	6-8	275	22	1	Utah
Costa, Dave (T)	6-1	250	25	4	Utah
Keating, Tom (T)	6-2	247	24	3	Michigan	be forced to move over by Keating, obtained from Buffalo for Bo Roberson. Unit rates with better ones. RATING—VERY GOOD
Mirch, Rex (T)	6-4	250	25	3	Arizona State
Diehl, John (T)	6-5	250	28	6	Virginia
(E)—End	(T)—Tackle

LINEBACKERS

Otto, Gus (O)	6-2	220	23	2	Missouri	Anybody here beyond second year is considered a senior citizen. Lack of game experience is only drawback. Otto was one of the show-casa freshmen in '65 Budness inherits Archie Matsos' middle spot. Conners battles Williamson for job. RATING—GOOD
Williamson, John (O)	6-2	220	24	3	Louisiana Tech
Conners, Dan (O)	6-1	230	24	3	Miami (Fla.)
Hermann, Dick (O)	6-1	215	24	2	Florida State
Kinney, Cliff (O)	6-1	215	22	1	San Diego State
Budness, Bill (M)	6-2	215	23	3	Boston U.
(O)—Outside linebacker	(M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

McCoughan, Kent (C)	6-7	190	22	2	Nebraska	Bird, South's best broken-field runner, is candidate for corner job, showing class of Raiders' secondary. Grayson is All Pro caliber. McCoughan was rookie sensation. Williams could contribute more if he had better hands (drops interceptions). Labruzzo and Gibson are return specialists. Unit is on verge of becoming best in league. RATING—GOOD
Grayson, Dave (C)	5-10	185	27	1	Oregon
Bird, Rodger (C)	5-11	195	22	1	Kentucky
Labruzzo, Joe (C)	5-9	175	22	1	Louisiana State
Powers, Warren (S)	6-0	190	25	4	Nebraska
Williams, Howie (S)	6-0	186	25	5	Howard
Krakoski, Joe (S)	6-2	195	28	5	Illinois
Gibson, Claude (S)	6-1	190	28	6	N. Carolina State
(C)—Corner back	(S)—Safety

Power running by Clem Daniels (36) is one of the prime assets of the Oakland Raiders. Here he smashes over Boston's Tom Addison (53) for a five-yard gain. Help is on the way for Addison as Leonard St. Jean (60) closes on the play

When the Oakland Raiders zoomed from laughing stock to respected contender in one short burst a few seasons ago the answer was plainly Al Davis. Now that Davis has departed, he is also plainly the reason the Raiders move down a notch from Western Division favorite to mere dark horse.

The team Johnny Rauch inherits is, candidly, a year away. But Davis' guile, plus some adequate quarterbacking, might have put it into the title game.

Rauch's assets include the AFL's best assemblage of running backs, strong receiving and an improved defense. The strongest suit of all is potential. There are promising youngsters at almost every position.

Take the Oakland linebackers. None has more than three years' experience. They make mistakes, but seldom repeat them, and they are maturing fast.

Two of the best kids should jazz up the offense. Larry Todd was the finest rookie running back in the league last year, but the Raiders are so deep in ball carriers that he is scheduled to be a pass receiver and could even end up in the secondary.

Fred Biletnikoff overcame a severe case of the jitters early last year and turned into a plus as the starting flanker. He should have enough experience to take some double-coverage pressure off Art Powell.

The Raiders traded middle linebacker Archie Matsos to Denver for fullback Hewritt Dixon, who can block and catch the ball as an Oakland fullback is asked to do.

The draft brought a touted tight end, Little All-America Tom Mitchell of Bucknell. Rauch would be happy if he can hurdle Billy Cannon and Ken Herock to win the starting position.

Two other rookies also have a chance to start. Rodger Bird, the No. 1 draft choice from Kentucky, contends for a berth in the secondary. Guard Richard Tyson learned pro-type pass protection at Tulsa.

Six rookies started, at least part of the time, last year. All six—tackles Harry Schuh and Bob Svihus, linebacker Gus Otto, corner back Kent McCloughan, Todd and Biletnikoff—have big futures.

The Raiders' toughest problem is at quarterback. Cotton Davidson missed all but a few plays due to a sore arm last year. If he can snap back, even at his age, Oakland might have the adequate quarterbacking it needs to outdistance San Diego and Kansas City. □

WESTERN DIVISION

The same old story: Lots of talented football players who never seem to put all their talents together Prediction: Third

KANSAS CITY CHIEFS

Taylor, Otis (F)	6-2	211	22	2	Prairie View	has promise, but is still green. Arbanes over-
Richardson, Gloster (F)	6-0	200	23	1	Jackson State	came handicap of restricted vision in one eye
Lamb, Jerry (F)	6-1	185	24	1	Arkansas	to finish well. RATING—GOOD

(S)—Split end (T)—Tight end (F)—Flanker

INTERIOR LINEMEN

Tyrer, Jim (T)	6-4	290	27	4	Ohio State	Tyrer annually is an All Star and excels as pass
Hill, Dave (T)	6-5	264	24	4	Auburn	blocker. Hill arrived in '65. Reserves are a
Cox, Steve (F)	6-5	243	23	3	South Carolina	bit thin. Cox is bright prospect who could win

Dawson, Len	6-0	184	30	10	Purdue	If he could curb indiscriminate running, Beath-
-------------	-----	-----	----	----	--------	-------------------------------------------------

RUNNING BACKS

Wilson, Jerrel (F)	6-4	222	24	5	Southern Miss.	left by Mack Hill's death. Statistically he had
Gipson, Elijah (F-H)	6-1	222	21	4		is best year, but fumbles plagued him.
	6-4	225	26			physical skills make him No. 1 halfback candi-
	6-0	195	29		Northwestern	date, but he loses interest. Garrett, despite size,
	5-9	195	22		U.S.C.	could star. RATING—FAIR

KICKER

RECEIVING

McClinton	37	590	3	15.9
Jackson	29	443	1	15.3
Taylor	24	446	5	17.2

Wilson	46	3132	64	44.1
--------	----	------	----	------

LINEBACKERS

Stover, Smokey (O)	6-0	227	27	7	N. E. Louisiana	Revably quick. Holub piles up running game.
--------------------	-----	-----	----	---	-----------------	---------------------------------------------

DEFENSIVE BACKS

KICKOFF RETURNS

Kansas City's field general, Len Dawson, starts a play against the Jets. Running back Curtis McClinton (32) moves out of his backfield position to block and you can see center Jon Gilliam (65) move to his right to help open the hole

The Kansas City Chiefs are violating one of the holy precepts of pro football. They're banking on a pair of rookies. They're not ordinary rookies. One is Mike Garrett, the Southern California halfback who won the Heisman Trophy last year. The other is Aaron Brown, Minnesota's coveted end.

It took the proceeds from one of Lamar Hunt's oil wells to get Garrett's name on a contract. His signing became imperative when fullback Mack Lee Hill died on the operating table during routine knee surgery last fall. Curtis McClinton moves from halfback to replace Hill. The hope is that Garrett's skills will overcome his lack of size (5-9, 195 pounds) and enable him to move directly into the lineup. Brown, a superb athlete, could give the Chiefs the finest defensive front four in the league.

Garrett's size isn't the only problem in the running attack. McClinton never has equaled his great rookie season of five years ago. Last year he did well statistically, but fumbled away several victories.

If McClinton doesn't excel and if Garrett doesn't prove to be the outside runner coach Hank Stram hopes he will be, then Ron Burton (acquired from Boston) or rookie Elijah Gipson will get a long look see.

The progressive-minded Chief fans hope this is the year young Pete Beathard replaces conservative Len Dawson at quarterback. Beathard is a superior scrambler, but leaves his pocket more than necessary.

"He could be another Art Powell," says Stram of big Otis Taylor. The green rookie had his moments last year, scoring five touchdowns.

If Frank Pitts matures he'll challenge dependable Chris Burford at split end. Tight end is safe with Fred Arbanas, who has licked poor vision in his right eye.

Defensively, the Chiefs have that championship look. Brown completes a classy front which includes All Pro Jerry Mays at the other end plus awesome Buck Buchanan and underrated Ed Lothamer at tackles. There's a promising sub in end Chuck Hurston, one of the fastest Chiefs.

There are few better linebackers than Bobby Bell. E. J. Holub and middle man Sherill Headrick are also first-rate. Safeties Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt star in the secondary. The enemy, however, looks for flaws in the play of corner backs Willie Mitchell and Fred Williamson. □

WESTERN DIVISION

Not much going on here—a few stars and a lot of holes

By the way, if you're a fan of the Broncos, you'll find this a pretty good read.

DENVER BRONCOS

Kroner	0	32	13	71
Haynes	0	0	0	36
Taylor	0	0	0	36

Att	Yds	TDs	Avg
-----	-----	-----	-----

RECEIVING

Taylor	85	1129	13.3
--------	----	------	------

Griffin	109	44	27.3
---------	-----	----	------

PUNTING

Barry	21	210	36	10.0
Haynes	16	121	57	9.6

Kubala, Ray (C)	6-4	245	24	3	Texas A&M	Mature. RATING—FAIR
-----------------	-----	-----	----	---	-----------	---------------------

QUARTERBACKS

Ken Hamrick, 1st yr

RUNNING BACKS

Maddox, John (E)	6-4	235	23	1	Mississippi	Should easily win starting spot. Davis or Mad-
------------------	-----	-----	----	---	-------------	------------------------------------------------

(E)—End (T)—Tackle

LINEBACKERS

Bramlett, John (O)	6-2	214	25	2	Memphis State	Bramlett was Broncos' best rookie in '65. He's
Hopkins, Jerry (O-M)	6-2	235	25	4	Texas A&M	small but very tough. Matsos, traded from Oak-
Sbranti, Ron (O)	6-2	230	21	1	Utah State	Sbranti, pass-catching end at Utah State, could
(O)—Outside linebacker					(M)—Middle linebacker

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Brown, Willie (C)	6-1	190	26	4	Grambling	If Willie Brown's healthy, Broncos' secondary
-------------------	-----	-----	----	---	-----------	-----------------------------------------------

Bussell, Gerry (S)	6-0
(C)—Corner back					(S)—Safety

Cookie Gilchrist (2) used his power upfield to get past the line of scrimmage. Now he utilizes his speed to beat a Kansas City defensive back into the end zone for a Denver TD—but even Cookie's talents aren't enough to make his team a winner

Denver signed seven rookie quarterbacks. Would you believe coach Mac Speedie has a large problem?

Actually, the Broncos reached the respectable stage in '65, ranking second to San Diego in rushing and third behind San Diego and Houston in passing. But the next plateau is the "dangerous" stage, and that won't be reached unless Speedie concocts improved quarterbacking and a much better defense.

John McCormick, the winter-book choice to start at quarterback, has proved little except that he has a strong arm. Young Mickey Slaughter has been brilliant at times, but does not enjoy the confidence of his teammates or coaches.

That's where the freshmen come in. The best of the rookie bunch is Scotty Glacken, the finest Duke quarterback since Sonny Jurgenson. If he shows well early, he'll win a pay check.

But no matter who the quarterback is, Denver will be tough on the ground once again. Cookie Gilchrist still bruises tacklers and he has an outside runner, Wendell Hayes, to help him. There's Abner Haynes, too. He is still dangerous in the open field.

Other offensive needs are a tight end and at least one quality guard. The reserves are practically bare along the line and among the receivers.

For the seventh consecutive draft, the Broncos failed to sign their No. 1 choice. This year it was one of the things Denver needed most, a defensive lineman. The man in question, Jerry Shay of Purdue, signed with Minnesota.

The linebacking improved when Speedie traded tight end Hewritt Dixon to Oakland for middle line-backer Archie Matsos. Arch freelances, but makes the big play. A homicidal sophomore, Johnny Bramlett, wages war on one side.

A poor pass rush puts agonizing pressure on the secondary. Corner back Willie Brown could be the best in the league if he shakes an ankle injury. Safety Goose Gonsoulin is good, but the quality ends here.

Speedie was ready to trade during the winter but got a depressing reaction from his rival coaches: "With what?" Mac doesn't have enough good front liners, much less attractive chattel.

If the Broncos have .500 aspirations they would be advised to let Cookie, Hayes, Abner and Co. control the football as much as possible. □

1965 AFL INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS

SCORING

	TDs	PATs	FGs	Total
Cappelletti, Boston	9	27	17	132*
Gogolak, Buffalo	0	31	28*	115
Travenio, San Diego	0	40*	18	94
J. Turner, New York	0	31	20	91
Maynard, New York	14*	0	0	84
Alworth, San Diego	14*	0	0	84
Brooker, Kansas City	0	37	13	76
Powell, Oakland	12	0	0	72
Daniels, Oakland	12	0	0	72
Kroner, Denver	0	32	13	71

RUSHING

	Atts	Yards	TDs	Longest	Avg
Lowe, San Diego	222	1121*	7*	59	5.1*
Gilchrist, Denver	252*	954	6	44	3.8
Daniels, Oakland	219	884	5	57	4.0
Snell, New York	169	763	4	44	4.5
McClinton, Kansas City	175	661	6	48	3.8
Hill, Kansas City	125	627	2	66	5.0
Mathis, New York	147	604	5	79	4.1
Carlton, Buffalo	156	592	6	80*	3.8
Burrell, Houston	130	528	3	63	4.1
Hayes, Denver	130	526	5	43	4.1

PASSING

	Atts	Comps	Pct Comps	Yards	TDs	Ints	Pct Ints	Avg Gain
Hadl, San Diego	348	174	50.0	2798*	20	21	6.0	8.04*
Dawson, Kansas City	305	163	53.4*	2262	21*	14	4.6	7.42
Namath, New York	340	164	48.2	2220	18	15	4.4	6.53
Kemp, Buffalo	391	179	45.8	2368	10	18	4.6	6.06
Blanda, Houston	442*	186*	42.1	2542	20	30	6.8	5.75
Parilli, Boston	426	173	40.6	2597	18	26	6.1	6.10
Flores, Oakland	269	122	45.3	1593	14	11	4.1	5.92
Wood, Oakland	157	69	43.9	1003	8	6*	3.6*	6.43
Slaughter, Denver	147	75	51.0	864	6	12	8.2	5.88
McCormick, Denver	253	103	40.7	1292	7	14	5.5	5.11

Standings are based on per cent of completions, touchdown passes, per cent of interceptions and average yards gained. To qualify for championship rating, a player must throw at least 140 passes.

PASS RECEIVING

	Recs	Yards	TDs	Longest	Avg
Taylor, Denver	85*	1131	6	63	13.3
Alworth, San Diego	69	1602*	14*	85	23.2*
Maynard, New York	68	1218	14*	56	17.9
Burrell, Houston	55	650	4	52	11.8
Powell, Oakland	52	800	12	66	15.4
Burford, Kansas City	47	575	6	57	12.2
Roberson, Oak-Buff	46	703	3	74	15.3
Hennigan, Houston	41	578	4	53	14.1

INTERCEPTIONS

	Ints	Yards	TDs	Longest	Avg
Hicks, Houston	9*	156*	0	31	17.3
Whitehead, San Diego	7	127	1	35	18.1
Paulson, New York	7	72	0	22	10.3
Clarke, Buffalo	7	60	0	40	8.6
Norton, Houston	7	52	0	18	7.4
Gonsoulin, Denver	6	91	0	32	15.2
Williamson, Kansas City	6	89	0	51	14.8
West, New York	6	57	0	28	9.5

PUNTING

	Punts	Yards	Longest	Avg
Wilson, Kansas City	68	3132	64	46.1*
Johnson, New York	72	3260	73	45.3
Norton, Houston	84*	3711*	65	44.2
Maguire, Buffalo	80	3437	68	43.0
Scarpitto, Denver	67	2833	74*	42.3
Yewcic, Boston	74	3094	70	41.8
Mercer, Oakland	75	3079	70	41.1
Hadl, San Diego	38	1544	65	40.7

PUNT RETURNS

	Retrs	Yards	TDs	Longest	Avg
Duncan, San Diego	30	464*	2*	66	15.5*
Mitchell, Kansas City	19	242	1	71*	12.7
Gibson, Oakland	31*	357	1	58	11.8
Byrd, Buffalo	22	220	0	30	10.0
Barry, Denver	21	210	0	38	10.0
Haynes, Denver	14	121	1	57	8.6
Baird, New York	14	88	0	23	6.3
Burton, Boston	15	61	0	12	4.1
Jackson, Kansas City	13	163	0	41	12.5
Rutkowski, Buffalo	11	127	0	33	11.5

*1965 AFL leader

Comparisons of the Canadian Football League with its two lusty American cousins are inevitable—and invariably lopsided, if spectator totals and the juicy plum of television revenues are the only factors appraised. By any such gauge, the Canadian loop must run a poor third to the NFL and the AFL. Yet, the lure of the Canadian game is undeniable—and proof aplenty exists in the swelling ranks of talented Americans, players and coaches alike, who have flocked north ever since the league was organized in 1948. Many an American collegiate star turned his back on tempting offers from the NFL or AFL to follow the pied-piper call of "Come North, Young Man." With an eye toward quelling what might have amounted to a Yankee invasion, Canadian League officials instituted a restrictive clause, which holds the number of American players per team to 14—out of a total team complement of 32. Thus some 43 per cent of the players are transplanted Americans.

PRO BALL— NORTH OF THE BORDER

BY BARRIE WILLIAMS
The Hamilton Spectator

The lure of the Canadian game is undeniable—judging by its U.S. imports

The 1965 Grey Cup contest, held in Toronto, brought together the East's Hamilton Tiger-Cats and the West's Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Here, Hamilton quarterback Joe Zuger turns the corner behind teammates Bob Counts (32) and Chuck Walton (52)

NORTH OF THE BORDER/continued

How do these worthies, who either call the shots or take the weekly bruising, feel about Canadian football itself, and about the promise and prospects of life in Canada in general? One highly articulate member of the expatriate band is Hamilton Tiger-Cat coach Ralph Sazio, who has adopted Canada as his home. The veteran Sazio, starting his 17th year in the league, is the senior Yank in terms of service. After his playing days with Hamilton, he served as the club's assistant coach until stepping into the head post in 1963. "I really like Canadian football," says Ralph. "It offers quite a challenge, its rules are unique and there's so much opportunity to really become established in this great country."

The uninitiated American fan, suddenly plunked down in a Canadian football stadium, might find himself bug-eyed with bewilderment until he got the hang of his favorite game as it grabs 'em, up north. The playing field is a king-sized version of the stateside tundra: 10 yards longer, 12 yards wider—and with the end zone yawning 15 yards deeper. All of which add up to a goodly amount of extra romping room. There's none of the nose-to-nose lining up, as Americans know it; Canadian footballers square off one yard apart on offense and defense. A ball kicked into the end zone counts for a single point, unless run or kicked out.

One aspect of the game that particularly delights Canadians—and would leave an unrehearsed American dumbfounded—is the absence of the “fair catch.” Up north, the punt return man is given what amounts to a five-yard “buffer” zone to latch onto the ball before he takes off. Would-be tacklers closing in on the receiver waiting for a kicked ball have to back off, keeping five yards between themselves and the return man, until he has caught the ball. Once he has it, however, he’s on his own, since Canadian rules don’t permit downfield blocking.

As for the rule changes that have raised all the ruckus, there’s no denying that this pair of revisions will substantially re-shape the game along U. S. lines. The first change permits all backfield men to block anywhere downfield. Before this change, only backs lined up outside the ends—backs who crossed the line of scrimmage after the ball was snapped and who maintained their positions outside the ends—were eligible to clear for the ball carrier.

The other change—sure to open up the game even further—allows all eligible receivers to block for the man who spares a forward pass. In the past, once the pass had been caught, the receiver’s nearest teammates would almost literally turn themselves into statues, so as not to be called for interference.

Queried about the effects of the rules changes, Sazio minces no words. “I voted against the rule allowing backfielders to block. Our club has always been against changes like this because they are making the game too Americanized. If things go on like this, changing rules each year, the uniqueness of the Canadian game will be lost. I admit that the other rule, allowing all eligible receivers to block, will open up the a dull, grind-out type of ground game that will bore game, but the one involving backfielders could lead to the fans. I think the fans want to see the ball in the air more often.”

At the other end of the scale, in terms of experience, is Nebraska-born Darrall Mudra, who gets his first taste of the Canadian game this year as the new head coach of the Montreal Alouettes. At the helm of North Dakota State for the last three years, he saw his clubs run up records of 3-5 his first year, 10-1 his second and 11 straight last season. The affable Mudra, well aware that his work is cut out for him, is faced with a brace of particularly thorny problems. To begin with, pro football is an altogether different breed of cat than its collegiate counterpart—and, to boot, it generally takes Americans, especially head coaches, a couple of years before they are astute enough to take full advantage of Canadian rules and playing conditions. Secondly, Mudra is confronted by the paradox of a club that has done poorly despite the undeniable fact that, as an Eastern team, it has the advantage of heavier grosses from higher attendances. The resultant monies should have enabled the club to purchase the necessary talent, but this has not been the case.

Looking forward to his first year in Canadian ball, Mudra says, “I’ll coach from the spotter’s box, not the sidelines. I find that the high vantage point helps me. We’ll try to build up our offensive line; we have good receivers and a couple of heavy backs, but we’re still looking for that special runner.”

Perhaps a typical spokesman for many of the American players who heeded “the call of the North” is John Barrow, captain of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Starting his 10th year of Canadian ball, Barrow has garnered a glittering share of acclaim since his All-America days at the University of Florida. He holds an Eastern Conference record of being named to All Star teams nine times; he was Canada’s outstanding lineman in 1962, was a runner-up for this title last year and has consistently been a nominee for it. John could easily have been in the NFL today—in fact, he nearly went to the Detroit Lions four years ago, when his option with the Hamilton club was up. (The Lions, incidentally, had first tried to tap Barrow after he came out of college.) As the big fellow recalls it: “Detroit had made me a very good offer and I was certainly interested in playing in the NFL—I think most Americans are. But I began to think of what I would do when my playing days were over and, in this regard, the opportunities the Canadian game offered made me decide to remain in Hamilton.” Barrow, who now makes his home in Canada and has become a Canadian citizen, is half-owner of a bowling alley, heads a sales promotion and premium company, and is currently a management trainee with Carling Breweries. He is another performer who has taken full advantage of one of the Canadian game’s prime selling points—evening practice—which allows players to hold down full-time day jobs during the season.

No roster of American notables who have thrived as transplants in the Canadian football climate would be complete, without mention of such men as:

- Tom Brown, the Vancouver Lions’ middle line-backer extraordinary. This former Minnesota All-America collected a bag-full of college awards from the Associated Press, United Press International, Look, the Football Writers’ and Football Coaches’ Associa-

Halfback Leo Lewis of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers hurdles a Hamilton defender en route to a touchdown during last November's Grey Cup game, opposite page top. And Ottawa's Jim Dillard picks up valuable yardage in a regular-season game against the Ti-Cats, bottom

Montreal Alouettes' quarterback Bernie Faloney is an ex-University of Maryland All-America who emigrated to Canada. He's been a star in the CFL for a decade now

NORTH OF THE BORDER/continued

tions, and was Heisman Trophy runner-up to Navy's Joe Bellino. His Canadian career has had a corresponding amount of notoriety—including the 1963 and 1964 distinctions of "Outstanding Canadian Lineman."

- Bud Grant, starting his 10th season as coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers—which have run up over 110 league, playoff and Grey Cup wins under his tutelage. Grant, who was "Athlete of the Half Century" at Minnesota, set a one-game record (since eclipsed) of 186 yards gained catching passes while a member of the 1951 Philadelphia Eagles.

- Kenny Ploen, Winnipeg quarterback, was an 18th draft choice of the Cleveland Browns after his days at Iowa. He chose, however, to finish out a school term and come to Canada for future security. Speaking of that decision, Kenny says, "I also figured I'd end up playing defense if I ever made it in the NFL..."

- Dave Skrien, Neill Armstrong, Eagle Keys and Frank Clair are among the Americans who've done handsomely for themselves at the respective helms of the Vancouver Lions, Edmonton Eskimos, Saskatchewan Roughriders and Ottawa Rough Riders. The list is a long and impressive one and, if it weren't for the previously mentioned restrictive clause, the ranks of Canadian pro footballers would boast considerably more than the current 43 per cent of Yanks with a zest for the Land of the Maple Leaf.

For Canadian fans, the annual Grey Cup contest is a frenzied, high-spirited whoop-de-do that combines American bowl game fever with the excitement of the NFL and AFL championships—and adds the holiday-and-hurrah spirit of the World Series. In short, it makes a myth of the contention that the average Canadian—like his British cousin—is a restrained, conservative and unemotional creature.

Interest in the game is so intense that fans regularly make bookings a year ahead for Toronto or Vancouver, the alternating sites of the contest. Special planes, trains, chartered buses and good hotels are usually sold out months ahead—and the game itself, with the exception of last year, has been pretty much of an early sellout since play first started in '48.

The Grey Cup, a much-battered piece of silverware first donated as a rugby trophy in 1909 by Canada's then-Governor General Earl Grey, originally cost $48. Now it is insured for over $100,000 and, collectively, the nine league teams have spent millions in their yearly battles for it.

The history of cup competition is studded with colorful tales of all-out attempts by the respective Eastern and Western Conference playoff champs to nail down the trophy. Perhaps the most amazing story has to do with a spectacular "first" that even the NFL and AFL can't yet lay claim to—the only two-day football game in history! This accidental double-header took place back in 1962, when the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, representing the Eastern Conference, met the West's Winnipeg Blue Bombers, in Toronto.

All during the week preceding the game, swirling fog, reminiscent of those infamous English "pea-soupers," had virtually cut Toronto off from the rest of the world. Planes were grounded; trains, hours late, moved cautiously through the haze, and driving was restricted to a foolhardy few.

On Saturday, the day of the game, the sun finally pierced the fog and winds off nearby Lake Ontario further cleared the murk, to the extent that then-Commissioner G. Sydney Halter decided the contest would go on at one o'clock. Unfortunately, it wasn't long before the pesky fog rolled in again, worse than ever. Coaches on the sidelines couldn't see the players; spotters in the press box, high atop the grandstand, were useless. The American Broadcasting Company, televising the game, switched from its high cameras to one at ground level, with the result that television fans actually saw more of the action than those in the stands. Finally, after consulting with Commissioner Halter, referee Paul Dojack called a halt to the game with Winnipeg leading, 28-27. After a hectic round of discussions with officials of both teams, it was decided that the remaining nine minutes and 29 seconds of the game would be played the following day.

Sunday broke gloriously, with bright sun and warm temperature. Eager fans, with or without tickets, besieged the stadium to see the climax of this two-day cliff-hanger. The Blue Bombers picked up where they had left off 24 hours previously, at second down and 10 yards to go on Hamilton's 54-yard line . . . and, nine minutes and 29 seconds later, the game ended as it had the previous day—with Winnipeg the winner by the very same 28-27 score!

How does the Canadian League shape up on the edge of the 1966 season? What are the trends, which clubs are the "powerhouses," which teams have more or less consistently finished in the money? For Americans particularly, there is much that is significant in the often-voiced complaint—made especially by fans in the West—that "the Eastern Conference plays dull football." Of the four clubs that make up this conference, Hamilton and Ottawa have consistently been the winning entries. In fact, the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, on the basis of past performance, have to be rated the most successful team in Canadian football.

The remaining two teams in the East—the Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes—present a peculiar paradox, in terms of their dismal records in recent years. As the teams located in the largest and wealthiest Canadian cities, they should have been able to translate the potential of high attendance into the dollars that would buy the kind of players who produce winning teams—but it just hasn't worked out that way. Toronto, which seems to have a death-grip on the Eastern Conference cellar, hasn't even been involved in Grey Cup play since 1952. The club has had six head coaches since then and starts the '66 season with tough, controversial Bob Shaw, who has been at the helm since last year. Shaw practically ran an airlift of American imports last year, but the club finished at the bottom of the barrel, nonetheless. This past off-season, he concentrated on getting proven performers, via trades with other league clubs. Montreal, facing the coming season under the aegis of Darrall Mudra, brand new to Canadian ball and the pro ranks, is at best a doubtful prospect for '66 Grey Cup honors.

In the Western Conference, there is lots of room for argument and speculation when it comes to picking a winner. The Vancouver Lions, last team admitted to the loop, in 1954, made a poor showing in 1965, after garnering the Grey Cup in '64. But if they get up off those now-dusty laurels, they'll be a serious force to reckon with. Although the Calgary Stampeders haven't made a return appearance in Grey Cup competition

Ottawa signal caller Russ Jackson is belted by a burly Toronto Argonaut lineman, but still manages to complete a pass. He holds the key to '66 Rough Rider title hopes since 1948, they are always an exciting—if puzzling—outfit as they consistently enjoy fine seasons, until they invariably lose the big one that would have meant a Cup berth. This could very well be their year—if they can sustain themselves for the big, final push. Winnipeg's Blue Bombers are probably the club to reckon with in the West. It's tough to quarrel with success, and the type of hard-hitting, heads-up ball the Bombers play puts the stamp of Grey Cup potential on them from the word "go."

The Edmonton team, which has been lagging in the Western basement, was the glamor club of the league during the 1950's. The Eskimos played in five Grey Cup contests from 1952 to 1960—and carried off the Cup in '54, '55 and '56. Both Edmonton and the Saskatchewan Roughriders are a pair of puzzlers, and crystal-gazing is particularly difficult where they are involved. The latter club has long been compared with the NFL's Green Bay Packers, because of the smallness of the Roughriders' stadium in Regina and the fanatical support that the entire community gives the team. Holding $100-a-plate dinners each year has been one of the club's financial mainstays, although it now receives a split of the Western Conference gates and this has helped put it in the black.

Whatever the outcome of what is sure to be a turbulent season, there's one prediction that's guaranteed to come true. There'll be further Grey Cup fever this year in Vancouver, complete with all the hijinks, hoopla and excitement of past years—and then some. □

1966 CONTINENTAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE SCHEDULE

FIRST WEEK

Thursday, August 18
Norfolk at Toronto
Saturday, August 20
Brooklyn at Charleston
Orlando at Montreal
Philadelphia at Hartford
Sunday, August 21
Richmond at Wheeling

SECOND WEEK

Friday, August 26
Hartford at Toronto
Saturday, August 27
Montreal at Philadelphia
Orlando at Brooklyn
Richmond at Norfolk
Wheeling at Charleston

THIRD WEEK

Saturday, September 3
Toronto at Orlando
Charleston at Philadelphia
Brooklyn at Hartford
Sunday, September 4
Norfolk at Wheeling
Monday, September 5
Richmond at Montreal*

FOURTH WEEK

Friday, September 9
Philadelphia at Toronto
Wheeling at Orlando
Saturday, September 10
Montreal at Brooklyn
Charleston at Richmond
Sunday, September 11
Hartford at Norfolk

FIFTH WEEK

Friday, September 16
Montreal at Toronto
Saturday, September 17
Norfolk at Philadelphia
Richmond at Hartford
Orlando at Charleston
Sunday, September 18
Brooklyn at Wheeling

SIXTH WEEK

Saturday, September 24
Hartford at Montreal
Toronto at Norfolk
Orlando at Richmond
Philadelphia at Brooklyn
Sunday, September 25
Charleston at Wheeling

SEVENTH WEEK

Thursday, September 29
Toronto at Richmond
Saturday, October 1
Wheeling at Philadelphia
Norfolk at Hartford
Brooklyn at Orlando
Montreal at Charleston

EIGHTH WEEK

Saturday, October 8
Charleston at Toronto
Norfolk at Brooklyn
Montreal at Orlando
Philadelphia at Richmond
Sunday, October 9
Hartford at Wheeling

NINTH WEEK

Saturday, October 15
Richmond at Charleston
Brooklyn at Toronto
Hartford at Philadelphia
Wheeling at Montreal
Orlando at Norfolk

TENTH WEEK

Friday, October 21
Toronto at Montreal
Saturday, October 22
Richmond at Brooklyn
Wheeling at Hartford
Philadelphia at Norfolk
Charleston at Orlando

ELEVENTH WEEK

Saturday, October 29
Montreal at Richmond
Brooklyn at Philadelphia
Charleston at Norfolk
Toronto at Hartford
Sunday, October 30
Orlando at Wheeling

TWELFTH WEEK

Saturday, November 5
Wheeling at Toronto
Hartford at Brooklyn
Richmond at Orlando
Philadelphia at Charleston
Sunday, November 6
Norfolk at Montreal*

THIRTEENTH WEEK

Saturday, November 12
Toronto at Philadelphia
Orlando at Hartford
Wheeling at Richmond
Sunday, November 13
Charleston at Montreal*
Brooklyn at Norfolk

FOURTEENTH WEEK

Saturday, November 19
Toronto at Brooklyn
Philadelphia at Orlando
Hartford at Charleston
Sunday, November 20
Montreal at Wheeling
Thursday, November 24
(Thanksgiving Day)
Norfolk at Richmond*

*Day game (all others played at night)

1966 AFL SCHEDULE

FIRST WEEK

Friday, September 2
Oakland at Miami*
Saturday, September 3
Denver at Houston*
Sunday, September 4
Buffalo at San Diego

SECOND WEEK

Friday, September 9
New York at Miami*
Saturday, September 10
Oakland at Houston*
Boston at San Diego*
Sunday, September 11
Kansas City at Buffalo

THIRD WEEK

Sunday, September 18
Kansas City at Oakland
Boston at Denver
Miami at Buffalo
Houston at New York

FOURTH WEEK

Sunday, September 25
San Diego at Oakland
New York at Denver
Houston at Buffalo
Kansas City at Boston

FIFTH WEEK

Sunday, October 2
Miami at San Diego
Houston at Denver
Buffalo at Kansas City
New York at Boston

SIXTH WEEK

Saturday, October 8
Denver at Kansas City*
Boston at Buffalo*
San Diego at New York*
Sunday, October 9
Miami at Oakland

SEVENTH WEEK

Sunday, October 16
Oakland at Kansas City
New York at Houston
San Diego at Buffalo
Denver at Miami

EIGHTH WEEK

Sunday, October 23
Kansas City at Denver
Miami at Houston
Oakland at New York
San Diego at Boston

NINTH WEEK

Sunday, October 30
Denver at San Diego
Houston at Kansas City
Buffalo at New York
Oakland at Boston

TENTH WEEK

Sunday, November 6
Houston at Oakland
San Diego at Kansas City
Denver at Boston
Buffalo at Miami

ELEVENTH WEEK

Sunday, November 13
Oakland at San Diego
Miami at Kansas City
Houston at Boston
New York at Buffalo

TWELFTH WEEK

Sunday, November 20
Oakland at Denver
Boston at Kansas City
Buffalo at Houston
Miami at New York

THIRTEENTH WEEK

Thursday, November 24 (Thanksgiving Day)
Buffalo at Oakland
Sunday, November 27
San Diego at Denver
Kansas City at New York
Boston at Miami

FOURTEENTH WEEK

Saturday, December 3
New York at Oakland
Sunday, December 4
Miami at Denver
San Diego at Houston
Buffalo at Boston

FIFTEENTH WEEK

Sunday, December 11
New York at San Diego
Denver at Oakland
Boston at Houston
Kansas City at Miami

SIXTEENTH WEEK

Saturday, December 17
Boston at New York
Sunday, December 18
Kansas City at San Diego
Denver at Buffalo
Houston at Miami

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Sunday, December 25, at home of Eastern Division champion

*Night game

